Callie Vee Johnson Wins Top Honors In 1953 Scottsville High Beauty Contest

Callie Vee Johnson, pretty with Doris Davis winning second Scottsville High School freshman, prize and Melva Adcock taking top honors in the annual third place.

Flowers were presented by Mr. Gillis to the three winners. The contest is held every year for the benefit of the high school commercial club. Entrants are sponsored by local business firms and school clubs. This year the auditorium was comfortably filled, with approximately 350 spectators.

From a group of 31 contestants, out-of-town judges gradually narrowed down the local high school girls until the curtain opened on only five remaining entries. These were Melva Adcock, Doris Davis, Callie Vee, Barbara Coleman and Boyce Heath. After a difficult decision the finalists were chosen

Authorities Visit Local High School

Several members of the Albemarle County School Board, Superintendent of schools, Paul Cale, and assistant-superintendent, Leslie Walton, visited Scottsville High School on Monday afternoon to view the school and grounds with plans for improvement in mind. Forrest Paulett, Scottsville District member of the School Board, had been instructed at the meeting of the Board last Thursday afternoon, to contact authorities of the United States Rubber Company in an effort to obtain land for expansion of buildings and grounds at Scottsville High School. Don Carroll, manager of the Scottsville Rubber Plant which adjoins school property, looked over the grounds with the school authorities on Monday afternoon.

Paulett stated that now that the new consolidated school near Charlottesville is nearly complete, the next step in the proposed program includes improvements at the Scottsville School along with other additional work in the county. The party that looked the situation over this week, Paulett stated, felt that additional land would be required in order to meet the land requirements for schools which has been set up by the State Board of Education.

Mr. Carroll told the School Board members that the matter will be taken up with officials of the United States Rubber Company.

The Baseball Park, jointly owned by the school and the town, was also viewed. With the removal of the fences between the park and school grounds, Mr. Paulett stated, that the viewers thought the park could be used as a playground for the school. Additional grading and draining of the road between the two lots may be required, he added.

Paulett also reported that at last Thursday's Board meeting the School Board agreed to make some repairs on the former colored school, located about half a mile from Scottsville, and to maintain it for a janitor's home, for the janitor of the Scottsville School.

Town Council Again Considers Water Supply

Members of the Scottsville Town Council again held a lengthy discussion on the situation of the town water works and water supply at the regular meeting of the Council last Thursday night. Council passed a motion made by Councilman Elmer Johnson that the water and sewerage committee look into the possibility and costs of drilling wells as a source or supply for town water and the enlargement of the town reservoir to the size recommended by the state Department of Health.

Council heard in the treasurer's report given by Town Treasurer Mrs. Wiley Beal that the town had a balance of $5068.84 in the treasury as of February 28. Receipts for the month were listed at $936.37 and disbursements were $1,215.96.

Leading off the discussion on the water system Mayor Harris read a letter from the engineering firm of Wiley and Wilson giving their advice as to what could be done to stop the clogging of the intake pipe that pumps water from the James River. They suggested that a wire basket be installed over the mouth of the pipe, but this was turned down by council as the pipe only becomes clogged during high water, and at that time if the screening had caught trash there would be no way available to clean it.

Councilman Walter Mason again brought up the suggestion of having more holes cut in the water tower and pumping through these when the river is high. Mason stated that he thought this would be the most satisfactory remedy for the problem at the least expense to the town.

Council discussed at some length the possibility of wells as a source of water supply for the town. Councilman Elmer Johnson called attention to the fact that the amount of chemicals used in the water from the James River to purify it for drinking is so large that water pipes to residents' homes and all over town are gradually disintegrating. "We're fighting a losing battle" stated Mr. Johnson.

Mayor Harris Not To Seek Re-election

Mayor Percy Harris announced this week that he would not seek re-election for Mayor of the town of Scottsville in the forthcoming election to be held in June. Mayor Harris made his announcement to members of the town council at their March meeting. "I am devoted to the job," he said, "and I hate to give it up, but I have to do it." Mayor Harris, who since 1933 has served on the town council first as a councilman and then as Mayor, stated that his health would not permit him to run again.

Candidates for seats on the town council and the office of Mayor must file their names as candidates by the first Tuesday in April. At the council meeting held last Thursday, members of the present council were asked to file their names by April 6 if they were seeking re-election. Any resident of the town desiring to run for one of the council seats or Mayor can secure forms to be filed from Mayor Harris.

The Scottsville Town Council has six seats on the council. Election for the town offices will be held on the first Tuesday in June. The new council and Mayor will take office in September.

Robinson's Resignation Demanded By Board

Charlottesville, March 18—The members of the Board, some county employees and a number of Albemarle County Board of Supervisors today demanded the resignation of County Executive Dan A. Robinson for "the good of the county."

A resolution stating the Board's lack of confidence in Robinson was passed by a vote of 4 to 2, with Supervisors Ashby Harris, of Scottsville, and W. Warren Wood, of Earlysville, casting the dissenting votes.

Robinson had no comment to make following passage of the resolution but indicated he would demand a public hearing on the matter.

John W. Williams, of the Charlottesville District, read the board a resolution in which it was stated that due to the lack of confidence in Robinson by some members of the Board, some county employees and a number of Albemarle residents that Robinson should resign by June for the good of the county.

Supervisor Ed Bain, of Crozet, told that he, Williams and Ed Smith, of Ivy, had called on Robinson late Tuesday afternoon and suggested that he resign. Bain told the supervisors at this afternoon's regular session of the Board that Robinson had declined to accept the suggestion and that the matter was now up to the Board.

Williams read the resolution and moved its adoption. The vote was 3 to 2 with Board Chairman C. Purcell McCue abstaining. Later, however, McCue supported the resolution.

Junior Garden Club Work Is Praised

By Mrs. W. J. Smith, president of Fluvanna Garden Club
It is the heritage of all children that they be given an appreciation of the beauty which surrounds them.

As an example of what can be accomplished by members of Junior Garden Clubs the following resume is made. In 1950 Joanne Snead, 13 year old, and a member of the Fork Union Garden Club, became the first junior to win a Life Membership in the Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs, Joanne also received the L. H. Bailey Horticulture National Award, and represented the Fluvanna Junior Clubs at Nature Camp.

The following year (1951) Grace Eleanor France, 13 years old, a member of the Palmyra Club, won the L. H. Bailey award and represented the juniors at Nature Camp. The candidates to Nature Camp are judged on their merits for Garden Club work, flower shows, leadership and scholastic standing. Dickie Quick, Columbia club, won second place in the state for "Outstanding Garden Work."

Susanne Forstbauer, a ten year old garden enthusiast, was the proud winner of the L. H. Bailey National Award in 1952. Susanne has been an active member of Palmyra Garden Club for 5 years. Had she been old enough, she would have been sent to Nature Camp last summer.

You may ask "but what are other members doing?" I wish I had space to give detailed reports of all the excellent work each child is doing. I will list only a few. Last spring the Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs held their convention at Old Point Comfort. Fluvanna Garden Club received 5 of the 11 awards given in the state by the federation. Columbia Club named the "most outstanding" Patsy Phillips of the Columbia club received the award for "Flower Border Project." Susanne Forstbauer, Palmyra Club, received the L. H. Bailey horticulture National Award. Elizabeth Currier of the Fork Union Club received the award for her "Bird Book." Robert Crummett's "Scrap book" received honorable mention. Robert is a member of the Cunningham club.

The juniors give one program each year to the Fluvanna Garden Club. In co-operation with the Senior club's flower shows they have their own educational and horticulture section and exhibit artistic arrangement in classes especially scheduled for them. This year they have had a big part in garden therapy work, making Christmas favors, Valentines and flower arrangements for patients in a convalescent home.

This review of what can be done under the sponsorship of senior clubs should be a challenge to the Garden Clubs of our great country

Support Red Cross

By Lillian K. Mann
The Red Cross Fund Drive is on. Do you have any questions you want answered? Have you been hearing the annual false rumors and stories that seem to come up every time the Red Cross asks for support? Some are due to misconceptions but it is unfortunate because the people who spread unfounded rumors are injuring and impeding the work of a mighty organization and by impairing its resources may harm the victims of disaster, servicemen and their families and others who turn to the Red Cross for help. Today the Red Cross is engaged in a program of service by and for the people of the entire nation, a nation that must lead the free world to peace and security in a time of great danger.

Everyone is entitled to know the facts. What are your questions? Ask the volunteer worker who solicits your support, we are giving a few questions that have already been put forth.

Question: Do civilians and servicemen have to pay for blood received from the Red Cross?

Answer: No, never. Blood collected through Red Cross regional blood centers is distributed to hospitals and doctors without charge.

Question: Are articles produced by volunteer Red Cross workers ever sold to servicemen?

Answer: Sweaters and comfort articles for servicemen are never sold by the Red Cross. The rumor that they were sold was circulated during World War II and has been heard again during the Korean fighting.

were some cases of soldiers selling their Red Cross sweaters to other soldiers and there were some cases in which truckloads of Red Cross articles were hijacked and sold on the black market, but the Red Cross does not sell such comfort articles made by volunteers.

Question: (From ex-serviceman) What good is the Red Cross, it never did anything for me?

Answer: Many servicemen never have need of Red Cross services. They may not have personal or family problems; perhaps they have not been sick or wounded and in need of blood or Red Cross welfare and recreation service in military hospitals. But the Red Cross is ready to answer the call of those who do need help.

Typical Electric Value:

the electric clothes dryer

A few pennies a wash is all you pay... and clothes dry quicker, cleaner, easier than you ever thought possible. The electric dryer lets you dry clothes day or night, rain or shine. Easier on clothes, much easier on you.

It's a fact! Electricity costs less today than when four-wheel brakes and balloon tires were the "newest things."

Great strides have been made since then in the art of making electricity and bringing it to you. Besides, your use of electricity has increased tremendously. The average family gets twice as much electricity for his money today as he got 20 years ago!

County Farm Notes

By P. H. France
Time Of Applying Nitrogen Has Little Effect

Time of applying nitrogen to corn has little effect on yields in tests at the Orange branch of VPI Agricultural Experiment Station.

The tests were conducted on Davidson clay loam, and the type of soil may be a contributing factor to the results.

But researchers believe that farmers can apply nitrogen along with the phosphorus and potash at planting or before on the heavier soils such as Davidson, and thus eliminate the costly and time-consuming practice of applying nitrogen as side dressing when the corn is 12 to 15 inches tall.

If the nitrogen can be applied with the fertilizer, the corn might be able to make better use of it, and the practice also would decrease the cost of growing a high producing corn crop.

An 8-8-8 or 10-10-10 is an excellent corn fertilizer on the heavier soils.

The researchers say when the nitrogen was applied early, however, the moisture content at harvest was slightly lower. The moisture tended to increase as the nitrogen was applied at later dates. They also found that the plant stand and number of ears at harvest were slightly greater where the nitrogen was applied with the phosphorus and potash although all plots were planted at the same rate.

VIRGINIA CHURCHES ENTER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Virginia stands third in the 13 southeastern states taking part in the "Town and Country Church Development Program," from the standpoint of the number of churches entering.

Dr. Donald R. Fessler, associate rural sociologist at V.P.I. and chairman of the executive committee in charge of the program in Virginia, says the three top states are Georgia, with 115 churches enrolled; North Carolina, with 107; and Virginia, with 74. Thirty-seven denominations, including both white and negro churches, are included in the list in the southeast.

The program, sponsored by Emory University in cooperation with the Sears, Roebuck Foundation, is set up to encourage rural churches to improve their facilities, organization and religious activities; to work toward the betterment of their communities; and to strive through study and action for a better world.

Other members of the executive committee in Virginia are: S. W. Bondurant, State Soil Conservation Service; Rev. C. R. Stevens, and Rev. Ralph Arthur, all of Richmond.

Dr. Fessler said March 31 is the deadline for accepting entries into the programs. Churches interested in further information let me know or write direct to Dr. Donald R. Fessler at V.P.I., Blacksburg, Virginia.

DATES SET FOR ANNUAL CONFERENCES AT VPI

Dates for several conferences of interest to Virginia 4-H club members and farmers have been set at VPI.

W. H. Daughtrey, associate director of the VPI Agricultural Extension Service, announced plans for the state 4-H All Star Conference, June 19-21; state 4-H short course, June 22-27; Institute of Rural Affairs, July 29-31; and annual Extension Service conference, August 24-29.

He noted that as usual, the Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs and the Agricultural Conference Board of Virginia will hold meetings during the day July 29, immediately preceding the opening of the Institute the evening of July 29.

INCREASED PRODUCTION SEEN IN DAUGHTERS OF TOP-FLIGHT BULL

Artificially sired daughters of Harden Farms King Twelve, a bull owned by the Virginia Artificial Breeding Association, are producing an average of 1,000 pounds or more milk per year than their dams.

The eight daughters have been averaging 14,307 pounds of milk, 519 pounds of fat. Their dams averaged 12,985 pounds of milk, 468 pounds of fat.

Dr. Keith Huston, associate dairy husbandman at VPI, says this record points up the value of sires. King Twelve was bred at Harden Farm, Camden, N. Y. The artificial breeding with proved daughters are owned by L. J. Crowgey, Wytheville, and Garst and Craun, Roanoke.

TIPS GIVEN FOR GARDENERS ON PLANTING ONION SETS

It's about time for Virginia's home gardeners to plant onion sets.

Onion sets should be planted early in the spring—from now to early April. A light frost seldom injures onion plants, although a heavy frost may ruin the crop.

Place the sets in shallow furrows so they will be barely covered in heavy soil, or covered by as much as an inch in lighter soils. It takes one to two pounds of sets to plant a 100-foot row.

Sets which have been stored at improper temperatures are likely to develop seed-stalks. The most satisfactory storage temperature for sets is 30 to 32 degrees F.

As for varieties and other cultural practices—you'll find the details in a leaflet "Onion Culture for the Home Garden." Copies of this bulletin may be secured from your county agent's office.

Why Not A Tax On Cats?

(From The Roanoke Times)

A Maryland citizen writing The Baltimore Sun, suggests that the State might raise a considerable amount of revenue by placing a tax on cats.

An excellent idea! Why should the Thomases and the Tabithas be exempt from taxation when other domestic animals are not. In Virginia our laws list cattle, horses, mules—and jennets—as subject to taxation. Our pooches land in the dog pound if they are caught without credentials showing they have paid their taxes to the city. Why should a cat have a favored status when man's best friend has to carry the load?

The only question, it seems to us, is the kind of a tax a cat should pay. Not income tax surely, for most of the cats of our acquaintance are too lazy to earn their cream and we've observed that a lot of them latch onto the most comfortable chair in front of the TV set when they ought to be about their business of catching mice. Yes, cats live luxuriously. Every one of them owns a fur coat. They have homes and even people to wait on them. They come and go as they please and bestow affection only when and on whom it suits them.

Maybe a luxury tax would be appropriate for cats. They are more ornamental than useful and are certainly nonproductive members of society. Yet they flaunt their superiority and an independence that irks us. They are a privileged class, or so they seem to think and they ought to pay for some of the perquisites.

Ramblings

News note: In Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cleveland and Boston, TV sets now outnumber home telephones; in Chicago they outnumber bathtubs, too.

Looks like more people care about keeping in touch with fictitious characters in the big glass tube, and the goings-on in centers of national interest than in carrying on communications with neighbors in their home town. Anyway, the telephone can't be bought on installments, and it's harder to tell from the outside of the house whether you have one or not. I've heard a lot of television sets are bought by people who are keeping up with the Joneses. In fact, they say that in London, only one of about 13 TV antennae on the houses are actually attached to a set. And if you're busy watching some good entertainment on Saturday night, who has time to take a bath, anyway? Looks like the book and bathtub salesmen had better hop on the bandwagon and go to selling TV sets.

When the leaves were finally raked away from the garden this week, we were surprised to see how many chrysanthemum shoots surrounded last year's clumps. They will soon take over the whole corner. It is time for breaking up the big plants and resetting them. There is always enough at this time to share with neighbors and friends, one of the nice things about 'mums. Every little shoot will develop into a good plant this fall or next year. One plant will make a dozen in no time. This means we'll have to dig more garden space for the seeds we can't resist buying. Perennials and evergreens mean painless gardening, it is said, but who can refrain from putting seeds out of those attractive little colored packages into the ground, even when the space is filling up with the sensible and satisfactory plants that stay with us year after year?

Easter is a time for baskets. In the summer roadside stands and country stores abound in many shapes and sizes of the charming hand-woven baskets made by natives hereabouts. That is the time to pick up baskets for Easter eggs, but remember, eggs are not the only thing that can be put into them. They are becoming more and more popular for use in the home. They hold greeting cards, hot rolls, flowers, fruit and even casserole dishes. The little flat-sided ones may be hung on a porch to hold small gardening knick-knacks, or may hide a tin can filled with a trailing vine. The flat-bottomed ones are good for carrying small bits of kindling, and a few nouse-keepers find a large one handy for carrying through the house to collect the snips and bits that children strew about them wherever they go.

CONTROLS AND BUDGET
HEARINGS IN PROGRESS

Current hearings before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee on wage and price controls indicate a wide difference of opinion between consumer groups on the one hand and producers and distributors on the other. The consumers are fearful and want stand-by controls ready for use if there is a new threat of price inflation. Producers and distributors want to drop all laws on this subject now and not attempt to pass new ones until another world war has started.

World War II commenced for us when the Japanese struck Pearl Harbor in December 1941 but we had a peacetime draft in 1940 and were shifting to a war basis all during 1941. A bill to establish price and wage controls was introduced in August of 1941 but did not become law until January 1942 and was not operative until April 1942. Between the Pearl Harbor attack and the time the control law was passed, consumer prices already had gone up 12 percent.

Similarly, when the Korean War started in June of 1950 it took until January 1951 to put wage and price controls into effect and in that period consumer prices had gone up 8 percent. Actually, this figure is misleading; however, because wholesale prices had gone up in that seven months 17 percent and raw materials had advanced 46 percent. These advances made upward adjustments in retail prices necessary after controls had been imposed.

Remembering these experiences, the disposition of our committees is to recommend to the Senate a bill authorizing a temporary freeze of wages and prices if a new emergency threatens to start another wave of inflation. The danger is more acute since production and consumption already are at peak levels and each percent of rise in prices now would cost consumers 2 billion dollars.

Appropriations Committees have commenced hearings on the new budget with the task divided among ten sub-committees in the House and a similar number in the Senate. I serve on the sub-committees for Independent Offices, Army Civil Functions, Labor-Federal Security and Treasury-Post Office. The Independent Offices Sub-committee handles the largest money bill of any except that for Armed Services, which handles military funds amounting to about 60 percent of the pending budget.

Last year the hearings before Senate sub-committees covered 12,320 pages of printed testimony. This year the hearings may be longer because of the determination of Congress to eliminate every dollar of unnecessary spending.

Since appropriation bills must be acted on first in the House it will be late Spring before the Senate sub-committees can do budget.

what is called "marking up" their bills. This means going through them and voting on every item. When a sub-committee has voted on a bill it is printed and submitted to the full committee, which also has an opportunity to vote on every item. Then, when the bill is sent to the Senate for action, there is no limit on debate and every item can be either increased, decreased or restricted to certain uses.

This triple check in the Senate, on top of similar action already taken by the House, enabled us to cut approximately ten percent off the budget estimates for the current year and we hope to do at least as well on next year's Senate sub-committees can do budget.

4 powerful reasons why you get more of what you want...

1953 Chevrolet
Advance-Design Trucks do more work for less money!

(Continuation of standard equipment and trim illustrated is dependent on availability of material.)

Here are a few things we think are worthy of your consideration before you buy any truck.

In 1953, Chevrolet trucks are more rugged, have huskier and more rigid construction than ever in the past. This means longer truck life and lower over-all costs to you.

You'll find the increased horsepower and higher compression ratio (7.1 to 1) of the big advanced 108-h.p. Loadmaster engines in heavy-duty models bring you greater power (200 ft. lbs. of torque), and greater performance, greater ability to do the job. You'll find that means faster acceleration, greater ability to climb the steepest grades. And you'll find a wonderful gain in gasoline mileage, too!

As any owner of a 1953 Chevrolet truck knows, these are the sturdiest, most powerful trucks Chevrolet has ever built. Yet with all the wonderful advantages they offer, they list for less than any other trucks of comparable capacity and specifications.

Before you buy, drop in at our showroom and talk things over. Let us show you how Chevrolet trucks do more work for you, and for less money, too!

engine power

Advanced Loadmaster engine brings you new power. This greatly improved valve-in-head engine is standard equipment on 5000 and 6000 Series heavy-duty and forward-control models, optional on 4000 Series heavy-duty trucks

more
braking power

In 1953, all Chevrolet trucks up to 4000 Series heavy-duty models have "Torque-Action" brakes. Series 4000, 5000 and 6000 heavy-duty trucks use extra-large "Torque-Action" brakes in front, "Twin-Action" type in rear.

staying power

Now, heavier, stronger, more durable frames increase rigidity, add to ruggedness and give more stamina than ever to all 1953 Chevrolet trucks.

economy

The new stamina of Chevrolet trucks, plus extra gasoline economy in heavy-duty models with Loadmaster engine reduces hauling costs per ton-mile.

Robinson has been a controversial figure in Albemarle governmental affairs, participating on tax issues. Most recently, Robinson and the Board of Supervisors met with disfavor over a 75 per cent increase in county's personal property tax levy.

Several years ago Robinson was the center of a controversy between the county and University of Virginia students over taxation of students' personal properties. Robinson contended that the taxes were payable under the law and said he would collect the levy from every student living on county property. Later the supervisors ruled that a personal property tax would be assessed only those students living in the county who had established permanent households.

Robinson can demand a public hearing under provisions of the county's charter. At such a hearing the Board of Supervisors presides and renders the decision. The effect of such a hearing is to give a county executive the right to question the Supervisors and state his side of the issue in public.

In other action yesterday the Board split on the issue of a general registrar for Albemarle County and set next Thursday night for another meeting to decide the matter.

Callie Vee Johnson

Miss Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Davis of Scottsville, was sponsored by Pitts Market and the Co-Ed Hi-Y Club. Miss Adcock's sponsors were Parr's Furniture Store and the Athletic Club. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lacey Adcock of Esmont.

Judges were John Hundley, James S. Taylor and Ted Early of Charlottesville.

The masculine members of the Commercial Club did their part by helping with general arrangements in connection with the show, with the most attractive decorations, and four of them put on a one-act play directed by Mrs. Josephine Magnifico. Taking part in "The New Secretary" were Billy Moon, Franklin Ferneyhough, Bobby Spencer and Joe Kidd.

Musical entertainment by the Scottsville Orchestra and the efficient handling of the contest by Miss Tindall contributed much to the success of the event.

Riding Club Breakfast

The Tri-County Riding Club had the largest number of riders that the club has had to turn out at a riding breakfast last Saturday morning when the club gathered at "Riverlawn," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Christensen for breakfast. About 16 adults and 5 children participated in the ride.

A trail had been made from Scottsville to the Christensen home, and riders joined the group at various places in the trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Christensen were host and hostess to the breakfast which followed the ride.

Town Council

Councilman Williamson brought up a complaint from a town resident over the deposit of trash in her yard following high water. Discussion was held on the illegal dumping that takes place within the town and Councilman Williamson pointed out that trash collections should be placed in proper containers. Town Sergeant F. F. Marsh was instructed to see that residents and merchants use specified containers.

The salary of Raymond Moore was raised from 35c an hour to 65c an hour. Moore receives 65c an hour additional when he is using his own truck in his work. Councilman Reeve stated that "as long as Raymond Moore was doing a good job, the town should pay more."

Mayor Harris asked if the newly installed fire plugs were all right and Mason replied that except for looks they were satisfactory.

Present at last Thursday's meeting were Mayor Harris, Councilmen Pitts, Williamson, Johnson, Nicholas and Mason, Town Treasurer Mrs. Wiley Beal, Town Clerk, Mrs. Charles Stone and Town Police Officer F. F. Marsh.

Club Meeting

Mrs. Vaden Butler, president of the Fairhope Demonstration Club, announced at their meeting held on Tuesday afternoon that the club had raised $150 at the supper and auction held on February 27. A check for this amount was mailed to the March of Dimes Fund, in whose benefit the Fairhope Club was raising funds.

The club held its March meeting at the home of Mrs. Ella Bridwell. In connection with the Federation goal for the year which centers around the Library Mrs. David Glass gave a talk on Virginia writers. Mrs. Glass gave a short biography of each writer.

Mrs. Ernest O'Brien was in charge of the program, and talked to the club on "Buying a Better Dress." At the February meeting of the Fairhope Club Mrs. O'Brien gave a demonstration of new fabrics, and her talk on Tuesday followed this up with an explanation of qualities to look for in purchasing good clothing.

Whitehead Speaks To Lions Club

Robert Whitehead of Lovingson and Manning Arata of Charlottesville were guest speakers at the meeting of the Scottsville Lions Club held last Wednesday night.

Mr. Whitehead spoke to the local civic club in an effort to secure their backing to get adequate telephone service for the town of Schuyler. Mr. Arata talked to the Club on Boy Scouts.

Mr. Whitehead, delegate to the State legislature from Nelson County, represented a group of Schuyler citizens who are trying to get telephone service in their community. At the present time, Mr. Whitehead reported, Schuyler is served by a private company and only a few residents, mostly officials of Alberene Stone Corporation, have telephones. The public has practically no phone service except through the courtesy of the Stone Corporation. Mr. Whitehead stated. He asked the Scottsville Lions Club to exert what influence they could to get the Virginia Telephone and Telegraph Company, which serves Scottsville, to extend their lines to Schuyler.

The matter was turned over for consideration to the Civic Betterment and Community Improvement Committee headed by Hugh Flynn.

Mr. Arata pointed out to the Lions Club that Boy Scouts were principally a local function. In order to succeed, Mr. Arata stated, a troop must have an able Scoutmaster with a number of assistants to help him. Another necessary factor is civic backing, Mr. Arata stated.

In the board of directors meeting following the program, Merrill Carter, chairman of the Boys and Girls Committee, was asked to make a survey to find out how many boys in the community were interested in becoming Scouts and to report at the next Directors meeting.

Charter night, which is an annual event with the local club, was set to be celebrated on May 27.
