School To Open September 2 Here; Teachers Are Busy

Flee for the hills kiddies! Only 12 more days and the summer is wasted away. Yup, school days are here again come Tuesday a week, September 2.

Don't feel too bad about the matter though. The teachers have been back at the job since yesterday. Nearly two weeks ahead of the date when you'll be heading back to school, they are busy with important meetings, getting ready for that fateful day.

As of August 20 all the teachers in Albemarle county are attending a meeting at McIntyre High School which runs until the 25th. Following this all-county pre-school conference the teachers will meet at their own schools under their respective principals in conferences beginning the 26th and running for four days.

Tom Gillis, principal of the Scottsville school, passes a word of advice to you youngsters who are entering the first grade for the first time this fall. Mothers might heed this also in case the young'uns find reading a bit hard. There will be a special pre-school registration for new first graders Thursday, July 28, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. All mothers are requested to bring their children to the Primary Building where Mrs. Francis Tindall will aid in the registration. Birth certificates must be brought along also as they are needed for entry into the schools and for permanent records.

High School students can look forward to meeting new teachers in the English and Math Departments. Robert Maidens will be teaching English and Mrs. Magnifico will be teaching the math. At present there is no teacher available for the Home Economics section.

Lions Club Picnic Set For Labor Day

The Scottsville Lions Club is holding a Family Picnic on the Lawn of the local United States Rubber Company Plant on Labor Day, September 1.

Dr. R. L. King, club president, announces that games for all will start at 3 p.m. and that supper will be served at 5 p.m. The Lions Club is furnishing the food for the affair.

Members of the club and their families together with friends will attend the picnic.

Rape Case Goes To Grand Jury

The case of Walter Woodson, Negro, 32, of Richmond, who is charged with assault and attempted rape of a 46-year old Columbia woman, goes to the Grand Jury this Monday, August 25th.

Fluvanna County Commonwealth Attorney Ralph P. Zehler will be seeking an indictment from the jury on the above charges. Woodson is being defended by P. A. L. Smith, former Commonwealth attorney of Goochland County.

Statistics say that tea is the most popular beverage in the world.

FIRE DEPARTMENT SETS MEETING FOR THURSDAY

Attention all members of the Scottsville Fire Department!

An important meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, August 28, in the Town Council Chamber.

All members are urged to attend.

White Elephant Auction Sale Planned

Do you have any old clothes, furniture, or other odds and ends around the house just collecting dust? Here's your chance to get rid of them and aid a worthy cause at the same time.

The Scottsville Lion's Club is planning a White Elephant Auction sale to raise money for the Scottsville High School band.

Date for the auction is pending until the club sees how soon merchandise can be gathered for the event.

The Club will be divided into two teams in a contest to see which team can gather the most saleable items. Dr. R. L. King, club president, states tentatively that some sort of merit award, such as no assignments for six months, will be given to the winning group.

Dr. King stated that he hoped the people of this community would get behind this auction in a big way and help raise the approximately $1,000 needed for the band.

Council Again Considers New Fire House

Town Council meeting tonight
Scottsville's Town Council meeting planned for last Thursday will be held tonight at 7:30. Big item on the agenda is the submission of an estimate on the new Fire House. A spokesman states that $6,000 is what is roughly expected. They said that when the plans included a store in front the estimate soared to nearly $25,000.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Jackson of Scottsville are the parents of a son born August 15 at the Martha Jefferson Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Eugene Napier of Scottsville are the parents of a daughter born August 19 at the University of Virginia Hospital.

Patterson Credited With Saving Life Of Small Boy

H. Cosby Patterson, employed by the U. S. Rubber Company, saved the life of little Douglas Sakowitz, son of Mrs. Martin Dawson of Scottsville last Friday afternoon when a swollen stream washed him into a culvert near his home.

Mr. Patterson heard Mrs. Dawson call to the child to "turn loose your wagon," while he was sitting on his front porch during a small cloudburst. He saw Douglas at the entrance of a 40-foot culvert holding his wagon, which had gone downstream and almost entered the culvert.

He ran about 100 yards to rescue the boy, who had let go of his wagon, but had been washed down under the culvert by the strong wind and rain. Only his arm was in sight. Mr. Patterson caught hold of it and pulled the little boy to safety.

Douglas came through with only a sore head and a few minor bruises.

Trial Justice Docket Light For Fluvanna Judge B. W. Seay

One of the lightest and coolest sessions in recent months was held in Fluvanna's Trial Justice Court at Palmyra yesterday morning.

Judge B. W. Seay meted out only $10 in fines and one 60-day sentence as a mere four cases constituted the morning's docket.

Vance Patterson, Negro, was awarded the 60day sentence and forced to pay court costs for a second offense on charges of breaching the peace.

Chester Cole Foster, of Saxe, Va., was fined $5 and costs for speeding.

An original charge of breaking and entering was reduced to public drunkenness when E. E. Bates, Negro, was fined $5 and costs. Bates, from Baltimore, Md., was in the county because of his father's funeral. He attempted to enter a store in Fork Union under the impression that it was his home thanks to some drinking he had been doing. When arrested by County Sheriff Jim Hughes, Bates was apparently getting ready to bed down.

Final case for the morning concerned a mother's effort to regain custody of a child she had given up nearly six years ago.

Elizabeth Jones, Negro, now living near Charlottesville with her husband and two small sons, asked the court to give back her six-year old daughter from Florance Carrington, Negro, of New York the care of the child when the youngster was only a few months old. The girl stated her desire to remain with the woman who had cared for her since infancy.

The court ruled that Florance would keep the child and that the mother would have to win the child's affection through visits before other arrangements are made.

Schuyler Wins

Schuyler defeated Scottsville 12-5 in a Tri-County baseball game on the Scottsville High School diamond. Heavy hitting enabled the winners to take an early lead that they built up throughout the game. Scottsville hit well against the league leaders but their pitchers were unable to stop the Schuyler nine.

The U. S. Rubber Plant squad did not play last Sunday.

Ramblings

Lightning may never strike twice in the same spot, but that is small comfort to many people hereabouts whose trees, homes, and electrical equipment have been damaged. The sudden gusty storm around Amherst this week-end caused a lot of minor mishaps, with the wind flipping curtains against a favorite vase or lamp (in our case it was a perfume bottle.) Like other kinds of accidents, a lot of us feel that "it can't happen to me." But after it split a huge oak in our yard, I will look on the next electrical storm with more personal interest.

It's no new observation that animals behave amazingly like humans, and vice versa, sometimes. A human fallacy is to naturally join company with our "own kind." So many people will judge a new acquaintance by saying he or she is "my kind," or "not my kind." But the courageous and open-hearted will make an effort to discover deeper or differing qualities in some people whose paths cross their, despite a difference in background, education or experience, and more than once it is an enriching and rewarding effort. I am reminded of this by the misfortunes of a little white duck who was brought to join a flock of gray ducks belonging to a friend. When "Quacky" arrived, he immediately took off across the field after a flock of white geese, who would have none of him, because they knew he was not their kind, but the duck was going only by color. He did not join the gray ducks, because they were not his kind, and to date, he is still an outcast, being neither goose nor gray duck. While fowl can not be expected to be tolerant, human beings should weigh differences for what they are worth.

You can hear most anything in a court case between a husband and wife. A husband acknowledged before the bench that he hadn't spoken to his wife in five years and the judge put in a question. "What reason have you" he asked severely.

Replied the husband, "I didn't want to interrupt her."

Welcome To New Generations

Population growth is like the weather—there doesn't seem to be much that anybody can do about it.

The world's human population is soaring. There were fewer than one and three-quarter billion people on earth in 1912. Today there are nearly two and a half billion, and by the end of this century there will probably be over four million. The world is currently adding to its population at the rate of 60,000 to 70,000 new human beings each day, and the rate is increasing. No expert is needed to tell us that, so far as the foreseeable future is concerned, feeding, clothing, and keeping so many people reasonably happy is going to be a problem. Our own country has shown how it can best be met.

A century or more ago a large percentage of people labored in agriculture. If theoretical planners had stepped in in those days and forced the productive processes into a fixed "orderly" pattern, we would probably have been struggling with famine by now. Fortunately we were free to invent, devise and scheme new ways. We were free to leave our farms and get jobs in cities where some of us figured out unheard of machines to do the work of ten men on the farm. Tractors, trucks, reapers, combines, gangplows, cultivators—implements began to roll off the assembly lines by the tens of thousands. American agriculture took on a new look. For the first time in history farmers could raise their heads above sheer drudgery.

Farming has become a scientific, competitive business. Because of the machines, constantly better farming practices and rising production are inevitable. Upland flood control, contour or strip farming, and soil conservation are routine practices to the modern farmer.

This American agricultural revolution is our welcome to the new people who will be crowding onto this old globe in the years to come. Other nations that fear the way of free markets, open competition and a maximum of individual liberty, will do well to heed our example.

Country Lawyer

By Walter Johnson

It ill behooves the government of Virginia or any bureau thereof operating under the Great Seal of Virginia to resort to the law of the jungle. Yet that is what the Compensation Board, acting with the advice of the Attorney General, is actually doing.

This Board was created by the General Assembly and trusted by it to act as the state agency for the payment of the state portion of the salaries of county officers. These county officers were created by the Constitution of Virginia and not by the general assembly. The Constitution provides for the election of these officers by the people within the counties. It also provides that duty and compensation of these officers shall be as prescribed by general law and which means enactments by the General Assembly.

General law requires the Commonwealth's Attorney to make one report each year to the Compensation Board as a basis of determination of salary for the ensuing year. That is all. But the Board issued a decree directing the Commonwealth's Attorney to prepare and file, under oath, a flock of affidavits each month and which it chooses to call "vouchers."

Unable to find any general law imposing it as a duty upon the Commonwealth's Attorney to file monthly reports under oath with the Compensation Board I declined to comply. I could see no legal or moral justification for such a decree.

At my refusal to comply the Board could very well have looked to the process of law and order to enforce compliance. Under our system, in so far as we have retained our system, it is the function of our Courts to adjudicate and interpret our law. Certainly I and every other Commonwealth's Attorney will gladly bow to and comply with the judgment of the courts. And certainly I would and participate in the proceeding in effort to assist the Court in correct adjudication of the question.

But the Board wouldn't play that way. It went the other way and resorted to the law of the jungle. By every standard of civilized human conduct every person who performs a service is entitled to compensation for that service. By the same standards all questions are decided apart and aside from salary. Withholding of salary is generally recognized as hitting below the belt in civilized society.

Instead of the Board taking the affirmative through judicial processes to force compliance with its illegal order it has withheld my salary. In so doing it challenges me to go into Court to enforce the law directing that it "shall" pay my salary in equal monthly installments. That in and of itself wouldn't be so bad except that in withholding my salary it is taking from me what I of necessity must have to go into court and that is money.

That situation reflects no credit upon the Board. It reflects no credit upon the Attorney General who advises such conduct. And it reflects no credit upon the Governor who has appointed the Chairman of the Board and which Chairman serves at the pleasure of the Governor.

The Board has sought to justify its decree by claiming these sworn affidavits each month are made necessary by social security deductions. But that excuse cannot stand scrutiny. Every other employer, even including the federal government, makes deductions for social security, income tax and retirement without imposition upon employees of the indignity of a lot of forms. The Board doesn't even make social security deductions. That is done by the Counties as to both the county and state portion of the salary of the Commonwealth's Attorney.

In fact I am paying and have been paying the social security tax on the county portion of my salary which is being paid to me and also the tax on the state portion of my salary which the Board is withholding from me. Thus in trying to claim "necessity" as justification for its illegal order grounded in the repudiated doctrine of inherent power the Board is merely being ridiculous. There is no more necessity or legal authority for the conduct of the Board than there was for the President to seize the steel industry.

It is time for us and all of us to stop the steady giving way to illegal acts of persons cloaked with color of authority by reason of having been appointed to some job. We have already gone much too far in the appeasement of these power-hungry persons in government both federal and state. And the law of the jungle has no place in Virginia.

Household Hints

By Betty J. Mimick, Home Economist, Appalachian Electric Power Company

SALAD MAKING HINTS

Tossing, not mixing, is important for both taste and appearance. Many homemakers stir their salads as they would a cake; however, a salad should be tossed lightly with either two forks or a spoon. This applies to tossed vegetable and fruit salads as well as meat salads.

Always keep the salad chilled from preparation time until serving time. Serve in chilled bowls or on chilled plates.

Choose ingredients with appeal to color, texture and flavor. Drain greens well after washing. Cut ingredients small enough to make them easy to eat, but not so small as to make them mushy.

TOSSED SUPPER SALAD

Lettuce
 Watercress or other green
 Green onions
 Fresh Shrimp
 Tomato quarters
 Swiss Cheese, julienned
 Ham, Chicken or other meat, julienned

Salt, pepper and paprika
 Sliced radishes
 Cucumber
 French dressing

First rub the salad bowl with garlic bud. Break the lettuce and other greens into small, bit-sized pieces. Quarter the tomatoes, slice the cucumbers and radishes. The onions may be left whole or may be sliced. Season to taste with condiments. Add ham and cheese, slice into small pieces. Toss all lightly. Add the French dressing just before serving. Toss the salad again so as to evenly distribute the dressing. Place shrimp in the center of the bowl and arrange salad attractively around it. To complete the meal add bread, beverage and a light dessert.

Other Hints

Meringue-topped pies are more easily cut if the knife blade is spread with butter or margarine.

Be careful not to over-cook lemon or other pie fillings, the result will be a thin watery pie rather than a thick, easy-to-cut one.

Before frosting a layer cake, sprinkle the top of one layer with confectioners sugar, spreading it completely over the top surface. Then place the layer top side down on the cake plate to frost. The sugar will prevent the cake from sticking to the serving plate and will make serving easier.

You will be able to use every bit of heat more efficiently on your electric range if you select flat bottomed pans just large enough to cover the surface units. Cheese should be kept in its original protective covering or should be wrapped in a moisture-vapor proof wrapping in the refrigerator. For a flavor that is refreshingly different place a small amount of applesauce and some celery leaves on top of roast pork after it is well browned and let them cook with the roast.

Creasy Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Frances Dudley Creasy, 89, who died at her home at Forest Saturday, were held Monday from the Terrence View Church, near Forest.

The service was conducted by one of Mrs. Creasy's grandsons and two other ministers. Burial followed in the church cemetery.

Surviving are five sons and five daughters, 57 grandchildren, 87 great grandchildren, and four great-great grandchildren. Mrs. Creasy was an aunt of John T. Hurt, of Howardsville, and the widow of Harrison T. Creasy.

County Farm Notes

By P. H. France

SHORT OF FEED WHAT TO DO!

farmers will be short on feed for the fall, winter, early spring. One of the best ways you can increase your feed supply is to make a special preparation for some additional pasture during this period. Listed below are some suggestions for increasing the amount of feed through late fall, winter and early spring grazing.

No. 1—Topdress grass meadows with nitrogen—Apply from 30 to 60 pounds of nitrogen or 500 to 700 lbs. of 8-8-8 or 10-10-10 fertilizer per acre as a topdressing during August. This will stimulate growth and furnish more grazing in the fall and early winter.

No. 2—Topdress orchard grass—lespedeza, fescue—lespedeza or grass grown alone for pastures—Apply from 30 to 60 pounds of nitrogen per acre as a topdressing in August. This would also apply to ladino-grass pastures where the ladino clover has disappeared. If adequate amounts of phosphate and potash have not been previously applied, use from 500 to 700 pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 10-10-10 or 8-8-8 analysis per acre.

No. 3—Seed small grain in lespedeza or lespedeza—orchard grass pasture—During August disc lightly and seed a mixture of 2 to 3 bushels of small grain and 15 pounds of rye grass per acre. Fertilize with 600 to 800 pounds of 10-10-10 or 8-8-8 per acre.

No. 4—Seed small grain in poor stands of alfalfa—On stands of alfalfa that are thinning out and need reseeding disc lightly and seed from 2 to 3 bushels of small grain per acre. Fertilize with 600 to 800 pounds of 10-10-10 or 8-8-8 fertilizer per acre.

No. 5—Seed small grain for pasture and grain—During August or early September, 30 to 60 days before average date of 1st killing frost, seed a mixture of 2 to 3 bushels of small grains, 15 pounds of rye grass and 15 pounds of 600 to 700 lbs. of 10-10-10, or 8-8-8 fertilizer per acre. One acre of this pasture mixture will usually provide grazing for 5 to 6 dairy cows to the acre for 4 to 8 weeks. Where small grain will be harvested for grain next year it will probably be advisable not to use rye grass and crimson clover in the mixture. The additional spring grazing is needed for your livestock, topdress with 20 to 30 lbs. of nitrogen per acre in late winter or early spring. It is good practice to seed this mixture in two separate fields. Graze one field in late fall and early winter and the other field in late winter and early spring.

our county on Thursday, August 21st to observe some of the trench silos and to discuss further the Fluvanna County. If you are interested in having Mr. Kite visit your farm, get in touch with me immediately. In the meantime, if you wish additional information with reference to the construction of the trench silo, let me know and I will be glad to furnish you a copy of the plan we have.

No. 6—Crimson clover and rye grass—Seed 15 pounds of crimson clover and 15 pounds of rye grass. Use 400 to 600 lbs. per acre of 2-12-12 or 0-14-14 fertilizer per acre. If you cannot seed this mixture until too near the frost date use 2 to 3 bushels of a small grain mixture and 15 lbs. of rye grass. Crimson clover does best in the eastern part of the state.

No. 7—Topdress permanent pastures to get additional grazing this fall, winter and early spring. Apply from 500 to 800 lbs. of 5-10-10 or 2-12-12 fertilizer per acre in August or September. Have a soil test made to determine if additional fertilizer is needed as a top dressing this winter.

Cows give more milk when drinking water is warmed, progressive farmer finds

• gets 2 extra cans daily from herd of 30

electric water heater is key to increased production

Dairymen Hyndman... credits electric water heater with winter-time increase in milk production.

By heating his cow's drinking water to 75° or better with an electric water heater during winter months, dairymen W. M. Hyndman gets ten extra gallons of milk a day from his 30-head herd.

He's been using his electric water heater for this purpose several years now, with consistently good results. What's more, when he switches back to colder water as a check-up he finds that production slips back about the same amount!

Compare the profit from two extra cans of milk daily with the low cost of heating water electrically... you'll agree this farmer has an idea that's well worth trying.

For more details on electric water heaters for boosting production, for dairy cleanliness, for making water heating safer and easier, call on our rural representatives. Their suggestions are based on experience and they're free.

Warm water steps up egg production, too

Hens lay more in winter when drinking water is warmed. Immersion-type water-warmers for poultry are inexpensive and safe. Investigate this low-cost way to get more eggs at the season when prices are highest.

Lucky You

Lucky you—you were careless but those in your path were not

DREAMS

What are your dreams for the future? Perhaps they include a home of your own, a college education for your children, or a long planned vacation to some distant place.

Whatever these dreams may be, they are certain to become a reality a great deal sooner if you open a regular savings account at our bank. There are many other ways that we have proved of assistance in helping people to plan and to realize their dreams. For example, a convenient checking account offers a safe and systematic method of making payments. Others have applied and secured a loan for buying a new car and for making improvements in their homes. When you are traveling you can enjoy peace of mind with respect to your travel funds if you protect them through the purchase of Traveler's cheques. Should they be lost or stolen you can secure a quick refund. We are anxious to assist you in your present and future planning and are always ready to offer a competent and helpful service to you.
