Tom L. Anderson, Stationmaster, Fulfilled Boyhood Dream By Becoming Railroad Man

By Elizabeth Wimer

Rarely does a person spend a life time doing the very thing he dreamed of doing as a small child. But it has been the good fortune for Tom Lee Anderson, stationmaster and native of the little town of Warren, to have done just that. Ever since he can remember, he has had a keen interest in trains and railroading. And from the time he left Scottsville High School, some 47 years ago, up to the present, he has been in the transportation department of the C & O Railway Company. His goal now is to receive one of the 50 years in service pins awarded to employees who have served the company for that length of time.

Mr. Anderson is the son of John C. Anderson and Annie Carter Trevillian Anderson. His father was a Baptist preacher at Goshen who moved his family to Warren shortly after Tom was born. He was postmaster at Warren and ran the general store there for 52 years. While Mr. Anderson was helping his father at the store during vacations, his eye was on the new railroad that went through Warren, replacing the old James River-Kanawha Canal. The station where he is now is on the site of one of the locks for the canal.

To pass his examination for the job with the C & O, Mr. Adams learned the Morse code, which was depended on entirely for transmitting messages from station to station before phones were put in all along the line. For some time, he says, the only phone between Richmond and Gladstone was at Scottsville. When he first went to work, he relayed messages at stations all the way from Gladstone to Newport News. He was at Greenway for 11 years, but always kept his home at Warren.

Although he has had posts in nearly all the depots along the branch of the C & O, and with all his interest in travel and transportation, Mr. Anderson is a family man and devoted to his home in Warren. He has a pass on the railroad, but claims he has always been too busy raising a family of seven children, and keeping up a farm to use it.

Mr. Anderson married the former Miss Annie W. Turner of Norwood, and bought a home in Warren near his father's place. The Andersons have six daughters and one son, all of whom attended public school here and graduated from Scottsville High School. They continued their studies at either college or business school, and two children, Curtis Anderson, and Mrs. Doris Spain, are in the railroading business. Curtis is a Clerk for the Virginia Railway at Norfolk, and Mrs. Spain is in the general office of the C & O Company in Richmond. Five other daughters live in Arlington. They are Mrs. Virginia Stargell, Mrs. Moody Pace, Mrs. Mary Lois Weekley, Mrs. Annie Lee Honaker and Miss Barbara Anderson. Mr. Anderson looks forward each year to the annual company reunion in Richmond, where he joins old friends and associates, and sees some of them receive their 50-year pins.

Since the children have grown up and left home, he does not do quite so much farming, but gets up every morning at five to milk his cows and do the other necessary chores before he begins his day at the Warren depot. He says his daughters were a great help on the farm.

Carpentry is another occupation which Mr. Anderson enjoys, and he has kept up his home by constant improvements with hammer and saw. He recalls that he used to enjoy fishing in the James River, but does not have much time for it now. It seems that this seasoned telegrapher is more at home around trains than automobiles, as he says he does not like to drive a car, although he "doesn't mind riding in one."

Mr. Anderson goes to the Scottsville Methodist Church, and is a member of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers.

"I've had a chance to leave Warren and take a better job with the railroad," stated Mr. Anderson "but with seven children, I didn't want to go to a big city. They were better off here, and I'm glad I stayed in Warren." His many friends around these parts are glad he did, too.

Scottsville Teams Meet

Sunday, Scottsville's two entries in the Tri-County Baseball League, Scottsville and the United States Rubber Plant tangle on the High School diamond here. Scottsville will be attempting to extend their current win streak while the plant will be making an effort to pull out of its tailspin. In the last meeting between these two teams Scottsville came out on top 16-7 by scoring ten runs on three hits in the last half of the ninth inning. Game time will be 2 p.m.

"Coon On The Log" Event Scheduled For Band's Benefit

In an effort to raise money for the Scottsville High School Band, the Lions Club is sponsoring a "Coon on the Log" event on Sunday, July 27, at the pond on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Langhorne.

First of its kind to be held here in this area, "Coon on the Log" will feature speed trials by coon dogs in their efforts to knock a specially trained coon off of a log. Handlers will assure that neither the dogs nor coon will be injured, barring some unforeseeable accident.

This event is rapidly becoming popular throughout the south and received nation wide publicity by Life Magazine about a year ago. Previous events in other states have attracted large crowds and a large number of dog entries.

Lions Club spokesmen emphasized that any type of coon dog can be entered in this contest. There will be an entry fee of $5 for each dog. Advance entries will be taken at Bruce-Dorrier Motor Co. in Scottsville. Winner of the contest which will be judged by the time each dog takes to swim out to the log and upset the coon, will be awarded $100. Second prize will be $50. Third prize $25. Only one dog will make the run at one time.

The spokesman also pointed out that there will be ample parking space near the pond and that a lunch stand will be erected on the grounds so that spectators can bring their families and make a day of it. Admission will be $1 for adults and 25 cents for children. All profits from the event will be used to buy equipment for the high school band.

Two Men Admit Theft Of $2,000

Two men are now in Farmville jail after having confessed to breaking and entering a store near here on Route 20, Buckingham, Sunday night.

Buckingham County Sheriff Herbert B. Adams said Friday that Charles Taylor and Davis Almond, both of Dillwyn, have admitted entering a store owned by Elijah Newton and making off with a strongbox containing an estimated $2,000 and assorted valuable papers. Adams said the theft occurred about 8:30 Sunday night while Newton was attending church.

Adams said he found the strongbox Wednesday night in the James River near Brems Bluff. He said it had been forced open with an axe and that nothing but the cash had been removed when he and Deputies Winfrey Taylor and D. V. Coleman found it in four and one-half feet of water.

Adams said he arrested Taylor and Almond later Wednesday night and found $1,713 of the stolen money in a trash pile behind Almond's home. The bills had been put in a baking powder can and covered with baking powder. He found loose change in a paper bag near the same trash heap.

The Buckingham County sheriff said both men confessed to the theft at the time of their arrest. They will be given a hearing July 2 in Buckingham Trial Justice Court.

Birth Announced

A son was born Monday night at the Martha Jefferson Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Pace of Troy, Fluvanna County.

The first oil pipe line was of wood construction, five miles long, and had a capacity of 800 barrels daily.

Scottsville Businesses To Close For Fourth

Business establishments here in Scottsville will be closed in celebration of the Nation's 176th anniversary of Independence Day, it has been announced by Dr. Percy Harris, mayor.

In extending his holiday greeting to the citizens of Scottsville and the surrounding areas, Dr. Harris said: "Be careful this Fourth. Take it easy on drinking and wild driving. The two don't mix."

Mistaken Identity Costly To Defendant

A case of mistaken identity can sometimes be expensive as John Marshall Davis found out last Thursday in Trial Justice Court when he was fined $25 plus costs for hitting Mrs. Jack Harding between the shoulder blades with the flat of his hand. Davis, riding in a car at the time, told Trial Justice Sydney Watson that he mistook Mrs. Harding for his aunt.

Mrs. Harding was walking home from the movie here in Scottsville when a car, driven by William Lewis Toney, swerved close by hitting her dress, then Davis reached out and struck her.

"I was so upset by what happened that I was unable to identify who had hit me," Mrs. Harding told the judge. A bystander David Easton, saw the whole affair and reported the license number, to Scottsville Police Chief F. F. Marsh.

Judge Watson fined Toney $50 and costs for reckless driving and commented that "playing around" with an automobile was one of the worse traffic offenses he could think of. He warned both men against such happening in the future.

In all, the court had a busy morning with 11 cases being heard and a total of $201 collected in fines and costs. Two 30 day suspended sentences were also meted out with the offenders placed on 12 months probation.

"Guilty of being a durn fool" was the only charge held against John Edward Richardson, Negro, who was brought into court on charge of interfering with an officer on duty. Richardson was an on looker at the scene of an accident. He kept popping out of his car and Sgt. Marsh had to order him out of the way in order that traffic wouldn't be impeded. The Judge asked Richardson why he kept getting in the way. Richardson's answer made the court room crowd break into laughter. "I didn't know the officer was going to arrest me." Case was dismissed.

Other cases appearing before Judge Watson during the morning session were as follows:

Percy Clements $5 and costs for being drunk in public. Clements paid his fine in advance and sent in a plea of guilty.

Richard F. Kidd, $5 and costs for being drunk in public. Kidd also plead guilty in advance and paid his fine to Sgt. Marsh.

Richard Zimmerman, $5 and costs for being drunk in public.

Dabney Cunningham, $15 and costs for being drunk in a public place and for disorderly conduct; 30 day jail sentence suspended on good behavior for 12 months.

Jessie Meadows, $5 and costs for being drunk in public.

John Henry White, Negro, $15 and costs for speeding in the town of Scottsville.

Alexelin Rittenhouse, $10 and costs for being drunk and disorderly in public 30 days jail sentence suspended on good behavior for 12 months.

Mass TB Clinic Set For July 28-31 In Fluvanna County

The first mass survey of Tuberculosis ever held in Fluvanna County will be held from July 28 through July 31 by the Fluvanna County Tuberculosis Association in conjunction with the State Department of Health it has been announced by Mrs. Thomas B. Shifflet, clerk at the Health Department at Palmyra.

Emphasis was placed on the fact that this will be a free service extended to all persons in Fluvanna County over 15 years of age. An effort will be made to have check points throughout the entire county during this four day period in order that all persons in the area may have an opportunity to have themselves checked.

The following locations have been mentioned as tentative locations for the mobile unit to set up; Palmyra, Columbia District School, Bibbe Post Office, Brems Bluff, Fork Union, and Cunningham District School. The exact times that the unit will be at these locations will be in the Sun as soon as they are available.

Membership Meeting Patron of R. L. Johnston, the Southern States Agency in the Stage Junction area and Kirkpatrick, Inc. in Kents Store will hold their annual membership meeting Thursday, July 10, at 8 P.M. at the Wilmington Community House, Wilmington. Chairman of the meeting will be Dr. S. W. Selden of Kents Store.

Highlights of the meeting will include the report of local Agency operations by R. L. Johnston and J. B. Kirkpatrick, the presentation of the Southern States annual report by District Manager Garland E. Benton of Richmond, Virginia, the election of the local Advisory Board and Farm Home Advisory Committee members, and the Come-N-Win Contest in which all farm people of the State Junction Kents Store area will compete for prizes.

Birth Announcement Mr. and Mrs. Luther Glass, of Fork Union have announced the birth of a daughter.

Baptist Minister, Wife Are Guests Of Honor

The Rev. John Elliott, pastor of Scottsville Baptist Church and Mrs. Elliott were guests of honor at a reception Thursday night at the Church.

Devotions, led by the Rev. Joseph R. Hodges, of Fork Union, and a program with the Rev. Mr. Hodges as master of ceremonies, preceded the social hour. F. E. Paulet and Hugh Flynn spoke in welcome, and music was furnished by Mrs. Edward Godwin, vocal soloist, and a quartet composed of Mrs. W. C. Duncan, W. J. Smith, John Henry Phillips, and H. C. Patterson. Rev. W. R. Hutcheson, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, gave the closing prayer.

Dial Telephone Operations Begin Thursday Morning

Another progressive step takes place here in Scottsville one week from today when the Virginia Telephone & Telegraph Company sets into action the dial system in this community and vicinity.

Thursday, July 10, at 8 a.m. has been set as the dateline for switching over from the present operator-controlled system to dial according to M. L. Brown, commercial supervisor of the company's Charlottesville office.

Work is now in progress to have all lines connected up before next Thursday. Some rural lines will not be ready to go just at the deadline, Mr. Brown reported.

One of the main advantages of the dial system will be a lesser number of persons on the party lines and thereby less ringing of individual phones. Under the dial system only half of any party line will be heard ringing by any one phone.

One old-timer in Scottsville complained about the new system, "Now I've got to start learning numbers. Time was when I could just pick up the phone and tell the girl who it was I wanted."

Joyce Omohundro Poster Contest Prize Winner

Joyce Omohundro won first prize among high school students in the recent poster contest for Fluvanna public schools, it was announced this week. The contest was sponsored by the Fluvanna County Tuberculosis Association.

Second prize went to Grace Eleanor France and grade school awards were made to the following: 1st prize, seventh grade, Clinton Cosner, Palmyra school; 1st prize, sixth grade, Harriet Lee Minter, Palmyra school; 1st prize, fifth grade, Dean Morris, Fork Union School, and 1st prize, fourth grade, Robert Morris, Fork Union school.

Best-In-School awards went to the following: Clinton Cosner, Palmyra school; Robert Morris, Fork Union; Frances Baker, Cunningham district school; Anne Walton, Columbia district school; David Stoughton, Center High school, and Joyce Omohundro, Fluvanna County high school.

Cash prizes, ranging from $4 to $1 were made to the winners for posters which were judged on originality, neatness, presentation of facts and educational value.

According to Miss Wallace Ford, director of instruction for Fluvanna County Schools, who conducted the contest, the contest is a part of the annual art program in the county schools and while it is voluntary, great interest was shown by the numerous entries.

Renovation of Strawberry Beds Should Be Done Now

It's time to renovate strawberry beds which are to be kept for next year. Where the soil is suitable for continued good growth, the production and weeds can be controlled, it is desirable to keep the strawberry bed fruiting for two, three, and even more years.

Mow off the tops of the plants as soon as the last picking of fruit has been made. A mower, cycle, scythe, or sharp hoe can be used. Mow high enough to avoid injuring the crowns. The leaves and any accumulated mulch should be raked off. This material can be turned under to improve the humus content of the soil. But if it is infested with leaf spot, scorch, or insects, it is best to burn the clippings as soon as they are dry enough. Mow where there is a good moisture supply in the soil.

Broadcast on top of the plants about 3 to 5 pounds of regular garden fertilizer per 100 feet of row. Where possible, rows should be narrowed to 18 to 24 inches in width. Work around the remaining plants with a hoe, and tend for the rest of the season as if they were newly set.

If the soil is not well supplied with humus, or if there are too many weeds, it may pay to plow down the plants the first year after fruiting. It would then be necessary to make a new plant setting each spring in order to have a good strawberry bed at all times.

Raspberries Must Have Moisture

Moisture, more than any other factor, determines the size and yield of fruit in raspberry plantings.

The growth of raspberry canes and ripening of berries is taking place now—when moisture is often lacking. Thorough cultivation is the most effective method of conserving moisture. Mulching materials are excellent, too, and can take the place of cultivation. Spread four to six inches of hay, straw, or leaves between the rows. Be sure the mulch is free of weeds. For the first three years it may be necessary to use fertilizer high in nitrogen to replace the nitrogen used by organisms rotting the mulch.

Japanese Beetle Control Area Expanded

Seventeen Virginia counties have been added to the regulated area for control of the Japanese beetle.

U. S. Department of Agriculture officials point out that the entire state already is under federal quarantine. Regulated areas, however, are confined to those parts that are actually infested. Shipments of plants and soil from a regulated area must be examined or treated by a federal inspector before they can be certified for shipment.

Counties added to the regulated area include: Amelia, Cumberland, Fluvanna, Greene, Lunenburg, Madison, Nelson, Nottoway, Shenandoah, and Wythe; all presently non-regulated portions of the counties of Amherst, Bedford, Henry, Page, Pulaski, and Roanoke; the city of Martinsville; and the magisterial district of Ivy, in Albemarle County.

VPI Entomologist J. O. Rowell says the main damage from the Japanese beetle in Virginia is to the corn crop. Although the insects have been found mainly in northern Virginia and the eastern shore, Rowell expects them to show up in large numbers throughout the state where farmers have been troubled with them before.

He says a DDT spray will kill the adult beetles; while soil poisoning with chlordane and an application of milky spore disease should kill the grubs.

4-Her's Take Part in Vegetable Contest

Virginia's 4-H'ers are again this year being given a chance to compete in the National Junior Vegetable Growers' Association demonstration contest this year.

George R. Williams, associate horticulturist at VPI, said the contest is designed to stimulate careful planning on the part of youthful gardeners, and demands a thorough knowledge and the ability to explain various production and marketing methods. How to prepare the many vegetable crops for use is also an item in the program.

National awards are available as follows: first, $150; second $100; third, $50; fourth, fifth and sixth, $25.

Winner of the state contest will receive railroad fares, or automobile expenses to and from the annual convention of the National Junior Vegetable Growers' Association in New York City in New York.

Wade-Lamont

The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Lamont, formerly of Columbia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dickhut Lamont to Winfrey Turner Wade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winfrey Freeman Wade, of Powhatan County, took place last Saturday, June 28, 4 p.m. at All Saints Episcopal Church, Richmond. The Rev. Robert M. Olton performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory chantilly lace over satin. Her veil fell from a halo of illusion and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Maximilian Lamont, of Savannah, Ga. sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Other attendants were Miss Nancy Elizabeth Judges, of Richmond, Miss Ann Louise Schloner, of Lexington; Miss Ann Niner Brown, of Winston Salem, N. C., Miss Florence Anderson Wimberly, of Jacksonville, Florida, Miss Diana Irene Burch, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Thurman O. Costello Jr., of Loudoun County. Mr. Wade was his son's best man. Ushers were Maximilian Lamont II, of Savannah, Ga. brother of the bride, Joseph Albert Kovarik, of Arlington, James Anderson Duval, John William Keith Jr. and William Hill Doub, all of Richmond.

The bride is a graduate of Mary Baldwin College. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Virginia and the University of Virginia Law School.

Ramblings

It is hard to say who were the most unfortunate during the heat spell—those who had to carry on every-day duties at home and at work, or those whose vacations came last week when even cool retreats were something less than cool. At least at home in familiar surroundings we didn't have to dress overmuch, and I would hate to think of getting up a vacation wardrobe, or planning a round of social activities and then hit a time when having to look crisp and cool was almost impossible. The weather worked on dispositions, as well. Not only the children, but even the cat and dog, were unsovable and lackadaisical.

Summer is a time to appreciate living in the country, where a short drive will take you to a bubbling creek where young and old can sink themselves in cool water and relax for a while.

We took a drive last week through Goshen Pass, and were surprised to find the season turned back a couple of weeks. The air was cooler, and the rhododendron still in full bloom. It looked especially waxy, and far more beautiful in its woody natural habitat than it does when planted on landscaped ground.

After covering miles on a hot highway, and consuming my capacity of bottled drinks, I would welcome a sign and a proprietor that offered ice cold water, even for the price of a bottle of pop. Water has become almost extinct any place except at a natural spring or a soda fountain. Which reminds me of a story about a couple who took over a down-at-the-heel durg store in a little resort town. They put up a sign, and lured so many tourists into the store who bought something else while getting their free water that they became prosperous beyond their fondest hopes.

After worrying about the strangely smoky smell around a corner of my living room, with a suspicion of a burning wire hidden somewhere, I am happy to report the discovery that an alarming collection of insects and moths fry nightly in the bowl of my indirect lamp. This, according to electricians, is a hazard, and they should be emptied frequently. It's a place you somehow don't think about as a trap for smouldering bug wings.

It looks to me as though all the insect world has gravitated to the circle of light on the ceiling above the lamp. But the adventurous ones get to the source of it and cook on the bulb.

Some men, and a few staunch women, will agree that when we haven't anything to say, there's no reason to talk. Silence is often worth more than any words in any language. But a column would look mighty funny without words, now wouldn't it?

The rain finally came, and the cattle won't need any more hay, we hope. We saw a large herd devouring it as it was pitched from a wagon this week-end. In summing up, all we can say is Whew! E. F. W.

It has come the time of year when everyone is looking forward to another holiday, 4th of July. And possibly that vacation is coming up soon.

Whether a holiday or a vacation, picnics are always a delight. They are fun practically all year around. And, except for corner of Broadway and Forty-second Street, they can be given anywhere.

Picnic cynics are made by minor negligences like hamburgers without salt, buns without butter, and potato salad without forks. Such forgotten details have been the ruination of many a good picnic, but, if details are kept to a minimum, they are less apt to be forgotten. It's a good trick to fix hamburger patties beforehand and sandwich them between layers of waxed paper for carrying, as an example of minimizing those details.

For convenience in eating, finger foods are best on a picnic; as a rule—crisp relishes, fruit and cookies. Lemon meringue pie may be a novelty for a picnic, but it's also a nuisance.

Picnics, like everyday meals, should have variety. It is easy to plan the same thing over and over again for each picnic. Here are some tempting recipes that are perfect for picnicking.

PEPBURGERS DE LUXE

- 1 egg
- 1 1/2 tps. salt
- 1/4 tps. pepper
- 2 tablespoons minced onion
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1-1/4 cups milk
- 2 cups Pep cereal
- 1 pound ground beef
- 8 slices bacon

Beat egg; add salt, pepper, onion, parsley, milk and Pep. Add beef and mix thoroughly. Divide into eight portions. Cut slices of bacon lengthwise into strips. Arrange two strips bacon crosswise on waxed paper. Mold portion of meat mixture into patties and place on bacon intersection. Bring strips together on top of patties, skewering with toothpicks. Broil about 20 minutes. Yield: 8 Pebpurgers.

FUDGE SQUARES WITH RAISINS

- 3 sqs. unsweetened chocolate
- 1-3 cup butter
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 2-3 cup sifted flour
- 1/2 cup All Bran
- 1/2 cup seedless raisins
- 1 tps. vanilla

Melt chocolate and butter over hot water. Beat eggs very well, add sugar and continue beating until light. Stir melted chocolate. Add flour, All Bran, raisins and vanilla and stir only until combined. Spread on greased baking pan 8 x 8 inches, making a layer about 1-3 inch thick. Bake in moderate oven (375°F) 25 to 30 minutes. Yield: 16 two inch squares.

Picnic food should look interesting as well as taste good. To decorate that baked picnic ham, wash and scrape 3 or 4 small carrots and cook in boiling salted water until almost tender. Cut in slices 1/2 inch thick.

Score the fat of the ham with a 1-inch round cookie cutter, spacing circles about 1/4 inch apart. In the center of each circle, cut an "X" with a sharp paring knife. Insert a carrot slice in each slit, fastening with half a tooth-pick if necessary. Put 5 cloves in each cut circle.

For the glaze, pour 1 cup honey or light corn syrup evenly over the ham. Continue baking the required time, basting occasionally with the honey in the pan. Place the ham on a warm platter and garnish with crisp chicory and Tulip Eggs.

TULIP EGGS

Hard cook 6 eggs. Shell and cool. To color eggs, mix a few drops of food coloring and 1 cup water in a small bowl. Let shelled eggs stand in the mixture until they reach the desired color.

When eggs are colored, remove from coloring solution and drain on absorbent paper. Around the middle of each egg, make zigzag cuts into the centers with a sharp paring knife. Gently separate the halves and remove the yolks. If necessary, cut a small slice from ends of eggs to make them stand. Mash yolks with a fork and mix 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 teaspoon mustard, and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Pile lightly into colored egg cups.

With careful planning and delicious food, picnics are wonderful. For this 4th of July, plan your picnic to be the best ever.

Armstrong County Is Unique

Few people have ever heard of Armstrong County, South Dakota. It's a tiny speck on the map, with a population of 53 people.

However, it is a rather significant speck. For, according to the Congressional Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-essential Federal Expenditures, it is the only county left in this whole huge country which hasn't a Federal civilian employee working within its borders.

At present, there are some 2,500,000 of these Federal civilian employees, and 90 per cent of them are stationed outside the Washington area. Their salaries came to $8,500,000,000 last year. And their number keeps right on growing.

This is one of the reasons why, if you happen to be a married man earning $5,000 a year, which is certainly no fortune in these days, you have to work 34 days to pay your Federal income taxes alone. And if you have a good $10,000 a year job you work 43 days for the government.

Every Federal department head wants to put more and more people on the payroll—because that's one way to get promotions for himself, and to gain more political prestige and power. You, of course, pay for the waste and the duplication of effort.

About time for a housecleaning, isn't it?

Country Lawyer

In an editorial reproduced in the Fredericksburg Free Lance-Star the Clintwood Dickensonian takes sharp issue with both Colonel Miller and Senator Byrd on the matter of representative government suffering from dry rot in Virginia. This well-reasoned editorial points out that representative government has become so non-existent that it cannot suffer from dry rot.

This editorial is most interesting only because of the sound philosophy which it advances but also because it is so unusual for any newspaper in Virginia to say anything about state government other than "Hell Harry".

No office-holder, even those elected, is truly representative of the wishes of the people. This because Virginia commercializes the right to vote. It sells this right just as it sells such other rights as to engage in most business, to peddle fish and to do other things. This monstrous situation very sharply curtails Freedom and the inherent right to self-government. Every person is presumed to have sufficient intelligence to comply with the law and for that reason all should participate in government by voting. The right should not be dependent upon ability to buy it with money or upon the ability to remember to buy it in time to vote.

As the editorial says only three state officers are elected. These are the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General. Every last one of the others is appointed. Not one of them has the respect for his fellow-citizens that he would be expected to have if he had to go among them for election.

In electing a Governor as head of that vast state bureaucracy we are electing a ruler. He can put a restraining hand on his over-ambitious appointees or he can let them riot over the basic rights of the people. Our present governor has not yet been observed as taking a hand by taking the side of the people as against his appointees.

In electing the Attorney General we have not done so well. With his legal advice to state bureaucracy he has stood in support of what is being done. Much of this advice seems to be along the line that the citizen offended by bureaucracy would rather submit than to exhaust himself butting his head against the road blocks cast in his path by the Attorney General should he seek the protection of the Courts.

This attorney general, Mr. Almond, now indicates he would like to have the "nod" for Governor next year. From the standpoint of machine politics he should be entitled to it because of his support of the machine. But in his blind support of bureaucracy and of the machine he has not done well for the citizenry scattered over the Commonwealth.

From the top man in Richmond to the last janitor in the last school house our entire educational system is directed by appointees. Our largest expenditure of taxpayers money goes for education yet there is not one particle of representative government in that set-up. All the people can do is to pay the taxes and send their children to school to take whatever education the bureaucrats decide they may or should have.

The education provided today in our public schools is a disgrace to Virginia and an insult to those great men who created the Commonwealth of Virginia. Children are being passed through school without exposure to the wisdom of the ages as represented by history. They are not taught the simple basic elements of our form of government as created for us. They know nothing of the philosophy of freedom. They lack the understanding necessary for real participation in our form of government.

That great patriotic organization the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in state convention assembled recently desolved to call upon the Governor to appoint a study committee to look into what our children are being or not being taught in our schools. Whether the Governor will take the needed interest remains to be seen. He should appoint a bipartisan committee but probably that is too much to expect from him. If he does anything it will probably be a whitewash affair.

Yes, the Clintwood Dickensonian is right. Representative government is not suffering from dry rot in Virginia. Instead it has been so sucked away from the people as to be practically non-existent. At the polls of July 15th Virginians who have bought and paid for the right to vote will have some choice. A vote for Byrd is a vote in support of Byrd Bureaucracy and in opposition to Truman Bureaucracy. A vote for Miller is a vote in favor of Truman Bureaucracy and in opposition to Byrd Bureaucracy.

IT HAPPENED IN SCOTTSVILLE

ON JULY 4

All over the Scottsville area people were celebrating the birthday of their country.

The plant and the stores were closed. Men and women were taking the day off from their jobs, at which they worked of their own choosing. Boys and girls were vacationing from their schools, schools which had taught them the history of America and of all other countries of the world, schools where the children were not afraid to ask questions.

On this holiday the people were fishing, driving from town to town, working on their farms or just taking it easy.

The churches were open for young people's meetings, women's groups, or for people to stop in to say a silent prayer if they wished.

In their homes the people were eating good food they had bought in the local stores. Some people had gone to one store, some to another.

In the homes they were listening to their radios or reading their newspapers. They were discussing their favorite show, their favorite team, or their favorite candidate for president.

Everywhere on this July 4 people were living the kind of lives they liked . . . the kind of lives Americans had come to take for granted.

But suppose on this July 4 the churches were padlocked, and the newspapers filled with one-sided propaganda? Suppose there were just one government store selling one brand of food and only to those people who had enough ration coupons?

Suppose the homes were vacant most of the day and night, because their men and women had been taken away to work on a government farm in some distant part of the country? Suppose, when the people were at home, they were prohibited from leaving the boundaries of their town?

Suppose the schools were open on this July 4 and the children were being taught to obey one leader in one country, and were being taught nothing about the rest of the world, except lies and hate for their neighbors.

This could be Scottsville on July 4 if our great leaders of the past had not given us a nation founded on freedom.

So on this July 4, when we pause to celebrate the birthday of our nation, let us also make a vow to keep our freedoms . . . for we know, only too well, that freedom can be lost, even in Scottsville and in America, unless it is kept alive by each succeeding generation.

Scottsville Defeats Shipman Nine, 8-4

Scottsville moved over the .500 mark in the Tri-County Baseball League last Sunday as they toppled Shipman to the tune of 8-4. Buck Douglas, local centerfielder, pounded out four hits to pace his teammates 15-hit barrage.

Jumping off in the lead with three runs in the top of the first inning, Scottsville led all the way Ranny Moulton pitcher for the winners held Shipman in check all the way as he struck out six while walking four.

diamond dust... Buck Douglas' four for five Sunday raised his batting average to a fat .382. B. Rittenhouse paces all Scottsville batters with a sensational .467 thanks to his three for four on Sunday... One of the best games of the season last year was between Scottsville and the Rubber Plant with Thacker of S'ville flipping a one-hitter to give his teammates a tight 2-0 victory...

Acme Nine Wins

Despite 10 strikeouts by Simpson Scottsville's United States Rubber Plant hurler, the locals dropped a 7-3 contest with Acme in the Tri-County Baseball League this past Sunday on the Scottsville High School diamond. This pushed the Rubber Plant entry even further out of first as they have now won only twice in eight starts.

Until the top of the seventh, the Rubber plant was very much in the game. A walk to Lawrence, Acme's First Baseman, followed by a hard-hit triple by Center Fielder H. Kent, put the visitors in front to stay. A homer by Left Fielder Bain of Acme with a teammate aboard in the top of the ninth iced the contest.

The home team bunched 10 hits in the first five innings, three each in the first, second, and fifth, but were unable to manufacture them into enough runs to aid the cause.

H. Kent with a double and a triple and Bain with a single and a home run provided Acme's power. Four Rubber Plant players got two hits each but there were no extra base blows.
