Negotiating Committee Formed By Union; Hamshar Chairman

A negotiating committee was formed Saturday evening at 5 o'clock when the CIO local union of the Scottsville U. S. Rubber Company plant held its first meeting at Schuyler community theater. This was an open meeting for all plant employees who were eligible to vote in the recent union election at the plant. About 125 workers were present.

Eugene Hamshar was elected chairman of the negotiating group, which also includes Herman Lamb, vice-chairman, Mrs. Frances Turner, Mrs. Alice Bradley and Joe Bolling, who will represent the colored workers. A motion was passed to apply for a charter to set up a local union.

As yet, no dues have been collected, or permanent officers elected, since an official contract between the Scottsville plant and the CIO has not been negotiated.

At a meeting held Tuesday, tentative plans were discussed as to what terms the union members wanted in the contract.

Big Crowd Attends ABC Hearing

A large number of residents of the Howardsville community attended the hearing on Tuesday on the application of J. L. Walker for an off-premises beer and wine license. Mr. Walker is owner of Walker's Store, and citizens of Howardsville for and against his application to sell beer and wine attended the hearing at the courthouse in Charlottesville.

Lengthy testimonies of about nine Howardsville residents ran the hearing into a full three hours. Mr. Walker was represented by Attorney James H. Michael, Jr. of Charlottesville. Speaking in favor of Walker's application were Mrs. Charles Clements, Jack W. Castiel, and Otha Woody. The opposing side was represented by Attorney Julian E. Savage of Richmond. Those who took the stand in opposition were Mrs. Charles S. Giles, William Goodman, Mrs. George D. Nulty, Mrs. Paul I. Cobbs, Charles A. Baber, and John Irving.

Those favoring the sale of beer and wine by Walker argued that the nearest place to obtain these was 4 miles away. Opponents stated that Howardsville had inadequate police protection for the sale of beer and wine, and that its sale would attract an undesirable element which might cause trouble, and that Walker's store was surrounded by residences close by.

In addition to the above names those who came to the hearing favoring Walker's application were Miss Margaret Clements, Mrs. Jack W. Castiel, Mrs. Ida Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bragg, Smith Woody, Shirley Gentry, H. P. Lewis, Cecil Adcock, Edward Birkhead, and Samuel Martin.

Opponents attending in addition to those named were Mr. and Mrs. David Day, Mrs. William Goodman, T. B. Omohundro, and J. P. Haffner.

A decision will be rendered on the application in the near future by the A.B.C. License Board.

Riding Club Luncheon

The Tri-County Riding Club will have an alfresco luncheon at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, May 16 at "Maplewood", the home of Mr. and Mrs. Beryle Mayfield. Mr. and Mrs. William Spencer will be co-hosts.

Riding members of the club are asked by the Riding Club President, Mrs. June Viar, to notify the hospitality chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Flynn, if they plan to attend and if they are bringing a guest.

Scout Troop 21 Is Organized

Boy Scout Troop 21 was organized last Wednesday night at a public meeting held at Scottsville High School, and met for the first time Monday night. Buel Carden, Scoutmaster, and Haden Anderson, Assistant Scoutmaster, signed up about 12 boys between the ages of 11 and 15 after Mr. Carden and Dr. R. L. King, Lions Club president, outlined and explained the activities of the scouts and what a troop would mean to the boys in the community. The troop is sponsored by the Scottsville Lions Club.

A film, "Boy Scouts' Trail to Citizenship," was shown to the boys and their parents who were present.

Lions who will work with the Boy Scouts are Merrill Carter, John Williamson, Rev. John Elliott, Gordon Dorrier and B. L. Philpot.

F. E. Paulett announced recently at a Lions Club meeting that he would donate a cabin about a mile from town for the use of the scouts.

At the first troop meeting Monday night in the Firemen's Hall, 14 boys started out as charter members. They are Walter Townsend, Kenneth Davis, Sam Custer, Charlie Hudson, Maynard Stinson, Gordon Rutland, Jr., Billy McDearmon, Billy Pitts, Ralph Flynn, Robert Taylor, Lujoe Eyre, Jimmie Marsh, Garnet Mayfield and Durwood Ballowe.

The next meeting will take place Monday night in the Firemen's Hall when Patrol Leaders and patrols will be set up. Robert Taylor and Ralph Flynn were chosen as junior assistant scoutmasters, and Durwood Ballowe is scribe.

Members of the scout committee hope to be able later to form a Cub Scout troop for younger boys.

Observer Corps Awaits Installation Of Telephone

John P. Dorrier, supervisor of the Scottsville Ground Observer Corps, announced this week that the Scottsville Post had been completed and that as soon as a telephone is installed the Post will go on 24 hour duty. "It's up to the phone company as to when we can begin operating," Dorrier stated.

The Scottsville Post is located on Route 20, one mile from Scottsville, on the property of W. S. Dorrier. Originally the post was to have been located on the side yard of Dr. R. L. King's residence. The building was completed this week and contains a 10' by 12' room with 6 windows, with steps leading up to a canvas covered porch, and a protective netting around it.

Dorrier urged all spotters who will man the post to check the chart and know the time that they are expected to air watch. The time chart is posted in Bruce's Drug Store. An announcement will be made in the paper, Dorrier said, when the post can begin operation. As it will be in the near future, he urged all spotters to be ready to assume their watches.

Scottsville Wins

Scottsville's Tri-County League baseball team started off the season with a bang Sunday by trouncing Charlottesville Motors, 17 to 6.

Melvin Simpson, who toed the mound for four innings for the locals, and Eddie Price, who completed the game in the relief role, combined their hurling efforts to hold the Charlottesville hitters at bay while Scottsville tagged three losing hurlers, Shiflett, Hutchinson and Horowski, almost at will.

Joe Brochu was the game's leading batter, collecting four hits in six trips, two of them triples.

Fish Story

Scottsville boasts a goodly number of fishing enthusiasts, about 20 of whom were at Crabtree Falls on Tye River in Nelson County this week-end on the opening days of the trout season. Some of the fishermen camped out at Crabtree Falls from Friday until Sunday, and others left Scottsville at the early hour of 3 a.m. on Friday and Saturday to drive to the Falls for a full day of fishing. The trout season opened on Friday, May 1 at noon and will continue until September 15.

Tall fish stories are usually told after a fishing trip, but the following tale was verified by a number of fishermen in the Scottsville party. Tye River is famous for its trout and fishermen come from many places for the opening of the trout season. In addition to trout there are water snakes in the river.

A fisherman, who hadn't had much luck, saw a snake swimming in the river with an 8 inch trout in its mouth. When the snake reached shore, still holding the trout, the man killed the snake and took the trout. "There are more ways than just a rod and reel to catch trout," reported one of the Scottsville fishermen.

Sam Robertson had something more than a story to tell from his week-end of fishing. Robertson brought back a 14½ inch trout which he entered in the Western Auto Fishing Contest. Robertson's trout weighed 1½ pounds dressed. Also entered in the Western Auto contest in the trout division are a 1 lb. 13 oz. trout, 13 inches in length, entered by Eugene Hamshar, and a 15 oz. trout, 12 inches long, entered by Mrs. Eugene Hamshar.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Langhorne were winners in last week's Farm Photo Quiz, published weekly in the Scottsville Sun. A photograph of the Langhorne's home at "Scotland Farm" appeared in the Sun, and Mrs. Langhorne, accompanied by her youngest son, Harry, Jr., called at the office on Monday to receive the aerial photograph of their home and 14 $1 gift certificates given by the merchants sponsoring the contest.

"Scotland Farm" contains 750 acres, all of which are cleared except for about 40 acres of woodland. It is one of the largest dairy farms in Albemarle County, and at present they are milking over 100 cows in their Holstein herd. Scotland Farm had the distinction of having the first milking parlor in Albemarle County. On the farm the Langhorne's raise all kinds of grains and hay for their herd.

Mr. and Mrs. Langhorne, who formerly lived at "Greenfields," purchased their present farm about five years ago. Their home is the original log cabin house at "Scotland," to which wings have been added. The Langhorne's have three children, Johnny and Elizabeth, who are attending school at Scottsville High School in the 3rd and 2nd grades, and Harry, Jr. who is five years old.

Gillis Announces Special Awards For Commencement

Special awards to be made to standing students of the Scottsville High School Senior Class at commencement exercises were announced this week by T. H. Gillis, school principal.

In addition to the achievement award to be given by the United States Rubber Company plant, two other annual awards will be given.

The William Day Smith Award, given in memory of a former school principal, will be given to two people — one senior and one adult in the community who have rendered the most unselfish service to the school during the year. Other qualifications for the award will be scholarship and character. Each recipient will be given a small plaque with his name, which will also be placed on a master plaque in the school auditorium. The student winner will be decided upon by the faculty, and the other recipient will be elected by the senior class.

The Babe Ruth Sportsmanship Award will be presented to two members of the graduating class in more than 3,000 high schools throughout the United States. It originated in 1949, and each year cooperating schools are added. It is sponsored by the Babe Ruth Foundation, the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the National Association of secondary school principals.

In each high school, individual medalion awards will be made to two members of the senior class, a boy and a girl, selected by the faculty. An attractive permanent display of each participating school's award will be on hand.

Award Is Increased

The Scottsville plant of the United States Rubber Company will again make the Achievement Award available to the outstanding student in the 1953 graduating class at Scottsville High School. In February, plant manager Donald Carroll announced that the award had been increased to $200 in cash, instead of $100, as it has been in the past. In addition to the cash award, a cup will be given to the winner, and his or her name will be engraved on a large cup which remains at the school.

The basis on which this award will be made is as follows: (1) A student who has shown outstanding qualities in citizenship, leadership and sportsmanship. These factors, along with his or her scholastic record, will govern to a large extent the winner. (2) There must be a desire on the part of the student to further his or her education, whether it be through business courses, manual training or college training. (3) The student should be one who is deserving of additional aid to further his or her education.

"In choosing the winner," said Mr. Carroll, "it is our suggestion that the students in the senior class who feel that they meet the requirements of items 2 and 3 file an application with the school principal, stating the reasons why they meet these conditions and giving some outline of their plans toward further educational work. When these applications are received, the high school faculty will consider them and select not less than two, and not more than five, candidates who, in their opinion, meet the three conditions above. The names of these students will then be submitted to the senior class to select the winner. The final selection will be made by secret ballot."

This award will be presented by Mr. Carroll at Class Night Exercises, and will be kept secret until then.

Academy Building Destroyed By Fire

Scottsville Volunteer Fire Department was one of the six fire companies from nearby towns which answered the call from York Union Military Academy to extinguish the $100,000 blaze at the Academy last Thursday night. When the truck from Scottsville arrived with the full volunteer company, the fire was under control. The blaze originated in the "D" Annex at the school, a combination storage-classroom and residence building.

Three women employees of the Academy, who lived in the building, narrowly escaped harm when nearly trapped by the blaze. The Annex had two stories and basement and was 15 years old. The fire was discovered about 7:40 p. m. by a Cadet and about 50 boys and faculty officers started fighting the blaze with school hoses.

The fire gutted the building, destroyed books and uniforms, and other government equipment which was stored there. A short circuit was cited as a possible cause of the fire by one of the school officials.

In addition to the Scottsville Company, Palmyra, which reached the scene first, Dillwyn, Gordonsville, Farmville, and Charlottesville sent trucks to the Academy. The fire had spread so rapidly that the companies concentrated on saving the junior and M. C. Thomas gymnasiums, about 75 feet from "D" Annex.

Benefit Dinner Scheduled May 15

A benefit chili dinner will be sponsored by the Young People's Service League of St. Anne's Parish on Friday night, May 15. The dinner will be served in the Parish House of St. John's Church in Scottsville, and the money raised will be divided to be sent to an Episcopal Mission in Mexico and for the purchase of a piano for the Parish House.

Tickets for the dinner will go on sale at Bruce's Drug Store today, and will also be sold by members of the League. Tickets will sell for $1 for adults and 50c for those under 21.

Members of the Young People's Service League will serve and will be dressed in Mexican costumes. During the dinner an octet composed of members of the League will sing Mexican songs and will also wear native Mexican clothes. Ramblings

Sunday is Mother's Day, a day set aside for every daughter and son to honor the first woman in his or her life with a note, a visit, a gift or a kind word. It is trite to say that one day is not enough to give some outward show of affection and admiration for a mother, who has devoted a large per cent of every day since you have been born in thought, prayer and work for your welfare. Modern mothers tend to belittle their role at times, but it is not likely that for all their freedom and more youthful appearance, their sentiments are much different than the old fashioned conception of mothers. A mother has a tremendous responsibility in teaching her children to grow up. It not only involves seeing that they are cared for properly physically, but mentally and spiritually as well. It is not what a mother gave a child in the way of a material gift that is so often remembered or held in value, as it is what a mother told a child, or how much she tried to understand him. It is for her ever-ready warm reception both of our presence and of our confidence that we owe her a great debt. Mothers have been the well-springs for hope and inspiration of great men, and while they rarely ask for a return of their devotion, they hope for it, and will be gratified for any time spent with them, or on thoughts of them. Out of a year of busy days with personal affairs, one day, or ten, is not too much time to devote to the one person in the world least likely to ever let you down. It has always aroused my curiosity when the same kind of bird makes a nest in the same place around the house year after year. Surely it is not the same mama and papa wren or robin, so how

Flucos Win Two, Lose to Orange FLUCOS BLANK SCOTTSVILLE 6-0

Scottsville, April 14, 1953
Fluvanna's baseball forces made Scottsville their third victim of the season here today by registering a 6-0 shutout victory. Slug Flanagan went the distance for the victors. He picked up his third win of the season. Flanagan allowed only four hits but walked nine batters. Two timely double plays helped him preserve the shutout. Fluvanna collected six hits off the offerings of Billy Moon, Bobby Williams and Bunny Cutright each collected two hits to lead the local's scoring assault.

ORANGE SNAPS LOCALS WIN STREAK 8-0

Carysbrook, April 24, 1953
Orange behind the pitching and hitting of little Bob Reynolds scored a convincing 8-0 shutout victory over the Fluvanna nine here today. This shellacking knocked the locals from the undefeated ranks. The win was Orange's first in five engagements. Reynolds, in recording his win, limited the Flucos to five hits. In addition he collected three hits in four trips to the plate. The visiting Hornets collected 8 baseknocks off the local pitching trio. Jimmy Perkins started the game out but gave away shortly to Butch Morris. Slug Flanagan then came on late in the contest to complete the parade of pitchers. Perkins was charged with the loss.

This Fluvanna mound trio gave on 10 free passes to the Orange batters. These walks plus several errors afield contributed to the Fluvannian's eventual downfall. In this downfall, Reynolds had complete charge over the local batsmen all the way. The visiting moundsmen had the batters hitting at junk and constantly popping up and out. The only bright notes in the Flucos cause were Butch Morris' relief work on the mound plus his perfect 3 for 3 performance at the plate. Jimmy Perkins garnered the other two Fluvanna hits.

Fluco's Down Powhatan, 12-9 April 21, Carysbrook
The Fluvanna nine had to ward off a late 8 run rally here today to beat Powhatan 12-9. The victory gives the locals a 4-0 record. Each club garnered an early run. At the end of three the score stood 1-1.

In the fourth the locals bunched four hits to tally three runs. Score 4-1.

In the fifth the Flucos exploded for seven runs. Gianniny lead the assault with a single. Perkins' fly out was followed by successive walks handed to Saylor and Cutright. Johnson singled scoring Gianniny. Dedby singled scoring Saylor. Flanagan then slapped a double to score Cutright, Johnson belted a homerun to the centerfield him. Gianniny popped up and out ending the hit, 7 run rally. In the eighth and ninth stanzas Powhatan burst forth with 8 runs, threatening the once secure Fluco lead. Flanagan, however, snuffed the rally with good clutch pitching.

Flanagan gained credit for his fourth win. Clements was charged with the loss.
Powhatan—9 hits, 9 runs
Fluvanna—15 hits, 9 runs

County Farm Notes

By P. H. France, County Agent
THERE ARE DANGERS IN "BUSINESS AS USUAL"

Dangers lie in "business as usual" when it comes to farm borrowing and lending, says Dr. Harry Love, head of the agricultural economics department at VPI.

Dr. Love says the extent to which adjustments in the production and marketing of farm commodities will be needed cannot be foreseen. "However, credit will play an important role and lenders have a great responsibility. More careful thought and wise planning will be needed to make sound loans. But lenders who acquaint themselves with the financial needs of their farmer borrowers, and who tailor credit to the peculiarities of each farm business have nothing to fear," he adds.

Dr. Love points out that for about 20 years farmers have been encouraged to rely upon government for the solution to many economic problems. "It now seems a purposeful effort is being made to reverse the trend. Recent developments indicate that the resources of government will be used to help farmers help themselves. The new experience may baffle some farmers. Others who are willing to face competition and would like the freedom to plan and operate their farms will welcome the opportunity," he said.

The economist said it is estimated that half of the farmers have not been "seasoned" by operating through a period of declining prices. About the same proportion of the lenders lack similar experience. "This, coupled with the need for fitting loans to the requirements of the individual farmer, makes the job more difficult. . . but the opportunities for significant discoveries in the art of servicing the financial needs of farmers are doubtless numerous," Dr. Lowe said.

ALFALFA YELLOWING SAID WIDESPREAD

Widespread yellowing of alfalfa is being reported throughout Virginia, and S. B. Fenne, plant pathologist at VPI, says poor inoculation probably was the cause.

He explains that the alfalfa was seeded last fall when it was very dry, and that the weather conditions apparently prevented proper inoculation, even when treatment was done properly.

Fenne said that when the yellowed alfalfa is dug up, there usually are no nodules on the roots, many nodules.

Alfalfa diseases also are appearing earlier and are somewhat worse than usual, probably because of the mild winter, Fenne said. Stem rot, mildew, and blackstem are fairly serious in the state.

A POULTRY PLANT IS FERTILIZER PLANT

There are hidden dollars in poultry manure and litter.

Poultry husbandmen at VPI say allowing 30 percent loss of plant food nutrients, the poultry manure from 1,000 broilers is worth about $41 or 4c a bird. Of course, if you pile manure and litter outside in the weather, or let it lie around the house too long, it wouldn't be worth this much.

A mature laying hen will produce manure worth about 25c per bird during a year. The net value of manure produced in the house for one year with 4 lots of broilers can be equivalent to over 13 percent return on your investment.

The litter from 1,000 broilers applied to one acre of land each year will add to that acre 50 percent more nitrogen, 100 percent more phosphoric acid, and 300 percent more potash than is removed by 100 bushels of corn if the corn stalks are permitted to stay on the land.

HOW LONG WILL EGG PRICES REMAIN STRONG?

Egg prices in Virginia, and for the nation as a whole, have held up well the first three months of 1953 in spite of the sharp seasonal decline which normally occurs.

During January, Virginia producers averaged 54c a dozen — about what they received a year earlier. The average February price for this year was 46.6c—11 percent higher than February 1952. The March farm price remained at 46.6c which was 21 percent above last year's March price.

VPI marketing specialists say egg prices should continue strong throughout the rest of the year. Normally a sharp seasonal price rise takes place the last six months of each year. However, if egg prices remain favorable during the first six months of this year undoubtedly a much less than usual SCOT farm notes CONT seasonal price rise will take place during the last six months.

IF IT WILL MAKE GOOD HAY, IT WILL MAKE GOOD SILAGE

Any crop that will make good hay will make good silage — and crops for silage can be harvested when weather is unfavorable for making hay.

That's the tip from G. R. Epperson, associate agronomist at VPI, who says that properly preserved grass silage contains more food nutrients than the same material preserved by any other method.

For highest quality silage, wilt the material (alfalfa, clovers, grass, legume mixtures, etc.) to 65 to 70 percent moisture content, or add a preservative. Ground grains or molasses are the most commonly used preservatives. Use 50 to 100 pounds molasses or 100 to 250 pounds ground grain per ton of silage. Use smaller amounts on grasses and cereals and larger amounts on immature legumes.

Sulphur dioxide may be used as a preservative. Use only small amounts — 3 to 6 pounds per ton.

SERVING THE PEOPLE OF THE TOWN OF SCOTTSVILLE AND THE NEIGHBORING COMMUNITIES IN ALBEMARLE, FLUVANNA AND BUCKINGHAM COUNTIES

Trade, Not Aid

Foreign trade is a complex subject. However, one fact is not difficult to understand. Trade must be a two-way street.

An example of the constructive force of foreign trade may be found in the jute industry. The jute industry of India links the farmers of America with the farmers of Asia and, in doing so accounts for two-way trade that is of benefit to both. Manufacture of burlap from the jute crop of Indian Pakistan is India's largest industrial enterprise. Burlap exports by India to the United States in 1951 accounted for 26 per cent of India's total dollar earnings and amounted to $80 million. About 80 per cent of the imports of burlap by America are used for the packaging of agricultural commodities in burlap bags. The use of burlap bags by farmers in turn has helped to create a foreign market for the products of American agriculture—in the year 1951 India bought $330 million worth of American agricultural products, including $126 million worth of cotton.

Aside from the fact that trade is the only practical alternative to pouring out billions in foreign aid at the expense of American taxpayers, this country needs the products of other lands. As President Eisenhower declared in his inaugural address, "For all our own material might, even we need markets in the world. Equally we need vital materials and products of distant lands."

How's Your Buying Power?

This is an era of big wages and big salaries. But, after the ravages of taxes and inflation are taken into account, our take-home pay and our buying power is, in many cases, much lower than it was in allegedly less prosperous times.

The Foundation for Economic Education recently publicized an interesting example of this. Back in 1950, baseball star Ted Williams was given the most lush contract in the game's history—an estimated $125,000 a season. The prior high was the $80,000 paid to the legendary Babe Ruth. So, on the face of it, Williams was earning more than half again as much as Ruth.

However, after the deduction of federal income taxes (and without making allowance for any other taxes) it turns out that Ruth's 1931 take-home pay was $68,535, while Williams' take-home pay was down to $62,028. And when a further computation is made, and that take-home pay is translated into actual buying power, it is found that Williams' real income was but a little more than half of Ruth's

Some people will answer that they aren't concerned with the financial experience of people in $80,000 or $125,000 income brackets. But taxes bite deep into the medium and low income groups too—after all, the federal income tax rate starts at 22.5 per cent and goes up very fast from that bottom. And certain kinds of indirect taxes, which constitute a large part of the selling cost of food, clothes, housing and everything else, often hit the man of moderate means harder than the man

The point is this: The current drive to cut government costs, balance the budget, and bring about tax reduction is in everybody's interest.

PISTOL OR ATOMIC BOMB, PRINCIPLE IS THE SAME

When a panel of reporters questioned Virginia members of Congress at a State Chamber of Commerce dinner in Washington last week and I was asked my opinion of the prospects for peace in Korea, I was compelled to give a pessimistic answer.

The Korean action is only one part of a world struggle in which the Soviet leaders are applying economic, political and psychological as well as military pressure. The war started in Korea because the Politburo did not believe we would fight there. It will end, in my opinion, only when those who started it feel that it is to their interest. It is difficult to see what the Soviet would gain now by ending a war in which the Russians have lost no soldiers, while we have lost thousands, have tied up at least one half of our effective military force and have spent billions of dollars.

A more serious question than when the Korean war will end is: When will the Soviet leaders take other aggressive steps that will start World War III?

One of the most prominent political commentators in Washington told me last week his guess was that the Russians would start World War III in 1955, by which time they would have an adequate stock pile of atomic bombs. He recalled a conversation he had with the late Senator Brien McMahon on the race between the United States and the Soviet Union to stock-pile atomic bombs. McMahon said our situation was like that of a man in a community whose neighbor had sworn him and then had started to make a pistol. His choice, if he wanted to live, was then to prevent the neighbor from making the pistol or else to make two himself while his enemy was making one.

We do not know just how our atomic production compares with that of the Soviet but military experts are agreed that Russia and her satellites have a larger military force than we and our allies and that they are increasing their force faster than we are.

If we try to build faster than they do (like the man making two pistols) we must undertake a financial burden that threatens to disrupt the economy of the free world, and especially that of the United States which is now spending a larger proportion of its budget for defense than any other free nation.

It would seem more logical to deny the Soviet Union access to markets from which essential military supplies can be obtained (like preventing the man from making the pistol) but we have so far received little cooperation where he was born, or does an uncle tell his nephew wren about the cozy nest he's been going to for the past two or three seasons, and how in the world do they make their way back here? I can understand how birds know how to fly south and north and reach general destinations, but why they alight on the same perch is a mystery, unless they are copy cats and see a familiar looking old nest and decide to build a new one right beside it.

The recent Easter season inspired the following poem by a contributor from Amherst, Mrs. Nell Joyner. She sent it in to us, and we hope it will be an inspiration to our readers to do the same thing:

In other words, our willingness to stimulate trade as a substitute for foreign aid may have a vital bearing in deciding the question of whether or when there will be another world war so destructive that there can be no real victor.
