Scottsville Town Council Discusses Varied Problems

Scottsville Town Council met last Thursday night with Mayor T. E. Bruce and all the councilmen present.

The treasurer, Mrs. Violette Beal, gave the treasurer's report as follows: balance from previous month, $5555.61; receipts, $2224.32; disbursements, $1070.27; balance, $6209.66. The secretary, Mrs. Charles Stone, read the minutes which were approved as read.

The first business to come before the council was whether or not W. B. Catlett and Floyd Branham, dealers in railroad ties and pulpwood, are subject to the city tax. A letter had been sent them and they had said that due to their status as purchasing agents, they were not liable to that tax. Mr. Catlett was to get a letter from the company he represents to verify his position.

The condition of the pipes in high water was discussed again. There seems to be a difficulty with debris coming in during floods, with no means of cleaning it out.

Brought before the council next was the problem of the school buses blocking traffic at the close of school each day, with parents coming to get their children, and children darting out in front and in back of parked buses. The problem was discussed and turned over to the street committee, composed of Elmer Johnson, Jr., chairman, Robert Pitts and Reeve Nicholas.

Attending the meeting was W. H. Brown, lawyer, who has recently moved into town. Mr. Brown was appointed lawyer for the council. He also asked what his status in the town was, since his house is half in the town, and half in the county. Since he desired to be in town, they voted to have him in, rather than in the county.

Since there was no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Eleven new members were initiated into the Future Homemakers of America Chapter of the Scottsville High School last Thursday. The initiation, which lasted throughout the school day, offered fun to old members of the F. H. A. Chapter as well as the entire school. The "rats" reported to school wearing the latest Parisian creations. Their hats were decked with various colored artificial flowers. Each girl wore a boys T shirt. Their skirts, aprons, and blue jeans were worn wrong side out. To complete their attire, each girl wore gloves of different color, one winter shoe and one summer shoe with a red and white sock. Their jewelry was very much in evidence as 10 pieces had to be prominently displayed and at all times in sight. Lipstick was sparingly used as only half of each lip was made up. The only rouge showing was a large spot on the end of each girls' nose. The latest in "proper hair-do" (Continued on last page)

New Rector Called

At a joint vestry meeting following services on Sunday at St. John's church, a decision was made to write the Rev. Arthur Lyon-Vaden to come here as rector of the three churches that comprise St. Anne's parish. Mr. Lyon-Vaden came here last week to talk with the vestry and meet the people of the parish at a meeting held at the parish house. It is the hope of the parish that Mr. Lyon-Vaden will accept the call since they have been without a rector since last spring, when the Rev. Mr. Beverley Tucker left to accept a call in the south-eastern part of the state.

Art Demonstration

A free art demonstration for adults will be held in the art room of Fluvanna County High School in Carysbrook, Friday, October 16 from 7:30 to 9:30.

Those interested in ceramics, oil painting and the applied arts will have an opportunity to form a class for the period of October to January.

Methodist Church Stewards Elected

At the first meeting of the new conference year last Monday, officers of the Methodist Church's Board of Stewards were elected. Serving as chairman this year is Merrill Carter, who takes the place of Donald Carroll, chairman for the past two years. Secretary is Curtis Conrad, who succeeds Edward Dorrier. Ray Caldwell will be the Church Lay Leader. He follows Donald Carroll, who served as lay leader as well as chairman, for two years. Mrs. T. E. Bruce was re-elected previously at the fourth quarterly conference as treasurer of the church.

Plans were also made for the forthcoming year, and Mrs. Bruce read and the board approved the financial report to the church. This report was distributed at the door following the church service Sunday morning.

Concert Series Drive Launched

The James-Rivanna Garden Club, sponsors of the Family Concert Series, launched their annual membership drive at a Kick-off dinner at the Carysbrook, Fluvanna County High School, Carysbrook. Guest speaker, Jack Leipard, manager of the Virginia Symphony Orchestra of Richmond, brought to the members last minute information concerning the drive and all material needed by the workers.

Memberships for the series are now on sale and will be available to the public until October 19, at which time the drive will close. Memberships may be obtained from any Garden Club member or representative.

Reports from many parts of the county disclose a great deal of interest with regard to the series. The sponsors feel the obvious advantage of entertainment and self-improvement at such a low cost will appeal to the citizens of Fluvanna County.

Any additional information concerning the membership drive may be obtained by contacting Mrs. George P. Smith, Jr., of Paimyra, Chairman of the Family Concert Association of Fluvanna County.

Panel Discussion Features First P.T.A. Meeting

A panel discussion with Campbell Holt as chairman and a board of eight members was the program presented for the first P.T.A. meeting of the year held at the Scottsville High School on Monday night. The panel consisted of four teachers and three parents, two of each representing the elementary grades and the high school. Mr. Maidment and Mrs. Magnifico, high school teachers, Mrs. Caldwell and Mrs. Randolph Phillips, the elementary grade teachers. From the parents, Beryl Mayfield and Mrs. Willie Duncan represented the high school, with Donald Carroll representing the lower grades. Russell Brill was to be the other representative, but had to be at a P.T.A. meeting at Red Hill and was unable to attend. The subject was Bettering Relations Between School and Community, with each member of the panel giving a short address on his or her particular outlook. Following the addresses there were a few minutes devoted to a general discussion.

John Williamson, president this year of the P.T.A., opened the meeting and asked Campbell Holt to deliver the prayer. Mrs. Jack Miller read the minutes of the last meeting which was in May, and they were approved as read. An informal treasurer's report was given, listing the total balance as $440 with an obligation to pay the remaining portion of $105 on the piano, and approximately $40 contributed to send one of the students to Girls' State this summer.

Since there was no old business, Mr. Williamson brought up the need for a new vice president, since the person elected last May had found she was unable to serve. Nominations were asked for; Beryl Mayfield was the only nominee, and was elected unanimously.

Donald Carroll announced that they would have a card party in November as a money raising idea, and said that he would give further details at the next meeting.

Mr. Williamson said that plans had been made to have the Halloween party again this year, since it has been such an unbridled success in years past. Mrs. Andrew Dawson and Mrs. Gordon Dorrier are to be co-chairmen, and will pick their own committees. The party will fall on Saturday, October 31.

Mrs. Elmer Ramsey told the group a little about the Family Concert Series that is being sponsored by the James-Rivanna Garden Club. (Continued on last page)

The Incarnation Of Jesus

By Elmer M. Ramsey
PART II
"God's Loving Kindness"

So, our kind heavenly Father, who is so loving and merciful had compassion on his disobedient and sinful children, now sentenced to eternal death. Their wickedness was so great that they justly deserved to be banished from the presence of God; because they had, of their own volition, taken themselves out of the hands of God, and placed themselves in the hands of Satan. It was then that God's marvelous love triumphed over divine justice, and grace and forgiveness flowed freely from Adam's fallen race.

The members are heatedly and earnestly debating this subject pro and con. A vote is taken and the bill is enacted into Roman law. B. C. 9-8

Caesar Augustus Pontifex Maximus, master of the world, magnificently arrayed in royal robes of state, is seated on his gorgeous throne, surrounded by the most brilliant court of all the ages. With the golden scepter in his hand, he issues his famous edict that an enrollment of the whole world should be made. B. C. 9-8

Mary at Home

Mary is very happy while she faithfully cares for her humble home at Nazareth, B.C. 9-8

Joseph at Work

Joseph, the carpenter is very busy as he earns his living by the sweat of his brow. B. C. 9-8

Joseph is Visiting Mary

Joseph is visiting Mary at her home. They appear to be very congenial as they are absorbed in a delightful conversation. B.C. 9-8

The Courtship

Now Joseph, as an ardent lover, is diligently wooing Mary, the darling of his heart. He is greatly encouraged as he sees the love light in her eyes, and her kindly attitude toward his sentiments. B.C. 9-8

The Betrothal

In the presence of faithful witnesses and friends Joseph and Mary seriously and earnestly pledge their troth. B.C. 9-8

Zechariah and the Angel

"Once when Zechariah was acting as priest before God, when his division was on duty, it fell to his lot, according to the priest's practice, to go into the sanctuary of the Lord and burn the incense while all the throng of people was outside, praying at the hour of incense offering. And an angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing at the right of the altar of incense. When Zechariah saw him he was startled and overcome with fear. And the angel said to him, 'Do not be afraid, Zechariah, for your prayer has been heard. Your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you are to name him John. This will bring gladness and delight to you, and many will rejoice over his birth. For he will be great in the sight of the Lord. He will drink no wine or strong drink, but he will be filled with the Holy Spirit from his very birth, and he will turn many of Israel's descendants to the Lord their God. He will go before him with the spirit and power to Elijah, to reconcile fathers to their children, and to bring the disobedient back to the wisdom of upright men, to make a people perfectly ready for the Lord.'"

Zechariah said to the angel,

"How am I to know that this is so? For I am an old man, and my wife is advanced in life." The angel answered, "I am Gabriel. I stand in the very presence of God, I have been sent to speak to you and to tell you this good news. Now you will keep silent and be unable to speak when this happens, because you have not believed what I have said, for it will all be fulfilled in due time."

"The people were waiting for Zechariah, and wondering that he stayed so long in the sanctuary. But when he came out he could not speak to them, and they knew that he had seen a vision in the sanctuary. For his part, he kept making signs to them and remained dumb. And when his period of service was over, he went back to his home."

Zechariah had wonderful news for Elizabeth; but his trouble was that he could not speak. So, he had to do a vast amount of writing and gesticulating, in order to tell his marvelous experience.

Ramblings

"I'd like to live in a house like that." How many times you say it, or your friend says it, or your child says it. The room is cozy and and colorful, or sleek, modern and spacious, and through the door, or on the opposite page of the home-lover's magazine you are looking at, is another room equally perfect in arrangement, color scheme and decoration. But if you or your friend or your child had been in that room when the gang came home after school and brought a box of cookies and a carton of cokes into it, plus a few books, a football and cast-off sweaters, it wouldn't look like that, would it? The model kitchen wouldn't look like that right after dinner, either. It's a good idea to look at these shining examples, but I have had my envy dissipated with the thought, that I would have to live in such a room all alone to keep it that way, and even then it would be struggle.

In these home decorating magazines, it shows you how to change a room into something beautiful and artistic. They are a great contribution to the American home, I do believe. I can't hang a curtain without looking at a picture first. But it's well nigh impossible to find one that takes care of all the little knick knacks any ordinary family collects and simply can't throw away. Where do the decorators put the family photographs, sent in frames by relatives who come to visit? Where do they hide the really useable ash trays that usually have a cigarette stub in them? Or the pottery bowl that a child made, or a wedding gift that doesn't fit in, but is pretty, just the same? There is always lacking that little touch of imperfection, the flaw that makes the article real, in these perfect photographs. No, I'd feel rather clinical and lifeless in a room like that, and so would you, unless it changed daily with the wear and tear of human life.

It is no more pleasant to live with a perfect housekeeper who dashes to the sink with the ash-tray the minute an ash is ticked, or to the carpet sweeper to erase an offending crumb, or to the laundry basket with a crumpled guest towel, than it would be to live in a hotel room. I'll take the ashes on the hearth, the stack of newspapers on the radio and keep working on the idea of hanging up things. "A place for everything and everything in its place" is a good idea, but let's have everything around where we can find it, even if it doesn't quite match the wallpaper.

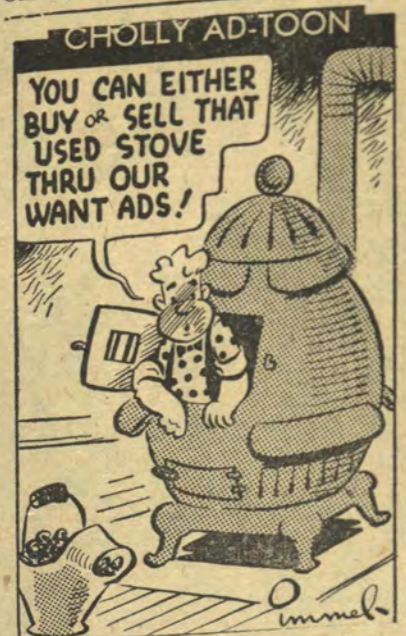

The Dietz Press (no, I'm not a paid publicity agent for them, but they do print some charming things) has published its twelfth annual edition of "The Williamsburg Calendar for Engagements & Almanack." On the box and cover the colonial worshipers on horseback and in carriages draw up to old Bruton Parish Church in Elmo Jones' illustration. The sprightly scene introduces a progressive story of Christmas in eighteenth century Virginia. Among the scenes are carol singing in front of the Governor's Palace and turkey-fish-squirrel-hare roasting in the great kitchen chimney; Christmas guests in authentic costume and carriages arriving at the famous houses of "Westover" and Berkeley" on the James, the Nelson House in Yorktown, the Wythe and Ludwell-Paradise houses in Williamsburg.

Authentic colonial customs and costumes are sketched in the scenes of students of the College of William and Mary. Pictured, too, is Pastor Minnigerode standing with hatchet to watch the first Christmas tree in the land being carried into the St. George Tucker home. Opposite the illustrations is room for 12 months of tri-daily recordings; also some quaint and appropriate quotations and 12 monthly forecast of the weather. A fine Christmas gift for anyone.

County Farm Notes

By P. H. France
Use Lights On Laying Flock
 Now is the time to start lights in the laying house to maintain a high rate of egg production. Lee Herrick, associate poultry husbandman at VPI, says any system of lights may be used as long as a minimum of 12 to 14 hours of light is provided daily. Morning, evening, or a combination of both morning and evening light may be used. Regardless of the system, it should be followed without change once it is started, and the lights should be turned on and off with a reasonable degree of regularity. A 40-watt lamp in a shallow reflector for each 200 square feet of floor space is recommended. The lights should be located so they will shine on the roosts as well as on the mash hoppers and waterers. The real benefit seems to come from the light shining directly on the birds rather than any increase in feed consumption. For this reason, the lights should cover most of the space in the laying house. Some poultrymen prefer to use the lights all night—which isn't harmful, but neither is there any benefit beyond the 12 to 14 hour period.

Eggs Price Outlook
 A favorable egg price situation for poultrymen likely will continue throughout the rest of the year, but a slump is in sight for February.

Dr. Robert J. Krueger, associate agricultural economist at VPI, says eggs normally average about 8 percent higher in November than in September. This year, however, there is not likely to be a full 8 percent increase. The supply of chicks for laying purposes will be up next year. Taking into account the normal seasonal tendencies, there will probably not be a noticeable increase in the supply of eggs before February. However, from February on through the rest of 1954, poultrymen will be faced with lower egg prices.

Lice Control Needed On Cattle
 Lice often are the cause of declines in milk and beef production so treat cattle for lice before putting them in winter quarters. Dr. J. O. Rowell says the lice should be destroyed any time they are found on animals, but it is especially important to control them at this time of year, since they reproduce and spread rapidly among cattle in warm, congested quarters.

A single thorough treatment with 1½ percent DDT spray will eliminate lice completely, but should not be used on cattle in the milking herd, or those being finished for slaughter. One application of a lindane spray can be used on dairy animals and beef animals alike. Apply lindane at the rate of 1½ pounds of a 25 percent gamma wettable powder to 100 gallons of water. Lindane will control both lice and mange mites. Dr. Rowell warns, however, not to use lindane sprays on calves under three months old.

This means that all information about individuals and their farming operations is kept in strict confidence and only statistical totals will be published.

County Lags Behind In Sale Of Defense Bonds

The official tabulation of defense bond sales in Fluvanna County for the first nine months of the year discloses that sales are running behind the assigned quota, according to Chairman P. H. France. Sales of Series E & H Bonds at issue price for the first nine months of 1953 amount to $14,047.25 which is only 67 percent of the assigned quota of $21,000. Chairman France stated "there is ample time left for our area to go over the top. However, we do need to intensify our efforts to increase sales very materially during the remaining three months if our area is to meet its quota. Bonds are a good buy and as the value of the dollar increases, they will become even better. The larger denominations of the Series E Bond are becoming very popular

Mrs. Sallie Seliers left on Saturday to go to Newport News, to be gone until Monday. While there, she attended the Emera Chapter of the Eastern Star, which had its Grand Visitation with Miss Adelle Major attending there, as she was here in Scottsville last week.

Off to New York last week was Mrs. C. C. Vest with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gilman. They left on Tuesday and didn't return until Sunday. Mr. Vest said that he's a very capable cook.

At Donegal Saturday afternoon and night the lights were blazing in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Sample, formerly of Plain Dealing Farm, who were here to meet old friends. Pierson Scott entertained at cocktails and buffet supper for around twenty-five people.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Vrooman of Schenectady, N. Y., arrived Friday for a visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Eleanor and Harry Deines of Greenfields. Mr. Vrooman left to return to Schenectady on Tuesday, but Mrs. Vrooman is staying another week, and will then go on to Mississippi. Also at the Deineses for the week-end were the Warrens of Newbern, N. C., and Bill Boylan of Pittsburgh, a friend of Harry's and an associate at Westinghouse. They arrived on Friday night and left on Monday. They all attended Pierson's party on Saturday.

Tuesday night Ruby Parr and Pauline Mayo had a bridge party, with five tables, at Ruby's house. As always when a crowd of women that size gets together, there was a quantity of chit-chat, and much giggling.

Invitations have been issued by the Tri-County Riding Club to the Hunt Ball to be held following the annual horse show, which is scheduled for October 24. The show will be at the home of the B. Christensens, "Riverlawn," and the ball at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Grady Covington, Summer Hill, Howardsville.

Mrs. Aaron Seay of Fluvanna has just returned from a week's visit to the big city of New York with her niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Smith, of New Orleans.

Last Tuesday, the Home Demonstration Clubs of Albemarle held their program planning meeting in Charlottesville. Representing the Hatton - Warren club were Mrs. T. G. Fenwick, Mrs. Hunter Fenwick, Mrs. E. Grady Covington, Mrs. Amy Steger, and Mrs. Mary Webster. From the Scottsville club were Mrs. Edith Tanner, Mrs. Katherine Dansey, Mrs. Willie Duncan, Mrs. Ruth Bailey and Mrs. Frances Moon. Mrs. Moon was chosen to be a delegate to the interior decorating class held at Miller and Rhoads on Thursday. She went down with a group from the homemakers clubs in Charlottesville.

Debbie Snelling, granddaughter of Royce and Nell Collins, who was recently stricken with polio in Philadelphia, is greatly improved, and the doctors have told her parents that she will, with a great deal of work, recover with no ill effects from the attack. That's wonderful news, isn't it?

Miss Marion Black from way off in Albion, Ind. is here for more than a week, visiting her sister, Mrs. David Glass.

On Sunday, Mrs. Gary Moon entertained at luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Henry Batten of Carter's Bridge, Mrs. Guy Moon and Miss Edmonia Gilmer of Howardsville.

David and Louise Philpot returned from Georgia late Saturday night, and said they had a real good time; rushed, but fun. They also saw Mary and Barney Philpot while they were there and found them completely acclimated to being back in Georgia, after being so distressed at leaving Scottsville. Mary still claims that she's coming back in November for the Presbyterian Bazaar though. That will be good news to the women of the Church!!!

At the Elmer Johnsons' for the week-end were Miss Louise Wheeler, Elmer's aunt from Charlottesville, and his nephew, Johnny Richards, Kitty and J. C. Richards were down from New York, and they and Kitty's mother and daddy, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson, Sr., went down to Norfolk, and stopped by here Sunday night to have dinner with Elmer and Adele, and pick up the guests.

Jack Miller went to the Martha Jefferson Hospital last Monday night with an internal hemorrhage. He has had to have several transfusions, but seems better now, and they hope he will be able to come home some time in the near future.

The Alan Pinkertons had a large cocktail party at their home in North Garden on Saturday. Attending from here were Floyd and Ann Johnson, Marie and Ellis Jones, Leah and Peter Hunter and Lelia and Allen Randolph.

Friday night, following the Farmington Horse Show, the Donald Motches of Coleswood had a dinner party with the Peter Langes and the Peter Hunters from the Scottsville area attending.

On Sunday, the Tri-County Riding Club held a practice for the parent-child class; one of the nine classes in the show. They seemed to do very nicely, despite the extreme dust in the ring.

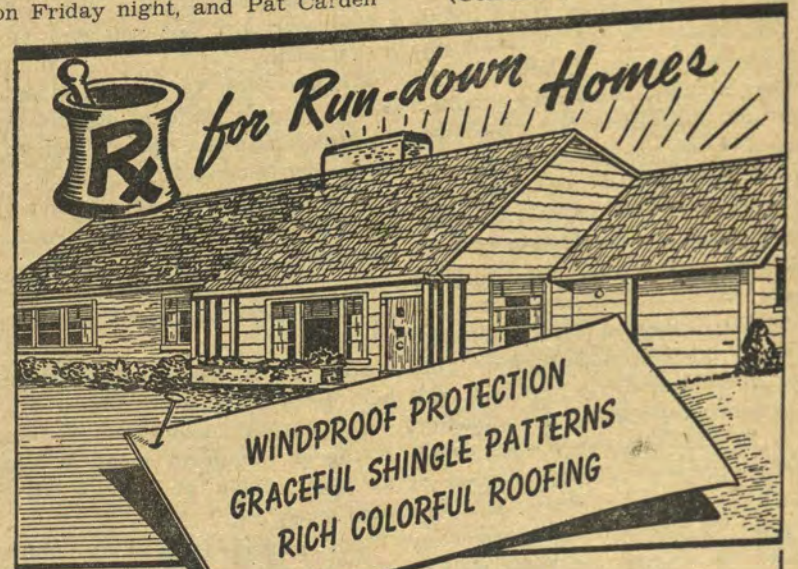

At the home of Mrs. Mary Paulconer over the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Schewickert of Richmond, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stark, also of Richmond. The Starks brought their children with them.

Home for the week-end from Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg were Joyce Mason and Christine Catlett, who arrived on Friday night, and Pat Carden who came in on Saturday morning. I bet Pat is chomping at the bit to become an upperclassman, so she can get a few more cuts and privileges.

Country Lawyer

By Walter Johnson

A few weeks ago Senator A. Willis Robertson spoke in New Kent County at the 250th anniversary of founding of St. Peter's Episcopal church. Though little noted in the press of Virginia this talk, fitting to the occasion, was directed firmly and strongly toward preservation of the basic concepts of our system. Certainly it was one of the most able talks heard in Virginia on that subject for many a year.

In that talk he quoted from a speech made by that great statesman of the past, Daniel Webster. The occasion of that talk was celebration of the 100th anniversary of the birth of George Washington. At that time, in 1832, our federal constitution had been in operation forty-three years. Thomas Jefferson had been dead sixteen years and John Marshall had been dead seven years. Fifty-four years had passed since the first plank of our then new system was laid in the Virginia convention which started May 6, 1776. Thus, it might well be said that by 1832 our system was well started and already quite well tested.

The words of Daniel Webster, spoken one hundred and twenty-three years ago, were of such nature as to be timeless. They apply as well today as then. We might well give heed to these words today. For that reason they are quoted as follows:

"Other misfortunes may be borne, or their effects overcome. If disastrous war should sweep our commerce from the ocean, another generation may renew it; if it exhaust our treasury, future industry may replenish it; if it desolate and lay waste our fields, still, under a new cultivation, they will grow green again, and ripen to future harvests. It were but a trifle even if the walls of yonder Capitol were to crumble, if its lofty pillars should fall, and its gorgeous decorations be all covered by the dust of the valley. All these might be rebuilt, but who shall reconstruct the fabric of a demolished government? Who shall rear again the well-proportioned columns of constitutional liberty? Who shall frame together the skillful architecture which united national sovereignty with State rights, individual security, and public prosperity? No, if these columns fall, they will be raised not again. Like the Coliseum and the Parthenon, they will be destined to a mournful, a melancholy immortality. Bitterer tears, however, will flow over them than were ever shed over the monuments of a Roman or Grecian art; for they will be the remnants of constitutional American liberty."

We may well ask the same today. The well proportioned columns of our constitutional liberty still stand but they have been badly chipped. From the constitutional liberty of Daniel Webster's day we have gone back to where a paternalistic government regulates our almost every economic activity. It tells us how we may till our fields; harvest our forests; operate our factories; and how we may deal with each and on what terms and conditions.

Under color of taxation it takes our earnings away from us for redistribution elsewhere for our own good as determined for us. Doctrines of many kinds, alien to those of the Founding Fathers, have been attached to and have become a part of our way of life. Yes, though the well-proportioned columns of constitutional liberty are yet there they are now badly chipped and unless the chipping ceases they will be gone never to rise again and to be remembered by a once-free people with bitter tears.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

According to the best information, we are short in America in primary and high school teachers, around 150,000 to 200,000. This fact alone makes it impossible for the teachers to do their best work for our children. They cannot give attention, or be able to study the children's problems, because of the great amount of work required. The problem is how to get more teachers. In the first place let me state emphatically that our teachers are the most under-paid workers in America today. They should receive from $100.00 to $150.00 more per month, beginning immediately.

The schools of higher education should advise the college students of the great opportunity that they will have if they take up the profession of teaching in making the world a better place in which to live. They should be told, and the fact emphasized, that teachers, next to the parents, home, and church do more to shape the life of children than any other people.

Teaching in public schools must put the emphasis on the American History wrought by our forefathers, and left to us as a heritage to carry on.

About two years ago a poll, taken in high schools in some of the largest cities, showed the students knew practically nothing about the Declaration of Independence, Bill of Rights, or our Constitution. The meaning of these great documents, along with the following twelve fundamental truths, should be stressed in our schools.

1. Honesty is the best policy.
2. Sacredness of contract.
3. Equality of all citizens before the law, with special privileges for none.
4. Limited sphere of governmental activity, limitless room for private initiative.
5. Freedom to move one's person, family, and property from place to place without interference by individuals or government, to seek employment, and to work anywhere at the occupation of one's choice, for any compensation obtainable without hindrance by anyone.

anyone.

6. Protection of every citizen's right to acquire, hold, and bequeath, or otherwise dispose of property, and to work, and produce, engage in business, and buy, and sell without interference by other persons, or by government.

7. Encouragement of thrift, and capital formation, and the right to climb the economic ladder.

8. Competition unhampered by government, and restricted only by the rule that all deals be honest and above board.

9. Maintenance of a republican form of government with powers of the Federal government limited to those specified in the Constitution, and all other powers being reserved to the States, or to the individual citizen.

10. Freedom of religion, speech, press, assembly, and the right of petition.

11. Right of trial by a jury of one's peers.

12. Encouragement of the respect for education and learning.

These truths should be stressed so that prospective teachers in college as well as all students will be so imbued with these fundamentals that they will be guided by them not only in their thoughts and actions, but also in their discussions with their fellow man, which will go a long way toward lessening juvenile delinquency.

Nees of Pleasure Hill Farm, Scottsville, in a ceremony at her home Friday, October 2, at 7 o'clock in the evening. The Rev. W. R. Jones, step-father of the bridegroom, officiated. A few close friends and the two families were in attendance.

The bride wore a green suit with white hat and black accessories. Following the ceremony, the bridal couple left for a brief honeymoon in Richmond.

Did you know we had a real artist in town? Yes sir! Handy Jackson was a contributor to the Sculpture Exhibition at the Centerville Fair last week. His work was streaky pink and curved all around—sort of streamlined. Caused quite a stir. Nobody was sure what it was supposed to represent, but some liked it and thought it was good art. Handy gave me the lowdown: "Why, it was nothing but a piece of cattle salt our cows have been lickin' at for months. I just had it mounted. Fooled a lot of folks—one fellow even wanted to buy it!" From where I sit, Handy's "modern art" just shows how some people can be led astray. Some even get to be "experts"—especially about the other fellow's business. Whether it's art or music, or a simple thing like choosing, say, beer or milk with a snack, we should live and let live. There's no call for either of us to set ourselves up as a "model" for the other!

The Gubernatorial Race

For the first time in many a year Virginia is having a spirited two-party race for the Governorship. Ted Dalton, a Republican with a commendable record in the State Senate, is proving himself a formidable opponent for former Congressman Thomas B. Stanley, the candidate of the powerful State Democratic organization.

Up until several weeks ago, the campaign was a one-sided affair—with Senator Dalton doing the talking. Now the Stanley forces have rallied to stress that their candidate expects to keep Virginia on its present course of government—maintaining a sound, economy-minded, debt free State.

The Republican forces have been clamoring for a public debate on the issues of the campaign between the two candidates. One of the basic reasons for this could be traced to the fact that Dalton would have the advantage since he is a more polished public speaker than Stanley. Other than fanning the campaign fire, it seems that a public debate between the two would accomplish little. The issues can be argued back and forth without trouble in the same manner the race is now being conducted.

Dalton's advocacy of the people electing their school boards or having them appointed by boards of supervisors is sure to win him votes. His proposal to abolish the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting has also won him favor as have other measures he has advocated.

The Stanley forces may or may not have helped themselves by last week-end's charge that Dalton's campaign is being partly financed by forces "from across the Potomac." It is a favorite trick of the "organization" to start that famous chant before an election is over. Since the statement gave no fact but left much by insinuation, it can only be considered an underhanded political trick until specific names and donations are made public by the Stanley forces.

Between now and November 3, there will be more fireworks on the political front in Virginia. It all adds up to the fact that a good two-party system will mean much toward the improvement of the State government. The issues are brought before the people and they make their choice. It follows one of the basic principles of our forefathers.

Things One Remembers

An Oregon Justice of the Peace recently levied a fine of $2,716 for a 54,300 pound overload on a log truck where the allowable load was 72,000 pounds.

Those who are responsible for such wanton disregard of liberal laws are the trucking industry's enemies as well as destroyers of public highways and bridges.

 THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

The Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not; I will help thee. (Isaiah 41:13). Read Psalm 121 or John 8:14-17.

When called to the United States Army and sent to a training camp, it seemed at first as if I were in a desert, away from the world and friends. Then I started to think of the past and realized that I was not alone; for the Lord who had been holding my hand since I was a little child, the One whose love and truth had been taught to me over the years, was still with me. When I left that camp, the Lord was still with me to guide me.

With Christ, we can face any test and have nothing to fear. Has not the Lord said "Be not afraid of them that kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him who is able to destroy both soul and body in hell"?

By holding on to Christ, who assures to those who believe in Him the blessing of redemption, we have nothing to fear.

PRAYER

O Lord, we would live this day close to Thee. May we hear Thy voice so full of comforting love. Guide us through this life, and bring us at last to be at home with Thee in the house of many mansions; through Christ our Lord, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Redemption through Christ is God's greatest gift of love.

Fluvanna High News

School opened with a bang this year with an enrollment of 103 and a faculty which included five new teachers: Mrs. Hunt, Commercial; Mrs. Eaton, Librarian; Mrs. Johnson, art; Miss Worsham, Social Studies and Senior sponsor, and Captain Edgerton, band.

The annual magazine contest was launched by Paul Frick from September 16, and continued until October 1. Grades 5 through 12 participated being divided into two teams. The Dodgers led by Doris Cunningham and the Yankees led by Virginia Londeree. The drive was very successful, as we reached our goal of $600, with the proceeds going toward the purchase of a new television set. The TV was installed September 29 and just in time for the World Series. The top salesman this year was Lou Joe Eyre selling a total of $79 in subscriptions.

Mrs. Miller, sophomore sponsor, was in charge of the magazine campaign.

We have been very fortunate in organizing a Publication Club in which to have a school yearbook.

We had for our Commercial Club period October 7, a representative from the A. B. Dick to give a demonstration on our mimeograph machine. It was very helpful.

With a dream of a Scottsville High School Band, the Scottsville Lion's Club has put forth an effort for such an organization this year, and it has been in full swing under the direction of Captain G. R. Edgerton.

There are 21 students participating in the band. Before too long, members of the Scottsville community and the surrounding area will be treated to a concert, which in itself will be reward enough for all those who have helped to fulfill this dream of a school band.

On September 7, the students enjoyed a program commemorating the going into effect of the constitution which took place on the same day in 1789.

The guest speaker was an attorney, William Brown, who is a resident of Scottsville.

He spoke about the "Bill of Rights" and "The Preamble".

The Senior Class and our English IV sponsor, Robert Maidment, have made it possible to have a vocational Guidance program. Starting our program off on the profitable road, we have had two outstanding guests, Mrs. Christensen, a secretary at the U. S. Rubber Plant in Scottsville, and Mrs. Irene LaFon, director of nursing at Blue Ridge Sanatorium and Rebecca Hanner, a senior nurse at Blue Ridge Sanatorium. It has been one of the most meaningful programs we have ever had.

The F. H. A. and F. F. A. and their sponsors took a trip on a Virginia Trailway Bus to the Atlantic Rural Exposition Tuesday, September 29.

The F. H. A. planned to continue the practice of giving a basket of food to the necessity families on Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter.

The Student Council has been getting into full swing under the direction of Robert Maidment.

Two representatives from each homeroom have been selected in order for them to get together to make more definite plans and to understand the organization of a Student Council so they can assist their fellow students and give them a better understanding of its organization.

Most of the students seem to be very much in favor of it, which will form a very successful organization.

The Meanderer

One of the most amazing things we've seen in a long while was noticed on the way out from Lynchburg the other day on Route 29. There were two apple trees in bloom! It's true that not both of the trees were covered with apple blossoms, but about a third of each one had blooms that could easily be seen from highway. We wouldn't even begin to try to explain this. We do remember, however, sometime seeing dogwood trees blooming in the fall.

We saw a squirrel the other day trying to find a spot to bury an acorn, but the ground was so dry that he finally gave up the struggle. This reminded us that it is not only our cows and other domesticated animals that are or will suffer the long drought, but the wild fellows are apt to have a hard time this winter as well. Berries have not formed as well, and there are not as many, and even weed seeds are less plentiful. Whereas we usually have berries on our dogwood trees way into the winter, this year the crop is pretty well decimated right now. We noticed some bluebirds cleaning up one of the trees a day or so ago, and the robins have already left because we suppose it was not worth their while to stay any longer. Both birds and animals must be finding free drinks pretty much at a premium in many places, and even fish and turtles are having to make the most of what water is left in ponds and streams.

The white-throated sparrow is back. We heard one call for the first time on the 8th, but saw our first around the house in the morning of the 12th. This date also brought the first Junco, although we had heard some earlier around the county. The olive-backed thrush was still here on the 12th, and a red-eyed vireo on the 10th. Several large flocks of purple grackles have been seen, and along the back roadsides many sparrows fly up in front of the car. This is one of the times of the year (not the only one by any means) when we would like to meander along these roadsides with our binocular and try to identify the "sparrows".

Birds are not coming to our feeding trays in any great numbers, nor do we see many at the birdbath. However, every sunflower seed we put out seems to disappear, so maybe they come when we're not looking.

Household Hints

By Nada M. Sweeney
Home Economist
Appalachian Electric Power Co.
"Little Lights Solve Household Problems"

Proper lights and enough light are two things most persons do not consider as important as it should be. If one would pause long enough to think what this world would be like without light, and even worse, without sight, I'm sure that his home would from thenceforth be properly lighted.

Often times, it is the smallest matter that makes the difference, and in this case it may be the "little lights" as General Electric Wiring Institute refers us.

The old story about valuable things coming in small packages is certainly true when it comes to "little lights" for your home!

For instance, if yours is one of the millions of homes with unlighted closets, you can solve the problem with ready-to-use automatic closet lights. These lights, say General Electric Monowatt engineers, are designed to be attached to the door frame, and the light is perated by the action of the door on a self-contained push button, switch, turning the light "on" automatically when the door is opened and "off" when the door is closed.

Pre-wired, an automatic closet light does away with the need for special electrical connections. Just screw the assembly to the door frame and plug the attached cord into the nearest convenience outlet.

Handy Household Light

If you've ever damaged your good disposition trying to find something in the back of a dark storage area, closet or cabinet, you'll be glad to know about the handy household light, a miniature utility light, complete with nine-foot cord and a swivel suspension hook for hanging the light up while you work. It plugs into any convenience outlet and is invaluable for illuminating hard-to-get-at corners. And incidentally, if the man of the house has a home workshop, he'll use the light frequently to cut down shadows and improve visibility inside cabinet work and on cutting tools.

New Night Lights

There's an innovation in the night light field, too—a "Hang-most persons do not consider as important as it should be. If one would pause long enough to think what this world would be like without light, and even worse, without sight, I'm sure that his home would from thenceforth be properly lighted.

for night-time safety and convenience.

And you can even get a specially-designed "little light" for night-time telephoning. The phone light, which will burn all night on less than a penny's worth of current, has a base plate that fits securely under a desk phone or hangs from a hook beside a wall phone, and the seven-watt bulb is mounted on a swivel so that you can direct the light right on the phone dial.

Most-liked low-priced car

... among people who want more for their money when they buy ... and more money when they sell!

There's a big reason why more folks are buying more Fords than ever before. No other low-priced car offers so many of the things people want and need for today's driving. In fact, to get such "Worth More" Ford features as a V-8 engine, completely automatic transmission and fine-car power steering in any other car, you'd have to step well up from the low-price field.

Of course, Ford owners will discover that Ford's worth more when they sell it, too. Surveys of used car prices show year-old Fords returning a higher proportion of their original cost than any other car.

because it's most like high-priced cars

... more and more people are considering Ford as the one fine car in the low-price field!

It's hard to believe that a car which is built like the finest still sells in the low-price field. Yet a Ford with its hulltight Crestmark body, its Full-Circle Visibility (most in its field), its new fine car ride and roomy luggage locker (roomiest in its field) delivers at a figure that keeps it right down in its price class.

Ford's the only low-priced car which offers you a choice of a completely automatic transmission (Fordomatic), Overdrive or Conventional Drive. And Ford Master-Guide, available on all V-8 models, is the last word in power steering . . . makes turning up to 75% easier, yet retains the natural feel of the wheel on the straightaway.

See . . . Value Check . . . Test Drive the Ford of your choice at your Ford Dealer's. Find out why Ford is America's "Worth More" car.

Ford's V-8 is the same type of engine powering America's finest (and costliest) cars. And Ford's Mileage Maker Six is the most modern Six in the industry.

Mrs. Elmer Johnson requested and was granted the cost of transporting an art exhibit to Scottsville.

Mr. Williamson called on Mr. Gillis who welcomed the large group in attendance, both parents and teachers. He told of plans to enlarge Scottsville High School, and briefly discussed the new art and band courses being offered for the first time this year. He asked for renewed cooperation between parents and teachers, voicing his eagerness to hear all criticisms, both constructive and destructive. Following that, he introduced the faculty of the entire school.

Mrs. Russell Moon was introduced as chairman of the hospitality committee and told of her new method of better acquainting parents and teachers, and of the general atmosphere of friendliness she wished to produce this year.

Following the panel group, the roll call of parents was taken, as is the custom, with Mrs. Caldwell's first grade as the winner.

Mr. Williamson asked that a motion be made to adjourn the meeting; it was made and seconded.

Fairhaven Club Holds Meeting

The Fairhaven Garden Club met last Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. W. R. Jones with Mrs. Lester Bailey as co-hostess.

Mrs. Ewoldt, conservation chairman, told of the efforts of the 60 clubs in the Washington area to make a wildlife reserve of the Dyke Marsh on the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway, south of Alexandria. Generations of biologists and naturalists have studied this marsh and it is hoped it can be preserved for future generations.

Mrs. Bailey, bird chairman, read some interesting, but little known, facts about birds. One, that birds do have teeth, that is, one tooth called an egg tooth used in cracking the shell, which disappears soon after the bird hatches.

Mrs. R. L. Collins gave the report on roadsides, stating that plans are now underway for the formation of a wayside park on Route 6 at the Hardware River, five miles east of Scottsville. She said a spokesman of the Landscaping Division of the Highway Department said a parking space would be provided on both sides of the highway, and there would be a grassy area planted with native shrubbery. Benches, tables and fireplaces will also be furnished and maintained by the highway department. The Garden Club will be responsible for keeping the area clean of trash. This project will be completed in the spring and promises to be the most attractive wayside on Route 6.

Mrs. W. R. Jones gave a lesson on parliamentary procedure and led a discussion afterward. There were only two entries in the flower arrangement class. Both were arrangements of petunias. A blue ribbon was won by Mrs. Lester Bailey and a red by Mrs. Alvin Smith. Mrs. W. F. Paulett won blue ribbons on two varieties of chrysanthemums in the horticulture class.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Mrs. Castiel Hostess For Church Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Guild and Auxiliary of St. John's church met at Greenhill Farm, home of Mrs. Jack Castiel, last Tuesday night.

The group, under the leadership of Mrs. Russell Moon, made plans for the Brunswick stew they are planning to serve at the Tri-County Riding Club horse show and gymkhana scheduled for October 24. They also plan to ask the Brownies and Girl Scouts of this area to help in the preparation of the fireplaces and fires to be set up for the cooking of the stew and cooking of the hotdogs they plan to serve.

Also on the agenda for this fall is a dinner which they plan to give at the parish house on Friday, November 6. The cost of the dinner will be $1.25 for adult plates, and 60 cents for children's plates. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served.

Celebrates 88th Birthday

On Sunday, six of his eight children and two of his grandchildren were on hand to help S. E. Beal celebrate his 88th birthday at his home, Sunnyside, in Fluvanna County.

Present were Miss Helen Beal, who lives with him all the time, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Beal and their son, Robert, from Roanoke, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Talley from Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Beal and their son, Sammy; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cheavacci, and Mrs. H. M. Spencer all of Charlottesville. They had not one, but two birthday cakes!

At the request of his granddaughter, Mrs. L. U. Boyntott, who lives in Florida, Mr. Beal was remembered in the singing of a hymn on the Renfro Valley Radio program on Sunday morning.

Two of his children, Fred Beal of Highland Springs, and Clifford Beal of Richmond, were unable to attend.

All during the day the "rats" could not speak to any male, had to call each chapter member "Miss", and could not recite in class.

After school hours, each girl was initiated into the F. H. A. Chapter according to the ritual.
