The Scottsville Story Scottsville Nine Loses First Game Of Season, 6 To 5

Editor's Note: Beginning with this week's issue we will publish in a series of articles some of the history of Scottsville, a community rich in historical background. Bob Spencer has compiled historical facts from previous notes and from old-time residents in order to present our readers with a picture of the background of Scottsville, which was once the seat of Albemarle County. If any of our subscribers have significant facts to add to "The Scottsville Story" from time to time we would be glad to receive them.

By Bob Spencer
 Chapter I

Before the white man came to the new world and established the first permanent English settlement in Virginia this country was inhabited by Indian tribes. Where these tribes came from and the period of time they had been here is not known.

Scottsville, being located near the James River and having extensive lowgrounds, made it an ideal spot for an Indian settlement. It is believed that an Indian village was located about a mile from Scottsville up the James at the point where Totter Creek empties into the James. Arrow heads and other Indian relics serve as evidence that a settlement did exist in the vicinity. This Indian village was located on a hill overlooking what is known as "The Island" and facing the Buckingham Cliff which is just across the river from Scottsville.

The tribe kept a portion of the lowgrounds clear of trees and bushes by burning. Realizing that they depended largely upon the meat of wild animals for food, the Indians were careful to reserve a section of land whereon game such as deer and buffalo could graze. Totter Creek, teeming with such fish as shad, bass, carp and eels, was of chief importance to the tribe in that they not only used the fish for food but also as fertilizer. The Indian, skilled in hand-craft built canoes of birch-bark for use on the river. A sacred burying ground of this tribe is believed to be located farther up Totter Creek and near the road which leads to Esmont.

Scottsville's first name was Scott's Ferry, named for Edward Scott whose land patent, dated 1732, included the land along the historical James River where the town of Scottsville now stands. Members of the Scott family erected at their own expense a courthouse, prison, stocks and pillory on the land now known as Valmont. In the year 1818 the town of Scottsville was founded by John Scott, a grandson of Edward Scott.

From the hill just above the heart of Scottsville, one is able to capture a most beautiful view of the famous "Horseshoe Bend" of the James River. In view also is the bridge, completed in 1907, which reached across the James and connects Scottsville with Buckingham.

Boats, carrying goods, traveled up and down the James stopping at different landing places along the way. Probably the most important point was Scott's Landing. A little later a ferry was established at this landing. At first only a few canoes and one small flat boat were in use, but later a large flat boat was built and a ferry pulled by ropes was used. The name was then changed to Scott's Ferry.

As time went on, many people began to settle at this point because of the ferry which was of extreme importance at that time. In 1818 the name of this place was changed from Scott's Ferry to Scottsville.

Masons Provide Room For Band Practice

At a regular meeting of Scottsville Masonic Lodge 45 AF & AM, members voted to allow the Scottsville High School Band, which is to be formed in September, to practice in the banquet room of the lodge.

Bugg Farm Winner In Photo Quiz Contest

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Bugg, Jr. of "Lowfields", Shores, were the winners of last week's farm photo quiz contest in this newspaper.

Mr. Bugg runs a dairy and does general farming on his 250-acre farm. The house is over 150 years old, and except for a few modern improvements, is much in its original form. The Buggs have lived in it for about six years. They have three children, Carolyn Ann, Virginia Graham and T. J. Bugg, III. A soil conservation demonstration was held at "Lowfields" in 1949 when over 5,000 people attended to see an artificial lake built, and other improvements which could be made in one day.

Mr. and Mrs. Parr Operate Flower Shop

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Parr, who moved to Scottsville last week, have taken over the Daisy Flower Shop, formerly owned and operated by the late Miss Daisy Seay. Mr. Parr has recently completed a course in floral design in Richmond, and will be assisted in the shop by his wife. They have one daughter, Patricia, five years old.

Although newcomers to this community, the Parrs are acquainted here, since Mr. Parr is a nephew of Miss Seay and also a nephew of Harold Parr. They plan to provide Scottsville residents and those of the surrounding area with a complete service in floral arrangements, plants and cut flowers for all occasions.

Boy Scouts Take Overnight Trip; Carden Pleased

Members of the newly organized Scottsville Boy Scout troop, accompanied by Scoutmaster Buel Carden and Assistant Scoutmaster Haden Anderson went on an overnight camping trip last Friday night. The scouts camped about a mile from Scottsville on the site known as the Gienger place which was recently given by F. E. Paulett for use as a meeting place for the Boy Scouts.

A council fire was built and in true scouting style the boys swapped jokes and ghost tales around the campfire. The scouts enjoyed cooking their own supper and breakfast and refreshments were served them on Friday night by Macon Jones and Joe Wilson.

Scoutmaster Carden was particularly pleased with the results of this first scouting trip and stated, "The overnight camping trip was very successful and all the boys seemed to have a good time."

The scouts who went on this camping excursion were Ralph Flynn, Robert Taylor, Mark Deines, Butch Carden, Lou Joe Eyre, Joe Wilson, Durwood Ballowe, Gordon Rutland, Charles Hudson, Billy McDearmon, Jimmy Gianniny, Walter Townsend, Sammy Custer and Kenneth Davis.

Household Hints

"The freezer offers today's homemaker an unusual opportunity to prove herself a smart and gracious hostess—even when friends suddenly appear without advance notice," says the Kitchen Reporter published by Joan Adams, director of Kelvinator Kitchen.

The home freezer gives the homemaker an opportunity to equalize her work by preparing complete meals in her less hurried moments; freezing, then storing them for one of those days when there is little time for meal preparation.

The freezer makes it possible for the homemaker to get away by herself for a few carefree days knowing she has meals in the freezer for her family.

Busy homemakers and professional women whose time is at a premium are especially interested in the complete-meal convenience of a freezer. Following are some meals from the freezer that will probably be helpful to you.

Ramblings

Every year the crop of vacation Bible School pupils seems to grow larger, along with the increase in church attendance said to be prevalent all over the country. Needless to say this is a healthy sign, and the children look forward to the church after regular school is out, just as eagerly as they do toward vacation trips and days in the swimmin' hole. Much credit is due to the teachers who have made these courses appeal to all children by weaving valuable lessons into such attractive activities as singing songs, playing games and making things, along with learning been wholly holy, it was a surprise passages from the Bible which ing and encouraging experience to they will long remember. This advertisement is the third in a special series which began over a year ago, and which is designed to give you, as a prospective buyer, detailed and helpful information. We'd be happy to have your comments about this type of advertising.

This is the 1953 Chevrolet Bel Air 4-Door Sedan. It's one of 16 Chevrolet models in 3 series, which add up to the widest choice in the low-price field.

Some Chevrolet advantages worth considering when you're ready to choose a car...

Next to a new house, a car is probably your most important purchase. Here are some facts to help you make up your mind about which make to buy.

Don't you agree that it's well worthwhile to weigh all the factors carefully before you buy any new car? Let's consider the major reasons why people choose one make over another and see how the 1953 Chevrolet stands in those respects.

Styling You Can Stay Proud Of

Styling, of course, is a matter of personal taste. Because we think Chevrolet is the best-looking car in its field, doesn't necessarily mean you'll think so, too. But we can tell you that the majority of our showroom visitors prefer Chevrolet styling and compare its appearance most favorably with cars costing a great deal more.

And you might consider this: Chevrolet styling is the newest in its field. It's the kind of styling that stays new, too. For it is based, not on fads or extremes, but on the fundamentals of good, modern design.

The One Automobile Body Almost Everybody Knows

It's not really surprising that so many people prefer Chevrolet's appearance. For Chevrolet is the only low-priced car with Body by Fisher. And Fisher, as you know, is the only automobile body manufacturer with a world-wide reputation for styling, craftsmanship and quality.

The Many Benefits of High-Compression Power

When you drive a new Chevrolet (and we hope you'll do that soon), you'll notice these things: faster acceleration from a standing start; greater passing ability in traffic and on the highway; the new ease with which you climb steep hills.

These are just some of the benefits of Chevrolet's new high-compression power. In gearshift models, there is an advanced 108-h.p. "Thrifty-King" engine with a 7.1 to 1 compression ratio. Teamed with the new Powerglide automatic transmission* is an entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine with 7.5 to 1 compression ratio. It is the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field.

A Great Gain in Gasoline Economy

Along with remarkable new performance, Chevrolet's advanced engines give you far greater gasoline mileage. In fact, this year marks the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And that includes substantial savings on over-all upkeep, as well as on gasoline.

New Getaway in the New Powerglide*

The new Powerglide automatically drops into "Low" range for starting and for passing in city traffic. Then, as you glide along, it slips smoothly and almost imperceptibly into cruising range. The results are much faster and more positive acceleration, and much lower fuel consumption.

The First Power Steering in a Low-Priced Car

This year's Chevrolet is the only car in its field to offer you the extra ease and convenience of Power Steering, optional at extra cost. With it, you can spin the wheel with the strength of one finger. You can seaway in and out of tight parking places without the slightest strain. You get an additional cushion against road shocks and jars. Driving is easier, safer.

A Smoother and a Safer Ride

Chevrolet is the heaviest low-priced car. Model for model, a Chevrolet will weigh as much as 200 pounds more than the other makes. You often hear people say they buy high-priced cars because they're heavier, hold the road better and ride better. Well, isn't it logical, then, that Chevrolet's extra weight (which comes from extra strength of body and frame) would result in a better ride?

Chevrolet is the Lowest-Priced Line

Certainly, price is one of the most important factors of all. We're glad to be able to tell you that Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in its field.

Now, you might well ask, "How can Chevrolet offer me more and still cost less?" There is a simple, logical answer to that.

Remember that Chevrolet builds more cars than any other manufacturer. Chevrolet, along with General Motors, has greater facilities for research, for engineering and production. So, isn't it reasonable that these greater facilities bring manufacturing advantages and economies which Chevrolet can pass on to you in terms of higher quality at lower price?

An Endorsement Given No Other Car

Again this year, more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. Obviously that wouldn't be true unless people liked Chevrolet better. Unless Chevrolet offered more things people want—more value.

So, when you're ready to choose your new car, wouldn't you agree that Chevrolet merits your careful consideration? We welcome your visit at any time, so that you can look the car over yourself and try it out on the road.

*Combination of 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine and Powerglide automatic transmission optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

Farmers Face Tough Choice
The quest for price stability is bringing farmers to grips with some important decisions.

Dr. Harry Love, head of the agricultural economics department at VPI, says, specifically, that it now seems that wheat growers throughout the nation will be asked to vote in July upon whether to accept restrictions on production. "This will be a tough choice, for it means about 30 percent decrease in the acreage they grow."

Assuming yields and prices are unchanged, a decrease in production means a corresponding decrease in gross income. To the extent that production costs rise because of the smaller output, net income will be reduced still more. The real question facing farmers, Dr. Love says, is how much wheat they can sell at a price that will give the greatest total profit. It is possible, he believes, that more wheat at a lower price offers the best promise for profits.

Cotton farmers will likely need to vote on controls later in the year. There is also some talk on applying quotas to corn, and possibly other crops, next year. The livestock farmers who grow some wheat or corn will be torn between the choice of whether it is more desirable to have lower priced feed for their animals or higher prices for the grain they grow. Producers of beef, hogs, poultry, and sheep have felt keenly the effects of support prices for grains. Dr. Love says it has seemed at times that this pressure might force these farmers to ask for support price protection for their products.

Currently, prices received by farmers increased enough last month to raise the index 2 points to 261. Prices farmers pay for things used in production and family living were unchanged and the index was 279. The rise in prices received by farmers was enough to raise the parity ratio to 94, up 1 point. As usual, all prices are not changing alike. Hog prices increased sharply—up an average of $2.40 per 100 pounds. Farmers have marketed more products so far this year than in the same period last year. However, lower prices have resulted in about 2 percent smaller cash receipts.

Whitehead On List of Institute Speakers

Don Whitehead, Associated Press correspondent and twice winner of the Pulitzer prize, will be the kick-off speaker at the annual Institute of Rural Affairs at VPI in July. His address on "Korea, Victory will be J. Earl Coke, assistant secretary, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Certificates of merit also will be awarded to two individuals recommended by a VPI committee and approved by the VPI Board of Visitors who have made outstanding contributions to agriculture in Virginia.

Friday morning, one section will hear an address on "Your Money's Worth", by Dr. George W. McKinney, Jr., financial economist, and Robert Fentress, public relations, Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond; and on the "Farmer's Stake in Money Matters", by James W. Dodd, Jr., assistant cashier of the same bank. The other section will feature an address by Dr. James N. Hundley, in charge of nutrition research, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C., and a panel on "What Have We Learned about Nutrition as a Basis for Good Health" led by F. F. Carr, Appomattox, vice-president, Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs.

Scheduled for one section Thursday morning are addresses on "Politics of Foreign Trade," by Raymond Vernon, acting director, Office of Economic Defense, Department of State, Washington, D. C., and "Foreign Trade—The Farmer's Friend or Foe," by Dr. G. H. Aull, head of the department of agricultural economics, Clemson College, S. C.

Another section will hear a discussion on "Developments in Community Health", by Dr. A. L. Chapman, regional medical director, Southeast District, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C., and a panel discussion led by Dr. Paul Sanders, editor of the Southern Planter, on "What is Your Community Health and Medical Care Score?" Speakers for a third section have not yet been named. The Thursday evening speaker

Ben F. Morgan, Jr., dairy marketing specialist at VPI, says usually greater investments in farm storage and refrigeration equipment are necessary when using the bulk handling system. However, economics in operating cost more than offset the higher investment. Some of the savings reported by people using the system are the result of less labor needed in the barn, better weights, better fat test, and a cut in hauling costs once a route is established with volume. When a plant has all producers using the bulk system there also are savings in the receiving operation.

Like any new technique adopted by an industry, bulk handling presents some problems. It works in some areas better than in others. Bulk tanks will continue to increase in Virginia. In general, dairymen have fairly large herds, and are fortunate in most cases in having good farm-to-market roads. In some states, poor roads are one of the biggest hurdles the bulk tank has to clear.

Bulk Handling of Milk Becoming More Popular

Is the milk can on the way out? That's the question many people in the dairy industry are asking as they watch the growth of the bulk tank system of handling milk.

The first American pilot's license went to Glen Curtiss in 1911.

millions prefer electric water heating
for the same reasons they prefer electric light!

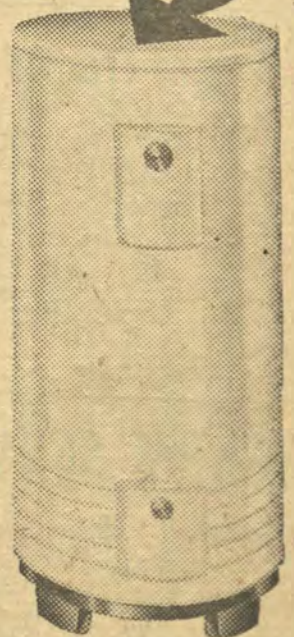

it's clean, safe, thrifty, worry-free

Why do you use electric lights at home? Because you know from experience that electricity's the cleanest, safest, thriftiest way—the best way, all things considered—to do the job.

You want the same dependable performance in a water heater... so let electricity do that task, too!

It makes sense. People who use electric water heaters say it does—and there are more of them every day. You couldn't pay 'em to go back to old-time methods.

Your plumber or electric appliance dealer has a size and type of electric water heater for every family, every purse.

Anne Shirley Leaves

It is with much regret that we announce this week that Mrs. Gordon Dorrier, news editor for The Sun for the past year, has given up her position.

Mrs. Dorrier says she found that, although she "loved" the job, she could not work and attend to her family duties (she has four lovely youngsters).

We could not let her leave without giving her credit for a job well done. Never have we seen anyone so quickly learn newspaper work. Her determination to do a good job has resulted in The Sun's marked improvement, we think, over the past months.

Bobby Spencer, young Scottsville High graduate of this year, will take over her work for the summer and we're confident he will fill the bill.

Again, thanks "Ann Shirley".

IMPLICATIONS OF TRUCE ARE CAUSE FOR CONCERN

It is my firm conviction that we could have won a military victory in Korea under General Van Fleet in the late Summer and early Fall of 1951. But, partly because our allies would not support a necessary blockade of China nor agree to the bombing of bases across the Yalu and partly for other reasons which have not yet been fully disclosed, we and our allies agreed to stop the fighting and start discussing an armistice without mentioning the proposal of our Field Commander, General Van Fleet. He testified before our Appropriation Committee that the first he knew of the matter was when he received the order to stop fighting. And General Van Fleet added that at that time the Communists were at their lowest ebb and sought an armistice for the deliberate purpose of rebuilding their strength in every category while stalling the conference by first one excuse and then another.

Since our allies still refuse to cooperate for a military victory and since a program of going it alone in Korea would have involved for us such tragic casualties, no one should criticize President Eisenhower for accepting the lesser of two serious consequences.

While the Communists have finally yielded on the issue of repatriation of prisoners, which was never more than a subterfuge to continue negotiations, no one should minimize the adverse effect of this truce upon our prestige either in the Orient or in Europe. We must accept the humiliating fact that in Korea we have fought a war which we did not win. The terrific assault recently made primarily upon the sector held by South Koreans evidently was to prove to the Orient and to the world that when an armistice was finally signed in Korea the Communists were winning and that the free nations of the world were no longer willing to accept the casualties and hardships involved.

The broad implications of that decision may be far-reaching. Syngman Rhee and all South Koreans know only too well that acceptance of the pending armistice terms by no means settles the issue which Rhee said was the reason for our participation in the Korean conflict, namely, to protect those who wish to be free from the slavery of Communism and the overriding of those moral and ethical principles which we call the Christian religion.

If the overall effect of that type of settlement on our part is to create the sentiment in the Orient that the Christian members of United Nations are so permeated with materialism that they will make only a half-hearted fight against the evil of Communism the entire Orient may turn toward the Communists. With that victory the Politburo will then concentrate upon the spirit of materialism among our allies. They will offer to trade with them, holding out the prospects of peace, and will say in effect, why sacrifice your standard of living by a continuation of an embargo against trade behind the Iron Curtain. If Western Europe falls for that program in a period of 18 months or more the Soviet Union will have secured all of the military supplies needed to make it invincible on the battlefield and a third world war will have been definitely invited.

old Bible and one the new, taking turns reading from it. While one read aloud, the other followed the same passage in his book, pointing out changes in the wording, making a game of finding the differences. Whether one is more pleasant reading than the other is a matter of opinion, but certainly the publication of the new version has renewed interest in Bible reading everywhere.

A visit to Mt. Vernon certainly contradicts the stories all children hear about successful men and some of our great presidents who got that way by work and study and ambition, but all fired by the fact that they were poor and bare-footed and grew up in log cabins. The Father of Our Country did not lack the virtues of a great man be. and a great leader, but his character was formed in gracious surroundings which included both beauty of nature and beauty in material things. Perhaps we overplay the necessity of "doing without" in order to form a strong character. There is a happy medium where a child can be taught that he must work for what he desires, but his tastes are better formed by being exposed to more than the bare necessities, in order for him to possess that "divine discontent" which urges men to reach the top, wherever that may

In the same issue of a daily paper, that famous authority on childcare, Angelo Patri, ends his article with "... say 'No', and stick to it. But we never, never beat the child". Same day another well informed children's doctor observes, "Tactful words are good, but a hairbrush or hickory switch is often more influential in lodging a youngster from the dangerous highway that leads straight from the high chair to the electric chair." Take your pick.

Pay more? What for?

Fifty Years Forward on the American Road

You don't have to pay costly-car prices for costly-car comforts. Ford brings you everything [and we mean everything] you've ever wanted in a car, at a price that's well within your reach! And according to recent surveys, a Ford returns more of its original cost when sold than any other car at any price!

Here are a few of the "Worth More" advantages you'll find in the '53 Ford:

- 1. A V-8 engine—powerful and smooth! Ford's famous high-compression V-8 is a leader in quiet, flexible, economical performance. Ford, remember, has built more V-8's than all other makers combined—over 13 million!
- 2. America's most economical Six engine! If it's a Six you want, Ford offers you the high-compression, low-friction Mileage Maker . . . the engine which, with optional Overdrive, won over all other cars, regardless of size or weight, in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run! And it's yours for the same kind of money that buys less modern sixes in other cars.
- 3. America's finest and most versatile automatic drive! Fordomatic Drive is the "automatic"

- which gives you both the get-up-and-go of automatic gears and the smoothness of a fluid torque converter. If you choose Fordomatic, you will find that it makes all your driving easier . . . more relaxing.
- 4. Automatic gas savings! Ford's Automatic Power Pilot (on Six and V-8) meters just the right amount of gas, times ignition precisely, burns fuel evenly and completely. You get full high-compression performance from every drop of gas—regular or premium.
- 5. America's newest and finest power steering! Ford's Master-Guide power steering gives you new ease, stability and safety in guiding your car on smooth roads or rough. Your car gains in sure-footed roadability and you expend up to 75% less effort in driving—and parking.

- 6. Largest choice of models in the low-price field! Ford alone gives you a choice of 18 different models . . . a SIX or V-8 . . . Fordomatic, Conventional or Overdrive . . . the widest variety of body, color and upholstery combinations. You can practically "design" your own Ford!
- 7. A body that's the style-setter! Only Ford in its field gives you the advantages of a hull-tight Crestmark Body . . . the trend-maker in design and beauty. Ford's body is the longest and Ford's trunk, the largest. You enjoy more usable space.
- 8. New driving conveniences! Ford's first in its field with such "Worth More" features as easier-acting, suspended pedals that eliminate floor holes . . . foam rubber cushions on front and rear seats in all models . . . and convenient Center-Fill Fueling.

- 9. An automatically controlled ride! When you Test Drive this Ford, notice how the wide front tread (widest in the low-price field) takes tilt out of turns . . . gives you a more level ride. With new "balanced suspension," new spring and shock absorber action and new rubber compression bumpers, road shock in the front end alone is reduced up to 80%.
- 10. It's worth more when you sell it! An impartial survey of used car prices proved that Fords return a greater proportion of their original cost than any other cars in America. It's another fact to add to Ford's reputation as the "Worth More" car. But don't take our word for it. Stop in and Test Drive this Ford for yourself. We predict you'll be sold before you're in second! It was true last year and it's even truer this year: you can pay more, but you can't buy better than Ford.

The Meanderer

Many people have motored along the Skyline Drive and the Blue Ridge Parkway, and have enjoyed the refreshing air, the magnificent views and the beauty of a green-bordered road, minus the ugly signs of civilization. But there is more to this area than meets the eye from the highway. We had the opportunity over last week-end to get back into the hinterlands of Shenandoah National Park, and to appreciate just how much areas like this have to offer.

The Shenandoah National Park covers several thousand acres along and over the ridge of the Blue Ridge, starting near Swift Run Gap and continuing up some forty miles toward Luray. There is no completely unspoiled wilderness land, for there were homestead clearings, and lumbering operations which cut off the virgin forest, before the Park area was acquired. But the whole park is now under strict surveillance; the forests are growing up, the streams are unpolluted, all animals have a sanctuary.

The occasion of our visit to the park was a two-day foray of the Virginia Society of Ornithology. We made our headquarters at Skyland—a settlement of cabins, a beautiful dining room which looks out on the floor of the Valley, a small recreation hall and office. Skyland is an old mountain resort, where people at the turn of the century and before went up on horseback to enjoy a vacation away from civilization. Hundreds of miles of trails lead off from Skyland and from other parts of the Drive, and the Appalachian Trail winds all through the length of the park. The park Naturalist leads trail parties throughout the summer, and conducts programs in the evenings having to do with the wildflowers, the birds, the history and the general features of the area.

Our first day's trip took us off on one of the fire trails back into the Hazel Mountain section, where we hiked through beautiful woods, heard the Veery (one of the thrushes) sing its wonderful song, and became acquainted with many of the wildflowers. Later in the day we visited the Lumberlost area, where huge hemlocks shaded the path, and we found many warblers. A trip through the Big Meadows section, a climb up Stony Man, which is the second highest point in the park—4010 feet—and then another trip to find the Raven, ended our too-short visit. We left the Park with a feeling of thankfulness that at least some parts of this beautiful and abused land of ours is being preserved for us and for those to come. We want to go back again.
