Harris Says He Favors Special Tax For Fire District

Ashby Harris, member of the Albemarle County Board of Supervisors from the Scottsville District, said this week that he favors the establishment of a fire district around Charlottesville with a special tax on this district to support fire protection in this area.

The Albemarle Supervisors at the present time have under consideration a plan for county fire protection by Supervisor John W. Williams which calls for the purchase of a fire truck to be stationed in Charlottesville and the hiring of two full time paid employees, the cost of which Supervisor Williams proposes to be borne by general county funds.

Mr. Harris stated he was wholly in agreement with the need for additional fire protection for the county but he felt it unfair to tax all of the county for something which will only benefit a certain area. Harris agrees with the purchasing of a county fire truck as outlined in the Williams' proposal, but feels that the costs of it should rest upon those county residents who receive full benefit from it. Remote districts in Albemarle won't receive the same protection from a fire truck stationed in Charlottesville as those residents in the thickly settled area around Charlottesville, Mr. Harris stated.

With the establishment of a fire district in which residents will receive equal fire protection from the purchase of a county fire truck and the levying of a special tax for this area, Supervisor Harris feels that the cost for this will be more fair than if it were taken from general tax funds.

Make Reservations For PTA Card Party

E. B. Mayfield, chairman of the P.T.A. Card Party scheduled for February 6, urges that reservations be made by those planning to attend. Reservations may be made by calling Scottsville 2130. Mr. Mayfield states that the committee in charge of refreshments can do a better job if some idea of the number of people expected at the party is known.

Door prizes are to be given at the Benefit Party which will be held at Scottsville High School next Friday night at 8 p.m. Proceeds will go for operating expenses of the P.T.A. Some of the money raised has been designated for the repair of the swings at the Primary School.

Tickets to the Card Party are now on sale and are $1.00 per person. Members of the Executive Board are assisting in the sale of tickets.

Blood Need Stressed

Mrs. Hazel T. Ranson, Chairman of the 1953 American Red Cross Funds Drive in Fluvanna County, released a statement this week concerning the new and effective use of gamma globulin, a part of human blood, in giving temporary protection against the paralytic effects of polio.

The Red Cross has been requested by the National Research Council of the Office of Defense Mobilization to "assume responsibility for collecting the necessary blood to provide the maximum gamma globulin possible for the prevention of poliomyelitis."

Mrs. Ranson said today that the local Red Cross chapter will make every effort this year to collect blood from county residents, to aid the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in their fight for the prevention of polio.

David Ferneyhough and Lester Bailey

Two Local Youths Realize Great Work Done With March Of Dimes Funds

By Elizabeth Wimer
A conversation with two young Scottsville schoolboys who know what it means to be stricken with polio, and spend months in the hospital under treatment, does more to convince a person of the great help being given by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis than a thousand words of publicity.

Allen David Ferneyhough of Carters Bridge and Lester Edward Bailey of Scottsville are now going to school and living a daily life of a regular schoolboy, although nearly four years ago, David was entering the hospital completely paralyzed from the neck down, while Lester was well on the way to recovery after months of treatment for the disease which also completely paralyzed him from the neck down.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Ferneyhough, the youngest in a family of nine boys. Two brothers, Alvin and Charles, are with the army in Japan and Arthur is a short wave radio operator in Korea. Franklin, Wallace, Milton, Howell and Garland live with the family at home.

After four months in the Medical College hospital in Richmond, David was transferred for treatment for five months to the Crippled Children's Home. He learned there to walk again, at first with help of canes, and now walks well, with only a small brace on one ankle. He is 11 years old and in the fourth grade at school.

His brother Franklin says he did a lot to help himself and still takes special exercises regularly. With no insurance to help him financially, funds from the Foundation provided completely for all expenses in the hospital and out of it, as he continued to be treated for two years after coming home. Franklin says that anyone who went to the hospital in Richmond, and saw the polio patients there would not hesitate to contribute all they could to the March of Dimes.

David enjoys reading "anything" as his favorite pastime. He attends Sunday School at the New Bethel Methodist Church at Woodridge, and his plans now are to study to be a minister. Needless to say, he is more than grateful for all the help that has been given him toward his recovery.

Lester is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Oliver Bailey. He is in the ninth grade at school and is 15 years old. In September of 1948 he was stricken with polio and spent four months in the Richmond hospital, part of the time in an iron lung. He is also a graduate of the Crippled Children's Home, and March of Dimes funds paid all his hospital bills. He has had two operations since he left the home, and expects to have one more, which will enable him to get about as well as anybody. He has one sister, Madeline. In his spare time, Lester enjoys shop work, and has a few tools at home with which to work at his hobby.

With much sincerity, Lester says, "I am certainly glad to have had the polio funds to help me."

Large Crowd Hears Tucker's Final Sermon

Members of all the churches in St. Anne's Parish filled St. John's Church on Sunday for the last service in Scottsville conducted by the Rev. Beverley D. Tucker, who leaves this week for Old Donation Church near Little Creek in Princess Anne County. Following the church service a coffee hour in honor of Rev. Tucker was held in the Parish House of St. John's Church.

Mr. Tucker received a Prayer Book and a check from members of St. John's Church. The gift was presented by Senior Warden Odell White. The Woman's Auxiliary of Christ Church presented him with a desk pen set. Allen Randolph, Senior Warden of Christ Church, made the presentation.

In addition to members from the four churches which Mr. Tucker has served since coming to Scottsville in 1948, the ministers and wives of other churches in the Scottsville Community attended the coffee hour last Sunday.

Suit Compromised

A seven-man jury was dismissed yesterday after a damage suit by J. Barclay Andrews of Roanoke against the Nelson & Albemarle Railway was settled out of court while the jury was viewing the scene of the accident which occurred when Andrews' car collided with the engine of the train as it crossed Route 6 between Esmont and Schuyler on January 10, 1952.

Witnesses testified at the hearing all day on Tuesday in Nelson Circuit Court, Judge Meeks presiding. When the jurors were called in again Wednesday, they were taken to the railroad crossing. Meanwhile a compromise settlement was made. Andrews claimed $25,000 damages for bodily injuries and loss of earnings as a result of the crash.

Jurors were E. S. Fox, Jr., Samuel O. Mawyer, Forrest T. Duncan, T. M. Duncan, H. H. Roberts, Calvin R. Powell and W. Withers Purvis.

Garden Club To Meet

The Fairhaven Garden Club will meet next week on Wednesday, February 4 at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Buel Carden. Mrs. W. A. McDearmon will be co-hostess with Mrs. Carden.

Plans Are Made For New Circle Of Baptist Church

A reorganization meeting was held by the Board of the Baptist Missionary Union on Wednesday night, January 21, at the Baptist Church. At this time plans were made to organize a new circle for mothers of pre-school children. Mrs. John Elliott, wife of the pastor of the Baptist Church, was named chairman of this group.

Mrs. Charles Stone, president of the Baptist Missionary Union, presided at the reorganization meeting. Other officers in the Missionary Union are Mrs. F. E. Paulett, first vice-president; Mrs. W. J. Smith, Second vice-president; Miss Hazel Proffitt, treasurer; Mrs. George Omohundro, Jr., secretary; Mrs. W. J. Goodwin, Prayer League chairman; Miss Helen Beal, Stewardship chairman, Mrs. John Williamson, Mission Study chairman and Mrs. Blair Moon, Community Mission Chairman.

The addition of a new circle brings the number of circles in the Baptist Missionary Union to three. The other two groups are known as the Annie Bell Circle and the Lottie Moon Circle, taking their names from missionaries active in the Baptist Church.

Officers for the coming year in the Annie Bell Circle are Mrs. W. J. Goodwin, chairman; Mrs. F. E. Paulett, Secretary; Mrs. L. L. Armistead, Program Leader; Mrs. Miller Payne, Community Missions; Miss Helen Beal, Prayer League Chairman.

The following were re-elected officers in the Lottie Moon Circle: Mrs. John Williamson, chairman; Mrs. Cosby Patterson, Program Leader; Mrs. Walter Mason, Secretary-Treasurer; Mrs. W. C. Duncan, and Miss Frances Faulconer, Community Missions.

Both of the present circles meet on the Thursday after the first Sunday in the home of a member.

Omohundro Elected Insurance President

George T. Omohundro, Sr. of Scottsville was re-elected president of the Albemarle Home Mutual Fire Insurance Company at the annual meeting held Saturday, January 17. Mr. Omohundro has been president of the company for approximately the last 10 years.

Reports from the secretary-treasurer showed that the company had an increase of more than $100,000 in the value of policies outstanding in 1952 compared to 1951.

Mr. Omohundro presided at Saturday's meeting held at the county courthouse. The secretary-treasurer's report summed up the situation during the last year. The president called on a report from the auditing committee which passed on the accuracy of the report.

As of January 1, 1953 the company had 1,298 policy holders and policies in effect numbered 1,465 which amounted to $6,241,201. The report of January 1, 1952 showed 1,302 policy holders and 1,476 policies which amounted to $6,102,445.

Fire losses during the past year were the lowest in the history of the company. Only four losses and six damage claims were presented during the year.

A resolution was passed stating that each policy holder would receive a notice of the meeting, which is held annually on the third Saturday in January. This was done in an effort to have a larger attendance at the company meeting, as the crowd attending last Saturday was disappointing.

Sylvia Gay

Esmont Girl Gets Citizenship Award

Miss Sylvia Gay of Esmont has been elected by the Senior Class and faculty of Scottsville High School to receive the Good Citizenship Award presented by the Daughters of the American Revolution. A certificate and medal will be presented Miss Gay at Class Night at the close of the school year.

The contestants for the D.A.R. Award were three Senior girls selected by secret ballot by members of the Senior Class. Dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism were the qualities on which the three were judged. Of the three elected by the Class one was selected by the High School faculty. Miss Gay was the Senior girl chosen this year who was best fitted to be the "good citizen" of her school.

Winners in high schools throughout the state will be among the contestants entering the state Good Citizenship Contest. The winner of this award will receive a $75 U. S. Saving Bond, a pin from the D.A.R. and a certificate.

Miss Gay is President of the Publications Club, Captain of the 1952-53 Girl's Basketball Team, has played two years on the Varsity Team and been a member of the basketball squad for three years, is a member of the Commercial Club, and the Ripples Staff, and was in the Senior Class Play.

Robert E. Hannum, Jr. of Troy, was recently promoted to first lieutenant while serving as reconnaissance and survey officer of Battery C, 32nd Field Artillery Battalion in Aschaffenburg, Germany. Lieutenant Hannum, whose parents live at White Hall, Troy, is a veteran of World War II and of the present conflict in Korea. He wears the UN Service Ribbon and the Korean Service Ribbon with five Campaign Stars. He is a graduate of Fluvanna County High School and has attended Charlottesville School for Boys and the University of Virginia.

Supervisors Order 75% Fair Market Value Assessment

Tax assessors for Albemarle County were instructed by the County Board of Supervisors in a letter issued to them Monday morning to tax household and kitchen furniture, automobiles and other types of personal property at 75 per cent of fair market value. In previous years property has been assessed on the assessor's estimate of 25 per cent of fair market value with the exception of automobiles.

Farm machinery tools, livestock, manufacturing and mining machines and tools are set up in a different classification and will be assessed at 25 per cent of fair market value.

Ashby Harris, Scottsville District member of the Board of Supervisors, stated that the change was ordered by the Supervisors on legal advice in an effort to bring about a uniformity of levy. Mr. Harris said that this "was the only equitable way to work it out."

Under the new tax assessment policy automobiles and trucks will be assessed at the average cash values in the National Used Car Blue Book, whose prices are considered by the County Board to be 75 per cent of the fair market value. Last year figures from the National Auto Dealer's Used Car guide were used.

Real estate remains at the 25 per cent of fair market value assessment. Machinery and tools used in a manufacturing or mining business will remain in a separate classification with assessment at 25 per cent. Tools and farm equipment are granted ten per cent depreciation per year until they reach ten per cent of the fair market value, remaining at this assessment as long as they are in use.

Assessment of livestock will be figured from a scale of values which the County Supervisors set up as a guide. As prices for livestock have dropped in 1952, values are below those of last year.

E. H. Moore of Keene is the County Tax Assessor for the Scottsville District. The deadline for filing tax returns in Albemarle is May 1, so assessment will begin immediately.

Supervisors Discuss County Tax Levy

Discussion on County Tax policy was the main issue at the January meeting of the Albemarle Board of Supervisors held January 21. Other action transacted included the re-election of C. Purcell McCue as chairman of the Board, the denial of a request for $2,064 from the Instructive Visiting Nurses Association and the hearing of requests by certain county residents for highway improvements and admission of roads into the state highway system.

For the first time in a number of years the Supervisors elected a vice-chairman of the Board. Warren W. Wood was elected for this office.

The IVNA requested funds from the County to cover costs of visits by the Association Nurses to county welfare clients. Supervisor Ashby Harris from the Scottsville District was among those voting in favor of vetoing this request. In explaining his vote Mr. Harris stated that he was opposed to the County Board making appropriations to the Community Chest, a matter which had come up at a previous meeting. He felt that the request from the IVNA was in the

NATIONAL, STATE 4-H EVENTS PLANNED FOR THIS YEAR

Here are some dates for Virginia 4-H'ers to remember for 1953.

National events — 4-H club week, March 7-15; 4-H club Sunday, May 10; 4-H club camp, Washington, D. C., June 17-24; 4-H club congress, Chicago, November 29-December 3; and interstate All-Star conference, Boston, August 14-16.

State events—4-H short course for Negroes, Virginia State College, Petersburg, June; All-Star conference, VPI, June 19-24; 4-H short course, VPI, June 22-27; conservation camp at Camp Farfar, July; conservation camp for Negroes at Petersburg, August; farm and home electric congress, Richmond, September 3-4.

Exact dates of some of the events will be set later.

BIG REDUCTION IN 1953 PIG CROP

A severe cut — 18 percent — in sows bred to farrow this spring is expected in Virginia.

The cut is a result of falling profits from hog production in 1952, and of the small corn crop produced in Virginia.

Nationwide, sows bred for 1953 spring farrow are expected to be 13 percent less than the number bred last year.

The 1952 pig crop in the United States totaled 91,785,000 head, a 10 percent drop from 1951. With a further reduction indicated in 1953, hog supplies are likely to be greatly curtailed during the last half of the year and prices should show considerable recovery. There will, of course, be an increased supply of beef, so total meat supplies will be adequate. The changed situation, however, is certain to bring pork closer to beef prices than they have been in recent years.

I would suggest hog growers study the situation carefully in making their plans for 1953. Additional sows could be bred now for late spring farrow. Pigs produced from these sows could be grazed through the summer on limited grain rations and finished on the new grain crop.

Sows should be bred in January in areas where feeder pig sales will be held. While feeder pigs are selling low now, it is a good guess that they will sell well in late summer, and this will be particularly true if a normal corn crop is produced in Virginia this year.

MID-WINTER PLANTING OF OATS SUGGESTED

Farmers who did not get fall seeded grains in on time are advised to make a mid-winter planting of oats as soon after February 1 as the land can be prepared.

Winter varieties should be seeded by March 15 in this area. Varieties recommended are Arlington, Atlantic, Lee Cold Proof, or Forkedear. A good seed bed, fine and free of clods, is essential for success in producing any small grains.

Seed at the rate of 2½ to 3 bushels per acre. Use all the nitrogen at the time of planting. Use 400 to 600 pounds of 5-10-10, 4-16-8, or 4-12-8 at time of seeding. On thin land use 10-10-10. On very fertile land, where a heavy application of manure was used, or where heavy growth of legume was turned, 400 to 600 pounds of 0-14-14 is recommended in order to reduce lodging.

LIVESTOCK FEEDING BULLETIN AVAILABLE

"Better Feeding of Livestock" is the title of a bulletin now available from the county agent's office.

The bulletin discusses preparation of feed, techniques in feed-it is actually needed. Ferbam and ing different livestock, and use of equipment. Write or ask for a free copy of Farmers' Bulletin No. 2052.

CHECK SUPPLIES FOR TOBACCO BEDS

Check equipment and supplies now in preparation for spraying and dusting tobacco plant beds for the control of blue mold and flea beetles.

Sprayers and dusters should be put in good working condition also. Materials should not be left in the equipment for long periods because almost all spraying and dusting materials left over from last year, if they have been stored in a dry place, can be used this year. If you do not have adequate equipment and supplies for spraying or dusting, make arrangements to buy the equipment before it is actually needed. Ferbam and DDT should be on hand ready for quick use to prevent serious losses from blue mold and injuries from flea beetles.

It is hard to make a blue mold disease forecast very far in advance, because the severity of the disease depends largely on weather conditions during the plant-growing season. There are plenty of blue mold spores present in the whole tobacco area waiting for favorable weather conditions.

Blue mold always causes the greatest damage when there is a period of cloudy, foggy, weather with cool nights. On the other hand, hot, sunny weather makes conditions unfavorable for the disease and frequently checks it.

DRY CLEANING
When dry cleaning at home, get a solvent or cleaning fluid especially prepared for the purpose. Never use gasoline. Choose a sunny, breezy day if possible.

Surprise Ending!

That raffle for our Volunteer Fire Department went over fine. We're going to have money to get a new engine—and then some.

Our local merchants really donated some wonderful prizes. Like Buzz Ellis, the radio-TV dealer, giving that big television set... and the Superior Motors putting up a brand-new car.

There was a humorous note, too. The prize of a year's supply of coal—donated by Baker Coal Yard—was won by Mrs. Thayer, whose husband is the biggest fuel-oil dealer in the county! What did

Mrs. Thayer do with the coal? She gave it to a church she's not even a member of. (Her Church uses her husband's fuel oil.)

From where I sit, that's real generosity. But then, Mrs. Thayer never did believe in dividing people into groups. She's "for" everybody—whatever church they go to, whether they like TV or radio, people who enjoy temperate beer, people who don't. A really warm-hearted person.

millions prefer electric water heating for the same reasons they prefer electric light!

it's clean, safe, thrifty, worry-free

Why do you use electric lights at home? Because you know from experience that electricity's the cleanest, safest, thriftiest way—the best way, all things considered—to do the job.

You want the same dependable performance in a water heater... so let electricity do that task, too!

It makes sense. People who use electric water heaters say it does—and there are more of them every day. You couldn't pay 'em to go back to old-time methods.

Your plumber or electric appliance dealer has a size and type of electric water heater for every family, every purse.

A Program For Survival

The commentators and columnists have been speculating on what Mr. Eisenhower's government fiscal policy will be. The consensus, based on his statements and those of his close advisors, runs about as follows:

Spending will be cut in every possible direction. Waste and non-essentials will be curbed. Every effort will be made to balance the budget immediately. Once that is done, taxes will be reduced both for businesses and individuals.

That, so far as one can see now, will be the Eisenhower program. It is the only kind of program that can be trusted to save this country from bankruptcy. No nation—no matter how wealthy and how well supplied with resources—and no system of government can forever survive official corruption and deficits in the national treasury.

Country Lawyer

By Walter Johnson

The 1953 political campaign has started in Virginia. The thunder of one campaign hardly ceases before the next one starts. This is because of the wasteful methods and practices of our self-proclaimed "sound conservative government". That we should bear with the waste and turmoil of annual elections is inexcusable. Just a little shifting around of the terms of office would permit saving of one-half the election costs to the over-burdened taxpayers.

This year we will elect a Governor, his standby the Lieutenant-Governor and his legal advisor the Attorney General. Also we will elect a new House of Delegates.

Already two gentlemen have cast their hats into the ring for Governor. These are Thomas B. Stanley of Stanleytown in Henry County seeking the Democrat nomination and Nile Straughan of Fredericksburg seeking the Republican nomination. It is expected that other hats will be flipped into the ring especially for the Democrat nomination.

Mr. Stanley announced last week. In so doing he also announced his resignation from Congress effective on February 3rd and which means that he will have served only one month of the two-year term for which he was elected in November. This requires the taxpayers of the Fifth Congressional District to finance and pay for a special election to fill the vacancy.

This may not set well with the people of that District. It is well known that Mr. Stanley was probing for Governor long before the last campaign for Congress.

The position of Mr. Stanley relative to government is pretty much a mystery. He has served in Congress since November 5, 1946 when he was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Thomas G. Burch who had been appointed to the Senate to serve out the unexpired term of Carter Glass who died in office. Mr. Stanley seems at this time to stand on the proposition that he is successful in business and a fine gentleman. Perhaps he will indicate his views on government and let the people assay his position and speculate upon what kind of Governor he would be expected to make.

In the Republican side Mr. Nile Straughan has likewise been silent on matters of our state government. The Republican Party plan, as amended by the 1949 state convention, requires nomination by primary. Inasmuch as there is much opposition to the primary method there may be a movement to change the party plan back again to provide for nomination by convention.

At this point the Republican party in Virginia is quite demoralized when it should be strongest after winning the national election. This is because the new Administration has chosen to leave patronage in the hands of the Democrats and forcing the Republicans into the position of being controlled by the Democrats. Though this may be worked out and Republicans recover in morale that is not certain.

Two-party government is essential to good government. The two parties must be independent of each other to be effective. Under the present situation the Republican Party is under Democrat domination and control through patronage. So long as that lasts there will be little or no heart in or effort by Republicans in any election campaign.

In any event Virginia stands in desperate need of a strong and conservative Governor and General Assembly. A complete reversal of thought is greatly needed in Richmond in both the Executive and Legislative branches. For far too long our Governor has permitted his appointees to inch forward and onward into domination and control of local government and of the individual citizen. For too long the General Assembly has blindly accepted and adopted legislative proposals under its nose by the state bureaus and always having the effect of making those bureaus more powerful and more dominating in the life of Virginia.

Virginia is the birth place of the Republican form of government and Virginians cannot be expected to tolerate continual steady departure from it. It remains to be seen whether either Mr. Stanley or Mr. Straughan can or will disclose the type leadership necessary to get us back on an even keel again.

Homemakers' Club Meets

The Cunningham Homemakers' Club met with Mrs. J. W. Parrish on Friday, January 16. Eleven members, two visitors, and Miss Katherine Omohundro, home agent, were present.

Mrs. H. F. Greer, president, conducted the business session. Mrs. George P. Smith was appointed Civil Defense Chairman for the coming year. Members of the club drew names for a "secret pal" and each will remember hers on special occasions during the coming year.

The demonstration for last Friday's meeting was on loaf bread and "Bake and Serve" rolls.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostess, after which the meeting adjourned to meet again in February.

"BUSINESSMAN" CABINET

RAISES LEGAL PROBLEM

Last November the American people clearly indicated a desire for more economy and efficiency in their government. In order to give the nation a "business" administration, President Eisenhower sought the services of some of the ablest businessmen in the nation. But, some of those businessmen found themselves confronted with a statutory provision against doing business with companies in which they had a financial interest.

Every State in the Union has laws on that subject applicable to officials of political subdivisions as well as to State officials. The first Federal statute was a war measure adopted in 1863. It was amended in 1948 to make it very clear and explicit that Federal officials shall not negotiate for the government with companies in which they have a financial interest.

In hearings before the Senate Armed Services Committee it developed that Charles E. Wilson, chosen for Secretary of Defense, owned more than $2,500,000 worth of stock in General Motors, plus additional stock bonus rights and that the men Wilson had picked for his deputy and for Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force also were substantially interested in companies which do business with the government.

The pattern by which this problem could be solved was set several days later when Wilson indicated his willingness to dispose of his holdings although it might cost him $500,000 or more in addition to the loss he was taking by accepting a $22,500 salary instead of the $600,000 a year he had been getting.

He had been preceded in this course, however, by Mr. Anderson, of Texas, the designee for Secretary of the Navy. Mr. Anderson, whom I personally know and greatly admire, knew what he was up against because several years ago he was seriously considered for appointment to the Federal Reserve Board. Carter Glass was a man who never dwelt in any twilight zone and when he drew the Federal Reserve Act, he wrote into it that no man should serve on that Board who was an officer or director of any bank, banking institution, trust company or Federal Reserve Board because of unwillingness to divest himself of his stock holdings. But, when he went before the Armed Services Committee, he satisfied its members that he had divested himself of all financial interests which would in any way conflict with his duties as Secretary of the Navy.

I have such high regard for Mr. Wilson's ability to administer the defense spending program economically and efficiently and such confidence in his personal integrity that I was pleased when he took the only logical step to bring his eligibility for public service into harmony with existing law.

As I have said, the country wants, and the country needs, a business administration because a government that is spending over seventy billions of dollars a year is a big business enterprise. It must be remembered, however, that there is a vital difference between government business and private business with respect to the overall objective.

Our government was instituted, in the language of our Constitution, "to promote the general welfare." In other words, the purpose of government is to render service, while the primary purpose of private business is to make a profit on the money invested. For the industrial leader, trained in the business of making a profit on his investment, to become a successful statesman, it is necessary for him to be imbued with a sympathetic understanding of the problems of the common man and to be motivated by an ambition to promote the welfare of the masses.

President Eisenhower hit the keynote of this attitude in his Inaugural prayer when he said: "Especially we pray that our concern shall be for all the people."

Ramblings

About two weeks ago, a large cargo truck with a Georgia license plate ran amuck on Route 29 and took a nose dive into a patch of honeysuckle down the side of a steep bank. How it happened or who was driving it remained a mystery for several days, and to the writer it still is. No report of the accident was made to the police. It is supposed the driver was unhurt, and hitched a ride back home to report the mishap. The huge silver trailer remained on its side, a hulk looming into view for every driver who rounded the curve above it. Needless to say, it produced a shudder, and caused much conversation as to what might have been the cause of the accident.

A few weeks ago I was driving from Richmond to Amherst on Route 60 and passed a new sedan, badly mashed in front and with the top caved in. The tow truck was just arriving to clear up the scenery. These remains of accidents, mute evidence of what can happen to anybody on a highway, make more impression, it seems to me, than a thousand words of warning, or a fine for speeding or reckless driving. The Virginia highways are among the most beautiful in the country, and I join the garden clubs in approving all efforts at keeping them unmarred and beautiful. But if each wrecked vehicle could be left on the side of the road for 24 hours as a silent warning, "It can happen to you" it might be worth the discomfort to a few squeamish passers-by. If you watch a string of cars driving past the scene of a collision that is still in evidence, it is noticeable that the speed of these cars goes down for a few miles.

Last summer near Harrisonburg we stopped by a little filling station where the owner had a sideline. He had purchased an army surplus tow truck, covered it with all kinds of colored lights, searchlights, sirens and decorations. He was kept busy picking up badly smashed cars all during the summer tourist season on the highways thereabouts. Another sideline was photography. He had an impressive, if gory, collection of pictures of wrecked cars, and under each photograph was a caption telling how many people were killed and/or injured. Some of these were mounted on a bulletin board. He had many more in his desk. Some of the hopeless wrecks he had stored in his parking space in the rear. He was carrying on his own kind of safety campaign. "Seeing is believing." At the next intersection we came to, I recognized the scene of one of his pictures. I also headed the two-way full stop signs by coming to a very full stop. He had had a picture of a car smashed to bits against one of them.

With the drop of the temperature over last week-end, the increase of bird activity at our feeders was very noticeable. We have not only had to replace seed on the various feeders two or three times a day, but those with suet and fat mixture have also needed refilling at a more rapid rate than usual. Although we are home very little during the daytime, the sample of the species that frequent the feeders during early morning, noon and late afternoon is amazing. Aside from the ever-present Titmice, Chickadees, Nuthatches, White-throated Sparrows and Juncos, we see much of the Carolina Wrens, Cardinals, and Downy Woodpeckers. Sometimes the Sapsucker stays on a feeder for twenty minutes or so, looking, eating and looking some more. The Ruby-crowned Kinglet has been coming more frequently, and so has the Brown Creeper. This morning there was a Myrtle Warbler. The Mockingbird from across the road comes to get a drink in our birdbath frequently, and once in a while some Blue Jays make their appearance, scattering the smaller birds like a blast from the Arctic. At noon today we heard Bluebirds singing, all winter, and it may be that not from the feeders, but from flocks of them stay in protected overhead somewhere. We saw a flock of about a dozen of them the other day in a field near the house.

The Rambler, who is Mr. Ruskin Freer from Lynchburg, reported in his column on Sunday the sight of a huge flock of Robins up near the mountains. We have not seen any large congregations of them, but heard in town this morning the news from a friend of ours who had seen such a flock up near Pleasant View. Robins come and go, here nearly

CORRECTION

In the January 15 issue of The Sun, a story on the Red Cross Funds Drive in Fluvanna County was inadvertently headlined "Mrs. Ranson Heads Polo Drive." The mistake occurred when headlines for two separate stories on the Red Cross and the Polo Drive became switched. Both were guided "Mrs. Ranson Heads", thus accounting for the erroneous heading. The publishers of The Sun regret this mistake.
