Boy Scout Troop Formed In Fluvanna

The Cunningham District P. T. A. is sponsoring a Boy Scout troop in Fluvanna, which has been organized with the charter pending. It will be known as the Kidd's Store Troop No. 59. Rev. Temple Collins, incoming president of the P.T.A., will serve as institutional representative. Business Committee men are Earl Butler, George Dansey and Herman Patterson. Scoutmaster will be Alvin Smith; Assistant Scoutmasters, Andrew Collins and Tilen Crenshaw.

A large group of boys are attending, or have expressed the desire to join the troop. The neckerchief color selected was gold with blue border.

The meeting will be held second and fourth Wednesday nights at the V.F.W. Building near Scottsville.

Stolen Car Found

A stolen car, found stripped and burned Wednesday in the Green Mountain section near, Keene, is believed to have been taken by two of the six youths involved in a series of break-ins over a ten county area.

Orange County Deputy Sheriff Porte Davis said Stewart Butler, of Route 14, Richmond, and Clyde Mason Thacker, of Route 8, Richmond, would be charged with the theft of the auto from Chris Carratt, of Ridge Street, Charlottesville, about ten days ago.

Butler and Thacker, along with a 16-year old boy, have been charged with breaking and entering a store at Cash's Corner and the Broadus Wood School at Earlysville. No trial date has been set for the break-in charges.

State Police Sgt. M. F. Ritter and Trooper E. C. Riner located the car, which was stolen in Charlottesville, on a dirt road near Keene.

The three youths, with another man and two young women, were arrested Monday for break-ins and thefts in Madison, Greene, Albemarle, Fluvanna, Culpeper, Hanover, Charles City and Fauquier counties. Orange County Sheriff M.M. Myers estimated that $1,000 worth of goods was taken in the entries, in addition to cash found in stores and schools.

Wilson Harrison, Mrs. Bramham Receive Award

Wilson Harrison and Mrs. Laura H. Bramham received the William Day Smith award for performing the most unselfish service to Scottsville High School during the past year at Class Night exercises held at Scottsville High School. This award is in honor of a former Scottsville school principal, and it is hoped that it will continue to be given annually. Wilson and Mrs. Bramham were presented with small plaques engraved with their names and these names will also go on a permanent plaque at the school. Wilson has done much for the school in publications, working on the yearbook, the school newspaper, and writing a column of school news for the Scottsville Sun. Mrs. Bramham retired last year after teaching in Scottsville for 30 years. Pete Purvis, president of the senior class, gave the award to Wilson.

School principal T. H. Gillis presented the plaque to Mrs. Bramham.

Christine Catlett made the valedictory address, entitled "Planning Today for Success Tomorrow."

Virginia Lee Thacker, class salutatorian, spoke on "School Spirit."

The United States Rubber Company Achievement Award to the most outstanding student in the 1952 graduating class went to Wilson Harrison. Donald Carroll, plant manager, made the presentation, consisting of a cup and a check for $100 for continuation of Wilson's studies. He will enter a Richmond Professional Institute.

Miss Catlett won the commercial medal, in addition to a medal for being valedictorian. Miss Thacker received a salutatorian medal. Other medals were presented to the following:

Phyllis Patterson, library medal; Lena Beverly, home economics medal; Charles Hamner, Jr., agricultural medal; Homer S. Zentruer, mathematics medal; Christine Catlett and Charles Hamner, Jr., Babe Ruth Sportsmanship Award; Bobby Spencer, social studies; Virginia Lee Londeree, English medal

Gretchen Deines provided piano music for the occasion.

PTA Officers Elected

The Cunningham District P. T. A. held its last meeting for this session on the evening of May 19th. Mr. Connelly, pastor of Fork Union Baptist Church, was the speaker.

New officers elected for next session were as follows: President—Temple Collins, Vice President—Mrs. Chester Baker. Mrs. Gordon Gentry was reelected secretary and Mrs. George Dansey treasurer. A rising vote of thanks was given to outgoing officers, Mrs. E. C. Browning and Mrs. R. S. Duncan Jr., for their splendid work.

Margaret Stargell Wins Perfect Attendance Pin

Margaret Stargell, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stargell, was presented a perfect attendance pin last week by T. H. Gillis, principal of the Scottsville School. She is the only one in the first grade to receive a pin for perfect attendance.

Registrar To Sit

Three Winners In Junior Garden Essay Contest Announced

At the regular monthly meeting of the Junior Garden Club, on Wednesday, May 7, essays on why they joined the club were written by each member of the club and presented at this meeting to be judged. The essays that were thought to have been the best were written by the following members: Sarah Forsyth—Senior; Sandra Sue McDearmon—2nd grade; and Aleane Giannini—Junior. Judges for the writings were Mrs. David Glass and Mrs. L. E. Ewaldt.

The Junior Garden Club was sponsored by the Fair Haven Garden Club under the leadership of Mrs. R. V. Krouse. Their first regular meeting was held during the month of December. The Chairman of this club is Mrs. Charles Stone.

Co-chairman are Mrs. William McDearmon, Mrs. Lawrence Proffitt and Mrs. John Hamner.

There will be no meetings during the summer months. The next meeting will be the first Friday in October.

The enrollment of this club at the present is 65 members. The club hopes for an increase in enrollment in the fall when meetings start again.

Following are the three best essays:

Why I'm A Garden Club Member:

I'm a Garden Club member because I want to learn more about birds, flowers and conservation. This is a very good club. I'm glad I joined this club because

WHAT ALUMINUM FOIL CAN DO FOR YOU

Aluminum foil saves you food, flavor and work. Use it in some of the following ways and see what it saves you:

1. Use it for bowl covers when storing food in the refrigerator. Just place a piece of foil over the opening and press down firmly until it hugs the sides. No strings or rubber bands are needed.
2. Preserve leftover cooked vegetables, potatoes and salads by wrapping in aluminum foil. Foods are kept wholesome and appetizing in your refrigerator for days with the same freshness when reused as when first served.
3. Remove meat from store papers and wrap foil loosely over the cut surfaces.
4. Wash and drain vegetables. Place in center of a piece of foil, bring edges together over vegetables and double foil. Then, double fold ends of foil. This keeps salad greens and vegetables garden fresh in the refrigerator. Wrap carrot strips, celery, sliced tomatoes, etc. in foil for picnics.
5. Roasts, chickens, odd shaped fruits and melons may be stored in the refrigerator in foil without crowding in with platters, etc.
6. Warm leftovers right in their foil jackets.
7. Warm rolls, muffins, breads, etc. Wrap and reheat in a medium hot oven. There is no danger of these foods burning if forgotten for a few minutes.
8. Bake fish in foil in a slow oven for several hours. The bones will become soft as in canned salmon.
9. Try roasting meat in foil. Place meat fat side up on large piece of foil. Season, slice onion on top. Bring foil up over meat and press edges together, covering completely. Roast usual time in 375° F. oven. Open foil during the last half hour to brown. Excellent for less tender cuts.
10. Bake potatoes. Scrub potatoes, brush with butter or oil and wrap snugly. Bake as usual, testing with fork through foil.
11. Bake apples that melt in your mouth... either on the surface unit of your electric range or in the oven. Wash, core and fill apples with sugar, spices, raisins, nuts, mince, etc. Place each on square of foil, gathering it up over top and twisting together. Bake as usual in the oven or lay foil covered apples on the surface unit of your electric range. Turn heat to medium and cook.

20 to 35 minutes depending on the size apples used. (If you hear a popping and sputtering, don't worry. The apples are not burning.)

12. Foil is wonderful for outdoor cookery. Wrap potatoes, corn and apples for roasting on grate or double wrap and bury in hot coals. Wrap frankfurters for camp-fire cooking. Everything comes out juicy tender, with no burned skin. Use foil for outdoor "platters" to hold hamburgers, steak, chicken, etc.; shape bowls for salads; or form plates for serving.

13. Foil speeds the baking of cookies. Cut foil to fit cookie sheet. Spoon on cookies, and bake. Fix two more sheets of foil, spoon on more dough. When 1st cookies are baked, slip off pan-foil and all-and slide on the second batch. No time is spent refilling.

14. Store sweaters and furs. Demoth clothing, then wrap carefully in foil; a double fold seals the edges for thorough protection. In summer, foil may be used to wrap wet bathing suits for the trip home from the beach.

15. Caution: Do not lay foil on the bottom of the oven of your electric range. This interferes with the circulation of heat and may cause uneven browning. If you feel it necessary to use foil over the reflector pans under the surface units ask yourself this question. Am I using too much heat, causing unnecessary boiling over? If you are having trouble with foods boiling over, you are leaving the heat on high too long. Reflector pans are as easy to wash as the plate from your table; so use your foil in more important places.

Meanderer

The find of the week—a Chuck-Will's-Widow. Our reporter informs us of having been waked up for several mornings now with its call. About 4:30 seems to be the hour, and it keeps going "interminably". We went over the other evening about 7:30, since it was reported to call about that hour too, and were rewarded with about 3 minutes of "will-wid'ow", the accent being on the "will" and "wid". The "chuck" was inaudible from where we were.

This bird looks very much like the Whip-Poor-Will, but is larger and buffier, and a brown throat, rather than the black throat of the Whip-Poor-Will. We have never seen the bird in real life. It is a nocturnal bird, resting during the day on some horizontal limb or on the ground, where its mottled brown pattern blends with the surroundings.

The Chuck-Will's-Widow has not been reported from this vicinity very often. It is fairly common south and east of Richmond and Brunswick county. Ernest Edwards heard one near Amherst June 10, 1941, but it is a bird that we need to know more about around here. We would appreciate any reports of the bird, which is not apt to be seen, but can be identified by its call.

The warblers have all gone through now. We heard the last of the Black Polls on the 25th., and they are usually the last ones of the migrants. We must be satisfied now to observe those birds that will be here for the summer. The VSO had a trip up into the Blue Ridge last week-end, and there were apparently plenty of warblers up there. Unfortunately we were unable to make the trip, but we may be able to go a little later. Several species of warblers most in the mountains.

The laurel is blooming now, and several spots we have seen are just loaded with bloom. The buds are a beautiful pink color, and as these little button like buds open up, the flowers look like little cups. Unfortunately a good bit of this "ivy", as it is often called locally, has been cleared out and broken off, but it is very persistent, and shoots seem to come up easily from the roots. Try and transplant it to your own place though! We have had some in our woods that we brought in at least ten years ago, and it still looks scraggy and never has had a bloom. Which is another instance that should convince us that wild flowers and shrubs don't want to be moved and are best left where we find them.

Palmyra News

By Mrs. C. C. Conrad, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice H. Conrad left Sunday for Dallas, Texas where he has accepted a position with National Geophysical Co. Inc.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fleshman and daughter of Montgomery, W. Va. spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Lottie Flechman.

Mrs. W. R. Abbott and Mrs. S. P. Beers of Melbourne, Fla., are visiting Mrs. Abbott's nephew, S. P. Harland and Mrs. Harland. They are enroute to their summer home in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shifflett had as their dinner guests Wednesday, Messrs. Pendleton Shifflett and Gurley Ritten, of Norfolk.

P. H. France, Miss Katherine Omohundro and Mrs. Eloise Ryals attended the District Workers Extension Meeting in Lynchburg Friday.

We feel relieved to know that the persons who have been entering and damaging the schools, have been arrested.

Misses Peggy Gensel and Peggy Minter are confined to their homes with measles.

The friends and relatives in Palmyra were saddened to hear of the passing of Mr. Arthur Campbell, of Wilmington Wednesday, May 21. Mr. Campbell had lived a long useful life at his home in Fluvanna and leaves a host of friends and loved ones. Our sympathy goes out to the family.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Harland and their son and daughter, Si, Jr., and Marion, and Charles Manning of Norfolk came up for T. A. Campbell's funeral. Many other out-of-county people attended.

Mrs. "Tommy" Shifflett spent Saturday with her friends Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Redd in King William County.

Wray Graduates

Fred C. Wray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl K. Wray, of Schuyler, was graduated from Westminster Theological Seminary, Westminster, Md., at the spring commencement, May 26-27.

Wray received his B. A. degree from Lynchburg College June 1949. He entered the Theological Seminary in September 1949.

During his seminary years he served the Culpeper Circuit charge of the Virginia Conference.

He plans to become a member of the Virginia Conference and hopes to leave in late summer for three years' service in India.

A most unusual condition exists when three power lines of varying voltages cross each other at one point. This situation is on secondary highway 722 north of Schuyler. This is the only place this condition exists in the Lynchburg district of the Appalachian Electric Power Company's system.

In the background on the left, is shown the wooden pole structure carrying the three wire 44,000 volt transmission line, starting at Reusen's Hydro Plant and terminating in Scottsville. Some of the towns served are Monroe, Amherst, Shipman and Lovingson, Coveseville and Scottsville. At these points substations are erected which reduced the voltage from 44,000 volts to 7,200 volts and from here the electric service is distributed to serve the farms, homes and commercial establishments throughout the areas. This voltage is too high for commercial or household use and is reduced by means of transformers, to the required voltage.

Modern Protection And Privacy

When you decide to safeguard your treasured possessions in one of our Safe Deposit Boxes, you can forget all about such hazards as thieves, fire, loss or the chance that someone may see your private possessions. The Safe Deposit Boxes and Storage Vaults at this institution insure modern protection and the strictest privacy. The cost of a medium size Safe Deposit Box is as little as $3.60 a year. Reduced to a daily basis this is less than 1c a day. If you will, contrast this small sum with the amount that a loss by fire or burglary could cost in money and in trouble. You would lose a lot of time replacing important confidential papers and documents—Not to mention such papers that could never be replaced—We should be very pleased to have you inspect our Safe Deposit Boxes that assure protection for your papers and other valuables. Here they are conveniently available to you and you only. The private coupon booths provide you with privacy to examine these papers without anyone else seeing them.

Country Lawyer

By Walter Johnson

Seldom has there been a political campaign so fraught with inconsistency as in the Byrd-Miller campaign for the Democrat nomination for the United States Senate to be voted upon in the Democrat Primary on July 15th.

Miller very rightly denounces the loss of Freedom in Virginia through encroachment upon the people and upon local self-government by the bureaucracy in Richmond created and supported by what is called the "machine". On the other hand his position seems to be that federal bureaucracy is alright and that he should be elected to the United States Senate to vote in that body as directed by the boss-man of the Democrat Party rather than as directed by the people of Virginia.

The Byrd candidacy is just as inconsistent. He very rightly stands in opposition to the tyranny of encroaching federal bureaucracy while at the same time he seems to stand in support of those who ride his coattails in Virginia and who impose exactly same thing upon people through state bureaucracy. The proposition of government-by-bureaucracy is just as oppressive upon the people coming from Richmond as it is coming from Washington.

It is true that Byrdism in Virginia does not waste the earnings of the people to the extent that Trumanism does in Washington. But those appointees in Richmond who sit in the dark dungeons of state bureaucracy are just as ambitious to control and direct the individual citizen and local government within the counties and cities as is federal bureaucracy and the appointees who sit therein.

Miller has accused the "Byrd Party in Virginia" of joining the Republican Party, it's worse wing, the Taft wing. Actually the Taft supporters are generally men and women who support the basic concepts of Freedom and who resent direction by both state and federal bureaucracy. In the United States Senate both Taft and Byrd have generally stood against imposition of indignity upon the people through federal bureaucracy. For that Senator Byrd deserves a substantial bouquet.

At the same time when Senator Byrd denounces as persons ashamed of Virginia those whose voices are raised against oppression by our state bureaucracy he is not serving the best interest of the people of Virginia. It is only by public discussion that we, the people, can exercise such measure of self-government as maybe left to us. We must be left free to praise or criticize all government whether federal or state. Those who criticize are not ashamed of their state. The very fact of the criticism shows that they have an interest in their government and that this interest is so strong as to impel voicing objection even if it means being pinched in this or that way by the machine.

In the state picture one will, after a fashion, endorse the badness of the state machine and state bureaucracy in voting for Senator Byrd yet the vote would also include endorsement of the anti-bureaucracy stand of the Senator as to the federal government. Because Miller seems to stand in solid support of Trumanism in the national picture and in opposition to machine rule in the state picture a vote for him would be endorsement of federal bureaucracy and opposition to state bureaucracy. Those are the inconsistencies that face the voter at the polls on July 15th.

The concept of bureaucracy under which appointees ride rough shod over the people and curtail their basic rights as Free dignified human beings is bad. It is bad as to both federal and state government. It should be curtailed and rolled back out of the hair of the people. Senator Byrd is right in opposing federal bureaucracy but is wrong in supporting the state bureaucracy being imposed upon the people of Virginia by those who

TIPS GIVEN FOR SEASONAL CARE OF POULTRY FLOCK

Take care of your pullet flock—egg prices are expected to be nearly as high this fall as they were a year ago.

Warm, rainy, or cloudy weather is ideal for the development of coccidiosis. Several treatments are effective in checking the disease. Decide what to use, and have a supply on hand. Watch the chicks closely, and when symptoms of coccidiosis are noticed, treat according to directions. Keeping the litter in the brooder house dry, and the range free of water puddles will prevent the disease.

As soon as the pullets are old enough to do without heat, they may be moved to the range. Good pasture, and ground on which no chickens have ranged for at least a year, are recommended. Keep the pullets away from the older birds. Cockerels will reach frying size quicker and on less feed if they are kept confined. They may be kept in the brooder house until they are large enough to be eaten.

Keep good growing mash and plenty of water before the pullets all the time. Oats and hen-size grit may be kept in a separate hopper. Scratch grain may be fed after the middle of the afternoon.

Cull all hens in the laying flock that have grown "broody" or stopped laying. The hens that stop laying now are the poorest layers. It is more profitable to sell them now and save the feed they would be eating.

In some sections there is interest in preserving cheap eggs and using them in the fall when eggs are scarce and prices are high ride his coattails. The gentleman from Albemarle, Mr. Miller, is right in opposing state bureaucracy and wrong in supporting federal bureaucracy.

One quart of water glass (sodium silicate) in nine quarts of water that has been boiled and cooled will preserve 15 dozen eggs. Put the solution in a five-gallon, or larger stone jar, and place it in the basement or some other cool place. Clean, infertile eggs may be placed in the liquid the day after they are laid.

Feed Grain Stocks

Recent BAE figures indicate that smaller-than-average stocks of feed grains, in terms of supply per animal unit to be fed, were the smallest since 1948, and smaller than in all but 2 of the last 15 years. Farm stocks of corn, at 1,068 million bushels, were smaller than in 12 of the last 15 years.

Atlantic Alfalfa Seed Available For First Time

Seed of Atlantic Alfalfa, a productive new variety with some resistance to leaf spot disease, is available this year for the first time.

About 500,000 pounds of certified Atlantic seed are available for 1952 plantings, agronomists at VPI say. U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates indicate this will supply about one-tenth of the need in the East, Corn Belt states, and the South, where Atlantic is adapted. Plans call for the production of 5,000,000 pounds of certified seed of this improved variety annually by 1954.

Atlantic alfalfa, developed at the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, was released in 1942. In 10 years of widespread testing, it has given superior yields in 30 states and 3 Canadian provinces. Where bacterial wilt has not been a limiting factor, Atlantic has outyielded Buffalo, Ranger, Kansas Common, and Grimm by an average of 10 percent, or from 500 to 800 pounds of hay per acre.

In Virginia, Pennsylvania, Michigan, and Ontario, Atlantic has yielded 20 percent higher than other improved varieties. It led all varieties in 24 of 33 locations, tied for highest at 2, and was above average in yield at 4 of the remaining 7 locations where the alfalfas were under test.

Although Atlantic is not recommended for areas where bacterial wilt is a problem, it has some tolerance to this disease and has maintained better stands under wilt conditions than other available varieties, except the resistant Ranger and Buffalo.

Miss Edith Hasher

Miss Edith G. Hasher, of Troy, Fluvanna County, died at 2:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon at her home, following an extended illness.

She was a native of Fluvanna, daughter of the late Samuel and Enora Bourne Hasher, and was 59 years of age. Surviving are one brother, L. M. Hasher, of Palmyra; two sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Perkins, of Charlottesville, and Miss Ada Hasher, at home; one niece and two nephews.

Graveside services were held at 4 o'clock Monday morning in the family burying ground at the residence, conducted by the Rev. Wadell Waters, pastor of Beaver Dam Baptist Church, and the Rev. E. W. Rawlings, pastor of the Methodist Church at Palmyra.

One Vote Is Important

"Our forefathers fought for the right to vote—but do we care much for that right today?" wrote Hugh Forster, Chairman, Civic Committee, Lancaster, Pennsylvania. "Apparently we don't!"

Mr. Forster then cited some facts which should make America ashamed of itself. In a recent election, 90 per cent of Belgium's eligible voters went to the polls. Almost as many eligible Italian voters cast ballots in the election, that rebuffed Communism, and 82 per cent voted in the last British election. Other nations have comparable records. But only 51 per cent of eligible Americans voted in the Presidential election of 1948.

It's an easy alibi to say that just one vote doesn't matter, so why take the trouble to visit the polls. The fact is that one vote can be overwhelmingly important. Mr. Forster described cases where a very small number of votes made history. As an example, in 1884 James Blaine lost New York State by much less than one vote per precinct. Had he carried New York he would have defeated Cleveland and become President.

Such exceptional cases to one side, every American freedom rides solidly on the right of franchise. The secret ballot is the greatest defense against tyranny ever devised in the tangled history of mankind. No one who fails to vote can call himself a good citizen. He is, instead, a shirker of the worst possible kind.

Fluvanna Rtd Cross Fund Totals $1425

Mrs. J. P. Snead, chairman of the Fluvanna Red Cross Chapter, requests that a correction be published concerning the report of funds collected during the last drive. Due to a typographical error, the fund quota, which was $971, was printed $179.71. A total of $1425.17 was collected.

From this amount, said Mrs. Snead, $648.59 was the national quota and $225 was sent to national headquarters for the tornado and Mississippi-Missouri flood disasters, leaving $552.58 for the local chapter expenditures.

The three yearly visits of the Bloodmobile cost the chapter around $400 per year. The Bloodmobile will visit the chapter at Fluvanna County High School on June 23 from 12 noon until 6 p. m. Miss Wallace Heard, blood donor recruitment chairman, asks all who are interested in giving blood at this time to notify her in Fork Union.

The chapter also conducts swimming classes during the summer under the supervision of Charles Costello, Water Safety chairman, and is sending two young people to the Aquatic School to be trained as instructors in swimming, life saving and first aid.

Two home nursing classes have been taught in the county this year. These classes were organized by Mrs. Ellis P. Snead, home nursing chairman.

Byrd To Speak

United States Senator Harry Flood Byrd will be guest speaker at an open meeting of the Fluvanna County Farm Bureau on June 6. The meeting will be at the Fluvanna County High School at Carysbrook, starting at 8 p. m.

Citizens of Albemarle, Buckingham, Cumberland, Goochland and Louisa Counties, as well as Fluvanna citizens, have been invited to attend the meeting.

The Fluvanna High School band, under the direction of Captain G. R. Edgerton, will provide special music for the occasion.

Ramblings

Flower-growing seems to be the one thing in which people cling to tradition and that doesn't go in and out of style. You hear of an old-fashioned garden, but it concerns the form or shape of the garden, rather than what is in it. Most of us would rather plant and grow something we remember in other gardens, than experiment with a flower we never heard of—much as some people would rather see an old friend than entertain a new one. Williamsburg has issued a booklet on the original gardens and their contents during colonial days, and they are much the same as those we find in our own gardens, such as phlox, pansies, cornflowers, roses, hydrangea, lilacs, and forget-me-nots to mention only a few. Wildflowers have been the same since anyone can remember, and perhaps it is half their charm that during childhood they were discovered, and when you see a jack-in-the-pulpit, a wood violet, or smell the trailing arbutus, something of that childhood delight of discovery comes back again.

Both poets and psychologists, as well as ordinary mortals, have remarked that experience and character shows in a person's face, and recently we heard the poet, W. H. Auden, remark that children do not have faces, they have masks, as yet unformed and not molded by thought and experience. Faces of people vary somewhat the way flowers vary. There are degrees of character, and once in a while you see an adult with wide eyes and smooth brow, who reflects nothing more interesting than does the round white daisy with a plain yellow center. Rain or sunshine do not change its appearance. Some faces stand out of a crowd because they are thoughtful, as well as beautiful. Pansies are more like these faces, and will reflect a storm by becoming bent or ruffled. Peonies change, too, with circumstances, starting out pink, bright and fluffy, but often wilt without care. There are people like purple tulips, deeply dignified and unyielding, and there are the colorful and courageous people, showing strength in a storm and giving cheer always, like brave bright colors of tall zinnias and chrysanthemums. And who has not known someone very like a rose?

Heard the other day of a farmer along the wayside who was seen giving a cow milk out of a pail. His friend stopped at the barn door and asked why he was doing such a thing.

"Well," said the farmer, "her milk is getting so weak, I just thought I'd run it through again."

Price Support Rates For 1952 Wheat Crop

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has just come out with the minimum price support dates for the 1952 wheat crop in Virginia.

They vary by counties from $2.34 to $2.37 per bushel for U. S. No. 1 grade, according to C. D. Jordan, state chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration. The minimum price support rate for Fluvanna county for 1952 is $2.36 per bushel.

These minimum support rates for wheat are subject to increase, if necessary, to reflect 90 per cent of the July 1, 1952 parity price of wheat, which is the official basis of support. There are official discounts for wheat below Grade No. 1 and for smut and other factors.

Price supports are offered to producers through loans on wheat stored in public warehouses under agreement with the Commodity Credit Corporation or on grain in farm storage bins approved by PMA. Growers who don't need immediate cash can get price protection on their stored wheat by taking out a purchase agreement with PMA. That lets them keep title to the wheat with the option of delivering to PMA any time up to April 30, 1953, which is the maturity date for the loan program.

Both loans and purchase agreements may be taken out from time of harvest until January 31, 1953.

As was the case under last year's program, farmers must pay their own storage on wheat stored in warehouse under CCC's uniform grain storage agreement.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics May report indicates that the acreage of wheat for grain this year is 350,000 acres against 357,000 acres in 1951.

Emmitt Randolph Pugh

Emmitt Randolph Pugh, retired machine operator for the Alberene Stone Corporation of Virginia, at Schuyler, died at 8 o'clock Friday night at his home in Alberene, following an extended illness.

Essay Contest

I feel as if I'm learning more about birds, wild flowers as well as seeded flowers and I'm learning a lot about conservation. Thanks to all the people that helped to get this club started. — Aleane Giannini, Junior.

Why I Became A Member of the Garden Club:

I became a member of the Garden Club because I am interested in Wild Life Conservation, such as the preservation of the bison and the golden eagle and other near-extinct animals and plants. I am interested in the extinct animals such as the guagga, the carrier pigeon and the great auk. The Dodo of "Alice in Wonderland" was once alive but has been extinct since the 17th century.

I am also interested in flowers, and their arrangements. I would like to learn how to make them stay spread out without a frog. I would like to know when and where what flowers bloom.

I was not especially interested in conservation or horticulture, but they would probably be rather interesting.—Sarah Forsyth, Senior

Why I joined the Garden Club:

I joined the Garden Club because I want to learn about birds and flowers. I wish I had a real big flower garden. I like birds and flowers and I like springtime.—Sandra Sue McDearmon, 2nd grade.

Driver Fined

Gleason Johnson, Negro, of Faber, was fined $15 in Trial Justice Court in Charlottesville Friday morning on a reckless driving charge growing out of a wreck on Route 29 south on May 11.

A car driven by Johnson was demolished after it struck the rear of a car and trailer truck and crashed into a field. Johnson told the court that the hood of the car flew up, obscuring his vision.

Piano Recital

James Conis, student in education at the University of Virginia, who since January, has been instructing in music the Misses Judith Greer, Peggy Browning, Brenda Parrish, and Master Eddie Creasy, gave his spring recital at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Greer, on Sunday evening, beginning at 8 p.m.

There were 30 present to hear the beautifully rendered program. Each student played several solo selections; and Mr. Conis accompanied each, in a duet. Misses Greer and Parrish also gave a vocal duet with Miss Browning accompanying at the piano.

At the conclusion of the program, Mr. Conis gave each student a small gift, as a token of appreciation, for their good work. The program, which was enjoyed by all, showed the work of a good instructor and the progress and accomplishment of these young people.

After refreshments were served by the co-hostesses, Mrs. H. F. Browning and Mrs. Wendell Parrish, the group sang together a number of old hymns, accompanied by Mr. Conis at the piano.
