Wesley Chapel Methodist Church

Wesley Chapel Methodist Church To Celebrate Centennial Next Year; Was Goodman's Chapel

By Elizabeth Wimer

Wesley Chapel Methodist Church which will celebrate its centennial next year, is an outgrowth of an even older church which stood about one or two miles from the present church grounds. That church, called Goodman's Chapel, was a log meeting house which has since disappeared. But it is known that the members of Goodman's Chapel joined together in an effort to build the square brick church in Fluvanna County not far from Scottsville.

The land on which the church was built was deeded by Archibald F. Thomas and Sarah, his wife, of Fluvanna County to church trustees Walker Timberlake, Lewis Mays, Morgan Burgess, Martin Tutwiler, Jacob V. Mayo, William C. Adams and William

On October 13, 1853. Shortly thereafter the church was built on the site. But, these early devoted tion was made when the old slate roof was replaced with tin, and was later reinforced so that a new slate roof could be put on. The old slave gallery, which is so often found in churches built in this period has been torn down, and wainscoting put around the walls. Recently two oil burners have been installed.

The original pews were replaced with new ones in 1944, with Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Burgess of Richmond contributing half the cost and the rest contributed by the congregation.

The second pulpit was given by Mr. and Mrs. Asa Snyder and family, who also contributed the altar rail, pulpit furnishings, the first organ and a silver communion service.

In the cemetery on the spacious grounds are names of the families who have loyally supported the church through many generations. On the wall beside the altar is a me-

George T. Omohundro

George T. Omohundro Found Success At Home; Long Active In Civic And Business Life Here

By Elizabeth Wimer

George T. Omohundro, whose lovely home at Maple Hill Farm has been the scene of many happy gatherings of friends and family, disproves the theory that a man must leave home to find success.

Born in Buckingham County between Mantoo and Warminster, the son of Richard C. and Molly H. Omohundro (his mother was an Omohundro, too), he came to Albemarle County at the tender age of three years, and has scarcely been out of it since, except for short trips.

After the death of his parents Mr. Omohundro lived with his grandfather about a mile and a half from where he now lives. He attended the Miller School for Boys from the time he was nine years old until he graduated, taking a course in bookkeeping in preparation for the business career which started as soon as he was out of school. When asked how he learned the ins and outs of the various undertakings which he now has behind him, Mr. Omohundro said that his only training was the "school of hard knocks".

He started as a bookkeeper for the Virginia Alberene Corporation. Shortly afterwards, he became deputy sheriff for Albemarle County and in 1901 he took office as Commissioner of Revenue of Albemarle, a position which he held for 26 years, retiring in 1928. "I was never opposed when running for this office except the first two years," he said.

About the time Mr. Omohundro embarked on his career in public service, he married Miss Carrie Page of Nelson County. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last fall. They have two sons, Henry and George T. Omohundro, Jr.

Their first home was at Cedar Hill near Christ Church. This house is gone now. In 1906 they purchased the Maple Hill Stock Farm and in 1914 built the spacious home in which they now live. This has recently been remodeled. Through the years, Mr. Omohundro has gradually added to his property until he now has four farms joined together. On this land he has built 20 houses. Starting with less than ten head of Hereford cattle, he now has about 175 head of pure-bred Herefords and does general farming, growing enough to market as well as feed his own stock.

It was on one of these farms that Theodore Roosevelt had a hunting lodge, which he visited frequently while serving as president of the United States.

He and Mr. Omohundro shared an enthusiasm for fox hunting and often went out together with their horses and dogs.

While serving as commissioner of revenue, Mr. Omohundro had a good opportunity to learn the needs and problems of the people in Albemarle. Early in his career he took an interest in politics. He submits to being called a politician, but interprets the word as one "who has an interest in whatever is best for the community and its people." He has been a staunch worker for the improvement of roads in the county, particularly in this area. Under the Byrd administration in 1925 he was chosen as one of six revenue commissioners to re-codify the tax laws of the state of Virginia. He made up the land books for the county, and covered the southern half of the county in assessing all property. During the first years of this activity, he went by horseback, and sometimes on foot to all but inaccessible places. He said that he believes the assessment in Albemarle is well-adjusted and it is one of the leading counties in the state.

From 1938 to 1944 he was clerk of the Appropriations Committee in the General Assembly. He has been for many years president of the Alberene Home Mutual Fire Insurance Company. He is on the advisory board of the Scottsville Branch of the National Bank and Trust Company of Charlottesville. While a director of this bank, he

Four Organizations In Fluvanna Selling Subscriptions To Sun

Four organizations in Fluvanna County this week started a drive for subscriptions to the Scottsville Sun, which serves this county as well as the Scottsville area of Albemarle and parts of Buckingham.

With the hope of obtaining a widespread circulation, the Fluvanna Ruritan Club, the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Palmyra Methodist Church, the Home Makers Club at Kents Store and the Home Demonstration Club of Brems Bluff are cooperating with the publishers in selling one-year subscriptions.

Chairmen of the campaigns are Mrs. Cecil Wickline, Palmyra Church; Mrs. Hazel Ranson, Brems Bluff; Mrs. Roy Perkins, Kents Store.

Boxing Match

A boxing match will be held on Friday night, February 8, in the Scottsville High School auditorium for the benefit of the school baseball team.

J. W. (Billy) Williams, N.I.B.C. will serve as referee.

Admission for adults will be 60 cents, children, 35 cents.

Mrs. Ranson Heads March Of Dimes For Fluvanna County

The 1952 March of Dimes Drive is well under way in Fluvanna County, headed by Mrs. Hazel A. Ranson, who urges every citizen in the county to contribute generously to the work of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

While there have been no cases of polio in the county during the past year, Mrs. Ranson pointed out that one-half of all donations during the drive will remain in the county for possible use. The other half will go to the national fund, where it will be used for scientific research and professional education programs, as well as emergency aid to other chapters. The national office supplements local funds when high incidence wipes out local resources.

G. H. Jones, Fluvanna County chairman, underlined the growing need for funds not only for treatment of old and new cases of polio, but of more research.

Sidney P. Harland, chapter treasurer, announced that in previous year Fluvanna contributed a total of $1,000 or more, and it is hoped that this goal will be reached before the month-long drive is over.

On January 31, last day of the drive, mothers will be asked to call on their neighbors for an additional contribution. "Turn on your porch light, and let your light so shine—" said Mrs. Ranson.

Murder Indictment Returned By Grand Jury In Fluvanna

The grand jury for the January term of Fluvanna Circuit Court this morning returned a true bill for the indictment of James Morris, charged with the murder of his brother, Kermit Morris of Shores, on January 16.

The defendant allegedly shot his brother in an altercation over food which James Morris said Kermit took from him, according to testimony at the preliminary hearing yesterday before Judge B. W. Seay in Trial Justice Court.

Also indicted this morning were Gordon Parrish and Andrew Morris, both Negroes, charged with assaulting with intent to kill Robert Drumheller near Central Plains, on Monday night, January 14.

The two men allegedly attacked Drumheller because he refused to repay one of them $1 which he borrowed from them, according to testimony in trial justice court last Wednesday.

The indictments were presented by Commonwealth Attorney Ralph Zehler. Judge Edward Meeks presided.

Members of the grand jury were E. W. Parrish, R. C. Omohundro, Sr., Arthur Scott, Clark O. Black, J. P. Crutchfield, Grafton Bratcher and J. Hugh Farrar.

"S.O.S." has no literal meaning, but was chosen as a distress signal because of its ease in transmitting.

Fluvanna County Farm News

By P. H. France

Do you want to increase your farm income by growing cucumbers for pickle and California Wonder Sweet Peppers? If so, get in touch with me immediately. Cucumbers are a quick growing crop, planted in May and harvested in July.

Many farmers in the State are receiving as much as $500 per acre.

Receiving stations will be located wherever the demand justifies and you will be paid at the time the cucumbers and peppers are delivered.

Want to be a veterinarian? If so, apply now to Dr. Paul H. Farrier, director of admissions at V.P.I. He is secretary of a committee that will recommend 12 Virginians to attend the University of Georgia, and six to attend Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Applicants must have satisfactorily completed two years of college study.

Under the terms of the regional contract, Virginia—through V.P.I.—will pay Georgia and Texas $1,000 a year for each student accepted for the study of veterinary medicine. The individual student admitted will pay the same fees and tuition which are paid by Georgia and Texas residents.

The plan was begun with the University of Georgia in 1949 when 12 Virginians were admitted. A year later Texas A. & M. admitted six Virginians. Since that time 18 Virginians have been admitted each fall to the two veterinary medical colleges.

Dr. D. Wilson, head of vanna, Va. department of biology, and former president of the State Veterinary Examining Board, says that Virginia can use about 25 new veterinarians every year.

Production and management problems of the beef cattle industry will have top billing in discussions at the second annual short course for beef cattle producers at VPI, March 4, 5 and 6.

Curtis Mast, associate animal husbandman at VPI, says marketing and disease and parasite control also will be discussed.

The short course is open to anyone interested. There will be minimum registration fee. Lecturers, many of them members of the animal husbandry staff at VPI will be announced later, as will the detailed program.

Cattle producers interested in attending should contact their county farm agents.

A new chemical weed killer is being treated at Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station at VPI.

Dr. W. E. Chappell, who is conducting the research, says the chemical is known as CMU, and seems to have many possibilities. Rates of 20 to 80 pounds per acre kill all vegetation, and keep the soil free of vegetation for more than a year. It has promise as a pre-emergence treatment as much lower rates for weeds in corn, asparagus, cotton and carrots.

At present, CMU is available only for experimental use or industry to produce soil sterility for extended periods in locations such as lumber yards, gasoline storage areas, arsenals, and other places where plant growth might constitute a fire hazard.

MEET ONE OF OUR TOP SALESMEN

Maybe you didn't know that Allen Roberts was a U. S. Rubber salesman.

He isn't listed on our payroll as a U. S. Rubber salesman. He's listed as a ply section man, and has the longest service record with the Scottsville Plant.

But Allen Roberts is one of our top salesmen — he and the rest of the 55,000 men and women who make U. S. Rubber products.

He knows the skill and teamwork that go into these products. So what he says about his company carries a lot of weight.

Of course, his company advertises in newspapers and on television, but the most powerful advertising is what Allen Roberts and other employees of American companies tell their friends and neighbors.

THE AMERICAN WAY

The One And Only Needed Control Morality In Our National Life

The head of one of the country's leading enterprises recently talked on corruption in high places. He said, "If the corruption which has been exposed is not vigorously attacked on every front, the public will be justified in becoming cynical, and all our cherished American traditions will be jeopardized. Even business cannot long maintain its integrity in a sea of corruption. Only if all the forces for righteous form together in a supreme effort will we be able to win the battle for restoration of high morality in our national life."

It is not true, as some people seem to believe, that graft, petty or otherwise, and various kinds of dishonesty must inevitably be a part of all human undertakings. As the same executive pointed out, "high moral standards do exist and must exist to make possible the efficient production and distribution of $325,000,000,000 worth of goods and services in this country every year!" Fraud and commercial bribery are almost non-existent here, and millions of transactions, some involving large sums, are completed every year without written contracts or formal guarantees. On the the stock exchanges, billions of dollars worth of property are bought and sold by a word or a sign, and the agreements are invariably honored. This executive said that his own company has credit sales totaling about $900,000,000 a year to over 1,000,000 different individuals and concerns —yet the bad debt losses over the past five years have averaged only one-fiftieth of one per cent.

Of all forms of corruption, that in government is the worst. And there are many kinds of corruption which are so subtle as to be beyond the reach of the law. The only defense is the honor, integrity and moral standards of the men who we elect and appoint to office.

From The Editor's Desk:

To The People of Fluvanna County:

This week it was our pleasure to be a guest of the Fluvanna County Ruritan Club, and we can earnestly say that we enjoyed every minute of the meeting.

Never before have we met with a group of more friendly and hospitable men. And, we found, these men not only meet for fellowship, they gather to study the needs of their county and make plans for betterment of conditions.

You should be proud that you have such a group of men in Fluvanna. They are a credit to you, the county, the state and the nation.

Country Lawyer

By Walter Johnson

Upon occasion contests arise which contain much comedy. That is what we have in the contest now being waged by Tidewater Telephone Company to save its employees from unionization.

This is the Company so often discussed in this column the past few years. The business of a public utility is of necessity the business of the people and properly a subject of discussion of all people. This company has a monopoly on telephone and telegraph service in a 14 county area between the Potomac and York rivers. It is peculiar as a public utility because it has in its pay the more prominent and politically powerful office holders in the area wherein it holds monopoly.

These office holders include the very men who select the Circuit Judges and the members of the State Corporation Commission. The State Corporation Commission has the duty of setting utility rates and of determining the taxes to be paid by the utility companies.

Whether or not this company exploits the fact of having all these powerful political figures in its pay is a question. It is hard to believe that such a cozy arrangement just happened. Certain it is that telephone rates are high and there is a trend to skim the cream by serving only the more profitable parts of the area instead of all the area.

From the standpoint of the employees they are faced with a peculiar situation. They are paid at rates far below the average for like work in the telephone industry in Virginia. These unpaid employees in struggle to care for their families see the boss group fairly wallowing in fat as that group graciously vote each other increasingly more money in the form of salaries, fees, bonuses and expenses.

The company is now in strong opposition to unionization of its employees. In its publicity are many self-serving declarations proclaiming love for the employees and a desire to save them from the evils of unionization. In a paper edited by the son of the president of the company there appears editorial denunciation of the union as well as statements by the company, but no statements by employees.

Taking the two together it is hard to see where organization of the employees of the company could possibly be a greater wrong than is the organization of the company itself the way it is constructed. Certainly there can be little justification for the boss group wallowing up to their ears in fat while the employees are so underpaid.

The CIO does have a bad reputation. For long it was tainted strongly with Communism. Almost everything it has ever advocated in the national scene has been toward more and more regimentation of all the people through more and more control over their economic lives. It has loudly proclaimed "liberalism" while making every effort to lessen the Freedom and Dignity of the very core of true liberalism. But the CIO has been moderating some. It has purged itself of the worst elements. It will be helped by membership of stalwart and sound citizens as we know the employees of Tidewater Telephone Company to be.

In any event and on a comparative basis the wrongness of unionization of these employees could never be expected to be as bad for the community as is the banding together of these powerful political figures in the Company so it may run wild. For this company to call the union bad is for the pot to call the Kettle black.

An election will soon be held among the employees to determine the union question. In that election employees may vote their convictions in secret. It will be interesting to observe the result of that election.

Time out for a candy bar is relaxing, and the cost is but a trifle. To iron while sitting down is relaxing, too—and for the price of the candy bar electricity does up an average week's wash on a rotary ironer! Yes, electricity is the biggest bargain in the family budget. Technical advances and sound business management help keep it that way.

memorial plaque honoring Pleasant B. Burgess, Sunday school superintendent for many years. Beside the Burgess family, other names familiar in the history of the little church are the Blackburns, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Anderson, Miss S. J. Napier, the Tillmans, Kidds, Thomases and A. D. Rhodes.

The oldest living member of the church is John Thomas of Scottsville, with Mrs. Rosa L. Tillman of Palmyra a close second.

The church has always had a thriving Sunday School which meets every Sunday. Mrs. Sadie Irving, who now serves in several capacities, recalls that during one period when no one in the church could play the organ, John B. Anderson purchased a hand organ that played by turning the handle, and he turned while his wife led, once much too fast for those who were singing.

At the present time H. G. Black serves as superintendent of the Sunday school which has an enrollment of about 90. Cecil A. Black is in charge of the adult division, Mrs. Irving the young people, and Mrs. Charles Holterman the children.

The Rev. E. W. Rawlings is pastor of Wesley Chapel, which is one of seven churches in the Fluvanna Charge. He resides in the parsonage at Palmyra.

Services are held twice a month and the membership totals about 150.

Church stewards are H. G. Black, J. A. Crenshaw, J. A. Kidd, Charles Holterman, Mrs. Sadie W. Irving, and B. E. Peterson.

Wesley Chapel is another link in the circle of historic churches in this area that helped to form and strengthen the establishment of Methodism in Virginia and in America.

Omohundro

and his associates were responsible for the re-organization of the Scottsville Bank which became the branch of the Charlottesville bank.

In recent years Mr. Omohundro has turned his interest to real estate and has sold a number of large properties through this vicinity. Although he has limited his activities recently, he still keeps a keen eye on the progress of the community and especially what is being done in the legislature.

Horses and hounds are Mr. Omohundro's confessed hobbies — he has always been an inveterate hunter and used to have several good jumpers. He still enjoys the sport and has seven fine hounds. In 1933-34 he won several silver trophies for his dog, "Dora" in field trials and trained all his own fox hounds.

For many years Mr. Omohundro has served on the board of the Scottsville Methodist Church. He recently turned over his stewardship to his son, George T., Jr. Although a Methodist, he lived close enough to Christ Episcopal Church at Glendower, to be a frequent visitor there, and accepted a position on the vestry there as well.

Mr. Omohundro entered the hardware business in 1926 when he started the Omohundro Hardware Company, which his son, George, now manages. His other son, Henry, manages his stock farm.

It is impossible in a short article to set down in words the many activities, the ambition and the vital interest which has made this cordial white-haired gentleman one of the community's leading citizens. Simple and friendly in manner, he has led a life of service and one full of activities which he has evidently thoroughly enjoyed. Hard work and constant study were an important part of it. It is men like this who help to keep alive the best interpretation of the often-used term of "southern gentleman."

Perkins Explains Draft Regulations

Col. N. J. Perkins of Selective Service Local Board 42, Fluvanna, pointed out today that the Universal Military Training and Service Act as amended June 19, 1951, provides that registrant who was on June 19, 1951, in a deferred classification, or who thereafter is placed in a deferred classification, under the provisions of the Act will remain liable for training and service in the armed forces until the thirty-fifth anniversary of the date of their birth.

Col. N. J. Perkins went on to say that prior to June 19, 1951, the law required the deferment of conscientious objectors who were opposed to both combat and non-combat service, and authorized the deferment of registrants who had wives only. To such registrants extension of liability does not apply since those deferments are not authorized by law.

Under the provisions of the Universal Military Training Act as amended, if a registrant was in a deferred classification on the 19 of June 1951, or at any time thereafter, his liability for service is extended until the thirty-fifth anniversary of his date of birth. Registrants who were exempt under the provisions of the law are not subject to this extension of liability for service.

Deferred classifications which extend liability for service until thirty-five include certain em-classifications, all I-S high school and college deferments, group industrial deferments, all agricultural deferments, each other (and the former II-A by in the deferments, Class II, uses and deferments with the exception of its deferred by reason of a wife only, and classifications of its deferments which include registrants not acceptable cause of physical examination, moral reasons.

Col. N. J. Perkins stated that those registrants who had reached the twenty-sixth anniversary of the date of their birth and who were in a deferred classification on or after June 19, and have since been classified in class V-A (over age) will be classified at the earliest date possible. Therefore, registrants are urged to bring information which should be considered by the local board, is not recorded in writing, the local board should report information in writing as soon as possible to the local board.

Farrar Urges Local Farmers To Gather Their Scrap Metal

The Fluvanna Agricultural Mobilization Committee has joined hands with the steel industry to help locate and move vitally needed scrap from local farms, according to John S. Farrar, the committee's chairman.

Steel mill furnaces are gobbling up scrap faster than it is being delivered. Steel is now being produced at an annual rate of 107,000,000 tons and a production of 119,500,000 is expected by the end of this year. To maintain such planned schedules the steel industry will need 3000 carloads of scrap a day.

Nearly a ton of scrap is needed for every ton of pig iron used in making steel. With the increased volume of production the steel industry will require about 8,000,000 more tons of scrap than they did a year ago. This need will continue as long as the industry operates at full capacity. Our steel capacity — unless expansion is retarded — will have grown by next year to 26 per cent over 1944, the peak year during World War II.

Mr. Farrar urged local dealers to give the scrap movement their "intensive efforts." He said that individual farmers' scrap piles may not be large, but together they can supply a huge tonnage.

There are scrap dealers in Louisa, Charlottesville and Richmond who will be glad to pick up your scrap metal and pay for it if you can.

Farrar Explains Tobacco Program For New Growers

Any farmer who wants an acreage allotment for a new farm to grow tobacco in 1952 must apply at the county office of the Production and Marketing Administration not later than January 31, 1952.

A "new" tobacco farm is one on which no tobacco has been grown during the past five years, 1947 through 1951, Fluvanna County PMA Chairman John S. Farrar explained. He also listed several conditions which must be met to be eligible for new farm tobacco allotments.

Besides filing application with the PMA office by January 31, a producer must have had experience growing tobacco as a sharecropper, tenant, or operator in at least two of the past five years. Veterans need only a year's experience, either since discharge, or during the five years just prior to entering the service.

The operator of the farm must live on the farm and must receive more than half his income from that farm. Also, neither the owner nor operator may own or operate any other farm having a tobacco allotment of the kind applied for.

Omohundro Re-elected Mutual President

George T. Omohundro of Scottsville was again re-elected president of the Albemarle Home Mutual Insurance Company at a meeting Saturday. All members and directors were present.

The company's assets of almost $250,000 value of policies in force at the meeting of January 1, 1951, as compared with $200,000 on the first of this year.

There was a decrease in the number of policy holders from 1,307 to 1,302 and a decrease in the number of policies from 1,507 to 1,508.

The company, which serves Albemarle County only, paid claims for the amount of $1,608.78 in 1951.

Scottsville School News

By Wilson Harrison

Exams are over and we are all glad, but we are sorry to hear that so many had a hard time with them.

On Wednesday of this week we received our report cards; don't know if everyone was pleased or not but doubt if they were.

On Friday, January 25 the Future Homemakers of America club of Scottsville High School will sponsor a dance in the school auditorium. The dance will last from 9 until 12 o'clock. The Scottsville Orchestra will present the music for this occasion. The admission will be $1.00 per person.

We are glad to announce that the Publications Club of S. H. S. has reached its goal for selling annuals.

On February 8, 1952 there will be a Boxing Match held in the Scottsville High School Auditorium. The proceeds will go to help the Baseball team buy new equipment. We are looking forward to your attendance. The admission is 60 cents for Adults and 35 cents for School children.

The referee for the boxing matches will be J. W. (Billy) Williams, N.I.B.C.

On February 12, 1952 at the Victory Hall Theater there will be a Beauty Contest sponsored by the Commercial Club of Scottsville High School. The admission for the occasion will be 60 cents for adults and 40 cents for children. We hope all can attend this event. The proceeds will go to fixing and remodeling of the Commercial Class rooms.

We are sorry that so many of our students have the measles — hope they will get well quick and can come back to school. There are approximately 40 cases in the entire school.

Glad to have Mrs. Farrar with us.

Rev. T. H. Fitzgerald

The Rev. T. H. Fitzgerald, retired Baptist minister, father of Mrs. Pollard Staley, of Scottsville, died Wednesday in Beckley, W. Va.

He was born at Toga, in Buckingham County, and was 97 years of age. Fitzgerald Memorial Baptist Church, in Cumberland, was named in his honor.

Besides his wife, he is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Ronald Paulson, of Beckley, W. Va. and two sons, Boyce Fitzgerald, a California attorney, and Anderson Fitzgerald, dean of the University of Texas. There are seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Burial rites were held Thursday afternoon in Oak Hill, W. Va.

Alexander W. Hamilton

Funeral services were held at 2:30 P.M. Monday at the Thacker Brother Funeral Home here for Alexander Welsh Hamilton, 78, who died Saturday at his home in Schuyler, Nelson County. Burial was held in the Scottsville Presbyterian Cemetery.

Survivors included his wife, Mrs. Lula Bramhan Hamilton; a daughter, Mrs. Wilma Shepperd, of Shipman, Nelson County; two sons, Werter, of Arlington and Harry A. Hamilton, of Schuyler; one brother, R. H. Hamilton, of Charlottesville, and a sister, Mrs. L. G. Newsome of Richmond.

Defendant Is Fined

In Trial Justice Court in Charlottesville Wednesday, John L. Lewis, Negro, of Scottsville, was given a 30-day sentence and a $50.00 fine for drunk and disorderly conduct. He was picked up near Route 20 Saturday night by F. F. Marsh, chief of Scottsville Police.
