Dillwyn Baptist Church Founded In 1901; Organizations Active; Wren Is Pastor

By Elizabeth Wimer

Whenever a community begins to feeling growing pains, with business firms developing to serve the residents, there comes the need, too, for a place of worship which will serve the spirit and the morale of the people. The town of Dillwyn has grown much since the turn of the century, and while it is not as old a town as some of those around it, it has steadily gone forward.

The Dillwyn Baptist Church has grown along with the community from an original membership of 14 to its present one of over 200.

In 1901 a band of Baptists who had no local church in which to hold services joined together to found this church, now located on the main street in a grove of stately old oaks. While they put forth their efforts to raise funds for the land and the building, they worshipped in a store building, and in 1903 they completed the church house as it stands today. And today they are looking forward to building a larger church on the same site.

Instrumental in making the church possible were two of its charter members, E. W. Fitzgerald, first Sunday School Superintendent, and W. A. Moss. Two charter members still attend services here. They are Mrs. R. B. Ranson and Mrs. Mary C. Staton. All the original members worked hard, says Mrs. Ranson, to contribute both time, labor and money for the church building. Rev. Ryland Sanford was the first pastor.

The Woman's Missionary Union was formed at the beginning of the church, with Mrs. W. A. Moss serving as first president of it. It is now an active society, contributing to both local and foreign mission work, to the Baptist homes for the aged and the orphaned, and carrying on a full program of work with the young people. This includes the Girls' Auxiliary, led by Mrs. W. A. Sprouse; Royal Ambassadors, under Mrs. Grover Jones; Young People directed by Mrs. Wayne Dawson and the youngest group, the Sunbeams, under the charge of Mrs. C. C. Beaty.

The Baptist Training Union is a flourishing organization which meets every Sunday night. The young members carry on their own programs of worship, and plan their own activities. Wayne Dawson is leader of this group.

Present officers of the W.M.U. include Mrs. J. C. Dunkum, president; Mrs. Claude Wood, first vice-president; Mrs. T. J. Davis, second vice-president; Mrs. Herman Price, third vice-president; Mrs. Carter, secretary-treasurer. There are four circles in the society, which accounts for the number of vice-presidents.

Not a little of the strength of this church is due to its energetic pastor, Rev. J. Ernest Wren, who came here from Martinsburg, W.

Va. three years ago. R. B. Ranson now serves as Superintendent of the Sunday School, as well as one of the deacons. There are eight classrooms, which accommodate all age groups. Funds are now being raised to build a larger church house which will adequately take care of the growing Sunday School.

Other deacons are W. A. Sprouse, Wayne Dawson, R. J. Jones, J. B. Haynes and W. B. LeSeuer.

Mrs. W. B. LeSeuer directs the choir, and Mrs. J. R. Burroughs serves as pianist.

Only two marriages have taken place in this church. The first one was early in its history, when Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Ranson were married there.

Two beautiful memorial stained glass windows add much to the beauty of the building. The front window is in memory of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Fitzgerald, parents of Mrs. Ranson, and the window over the pulpit honors S. B. Pearson.

Arrington Youth In Drowning Victim

The body of Tinsley Davis Campbell, 16-year-old son of Plum D. Campbell of Arrington, was dragged from Tye River near his home Sunday morning, three hours after the youth had apparently become helpless in water over his head, and drowned.

His brother, Woodrow, made an attempt to save him, but neither boy was a skilled swimmer, and the water was too deep for him. According to residents, the river is frequently used by bathers, but the shore is steep and the boy went under in water about 15 feet deep.

The tragedy occurred about 8:30 a.m. The Nelson County Fire Department was summoned, but was not able to help because of the lack of facilities. Lynchburg Life Saving Crews answered a call and succeeded in recovering the boy's body.

Beside his brother, Woodrow, and his father, Tinsley is survived by his step-mother, Mrs. Lillian F. Campbell, three brothers, John L. Delmas and Harvey; a sister, Corinne a half-brother, Irvin two half-sisters, Berdie and Juanita, all of Arrington, and his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Marsellius Lawhorne Campbell, also of Tye River.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at Piney River Funeral Home with burial in Bethlehem cemetery at Roseland.

January 1 became generally accepted as the first day in the year in 1752.

Schuyler Trounces Rubber Plant Nine

Comedy of Errors proved the U. S. Rubber Company's downfall last Sunday as they took an 18-0 trouncing at the hands of Schuyler in a Tri-County baseball game. The locals, playing at Schuyler, were unable to do anything right as they committed a total of 14 errors. They were held to two hits by winning pitcher Graves.

For Melvin Simpson, the Plant's youthful star hurler, it was a head-breaking contest. Simpson gave up only three hits in the first six innings while striking out six yet saw his opponents cross the plate six times. He retired in favor of Wallace Ferneyhough in the seventh when continually dropped third strikes kept him in hot water. Schuyler open the flood gates in their last two batting innings scoring 12 runs on only eight hits. Frank Ferneyhough got both of the Plant's lonely two hits.

Fines Totaling $140 Meted Out By Massie

The docket in Nelson Trial Justice Court continued to be a light one last Thursday morning when Judge J. B. Massie tried eight cases and imposed fines amounting to an approximate total of $140. Results of cases were as follows: Harold J. Banks, Washington, D. C., $10 and costs for improper passing.

Carroll C. Barnett, Charlottesville, $20 and costs for reckless driving.

Rueben E. Campbell, Alexandria $50 and costs and 30 days in jail, sentence suspended during good behavior, for reckless driving, causing an accident.

John Robert Crawford, Jr., Salisbury, N. C., $10 and costs for speeding.

Charlie Dolan, Wingina, $10 and costs for being drunk in public.

Patrick Henry Marshall, Nellysford, $10 and costs for improper brakes.

Asher H. Scott, Washington, D. C., $10 and costs for speeding.

Otha Williams, Arrington, $10 and costs for being drunk in public.

Horseman's Club Organized Here

Scottsville area horsemen together with other persons in this vicinity interested in promoting good riding in the community met at Springhill Farm last Saturday July 19, to organize a horse lovers' club.

Plans were drawn up to include members from Albemarle, Fluvanna, and Buckingham counties. The organization will be known as the Tri-County Riding Club.

There will be group rides from time to time. Members will be notified at least a week in advance of the time scheduled for these planned rides.

Due to the difficulties aroused by the distances some members live from one another it was decided to divide the club into local units for these rides.

A planning committee was set up and the following officers were appointed:

General Chairman: Mrs. Walter T. Viar

Secretary: Mrs. Leonard Ewaldt

Treasurer: Mrs. R. L. Collins

Membership: Hugh Flynn

Area Chairman (East of Scottsville): Mrs. Edwin D. Mayfield

Assistant: Mrs. R. V. Krouse

Area Chairman (West of Scottsville): Mrs. Harry Langhorne

Assistant: Ralph Flynn

Additional area chairman will be appointed as needed it was announced.

A club spokesman placed special emphasis on the fact that encouragement will be given junior members in hopes of developing good riders. Riding instructions will be made available to members' children, for a nominal fee. Tentative plans are being made for a horse show this fall.

To Be Ordained

A service of unusual significance will be held in the Scottsville Baptist Church, Friday evening, July 25, at 8 P.M., when Edward Goodwin will be ordained as a Baptist minister.

Mr. Goodwin received his early education here in Scottsville, graduating from the Scottsville High School. He received his degree from Baylor University, Waco, Texas, in May, 1952, and he plans to further his preparation for the ministry at the Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky. Those participating in the service Friday evening other than Mr. Goodwin will be The Reverend Oscar E. Northen of South Hill, The Reverend H. Walton Connelly of Fork Union and The Reverend J. P. Elliott, Jr. of Scottsville.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

ATTEND CONVENTION

Among those from Fluvanna County attending the State Democratic Convention in Roanoke, July 17, were Col. and Mrs. N. J. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Omohundro, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy White.

Heat Is Terrific; Docket For Trial Justice Is Light

Yesterday's session of the Trial Justice Court at Palmyra was a short one much to the relief of all concerned as the courtroom steamed in the near 100 temperature. Court officials, defendants, and spectators were all in agreement on the desire to get the business of the day through as soon as possible in order that they might escape roasting in the courtroom.

Only four cases appeared before Judge B. W. Seay, two were continued until next week and a total of $120 plus costs was meted out to the others.

Stiffest sentence of the morning was awarded Herbert Brice, Negro, of Fluvanna, who was found guilty by plea on charges of driving under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

Brice was arrested by Fluvanna County Sheriff James R. Hughes last Saturday after receiving word that he was driving under the influence. Brice threw himself on the mercy of the court claiming that he had three children who needed his support.

Judge Seay, commenting that Brice should have considered his family before he went out and made a menace of himself on the highway. The sentence was $100 fine plus costs and 60-day suspended sentence depending on Brice's conduct in the next two years.

Two driver's licenses were turned over to the court as Brice had both Virginia and Maryland permits.

Other cases briefly were as follows:

Allan Curtis Lushy, Empire, Oregon, reckless driving, $20 and costs.

Holman Carter, Fluvanna, driving after his permit had been revoked. Carter failed to appear in court as summoned and a bench warrant for his arrest has been turned over to Sheriff Hughes.

John Edward Payne, Negro, reckless driving and causing an accident. Case carried over until next Wednesday.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Throwing Out The "Death"-Line

End This Fraud

(The following editorial is reprinted from the Washington D. C., Times Herald)

"Do you want to know about regimentation? Ask your grocer. Do you want to hear about people who are robbed of their property without a day in court? Ask your grocer. Do you want to see the lifeblood running out of business by government order? Ask your grocer.

"Just ask your grocer about the OPS . . .

"What do you think about a condition in which a government agent can set prices on a nationwide basis, yet no individual business can get in to him and ask for personal, local relief?"

"Do you realize that is how the government, today, is running the nation's grocery business? Do you realize that the OPS fixes grocery prices, but the grocer whose price is fixed, cannot complain?"

"If he tries, he is told to go out and bring the whole grocery business back with him to show that all are damaged.

"If he doesn't like what he gets, can he go to the nearest judge and invoke the ordinary protection of the law? He cannot. He can be deprived of his property by OPS decree, but ordinary due process of self-defense is not permitted. In the whole USA there is just one emergency court of appeals open to him and that is hedged all around.

"Your grocer is the victim of discrimination, prejudice and unfair employment practices, all exercised by the OPS. Do you care? Have you given it any thought? Do you realize what it all means . . . ?

"The cure for the evils of price control is repeal, flat out. Sen. Taft has properly described the OPS as nothing but a hangout for loafers and wasters who are living at the public's expense without giving back anything in value.

"Price control is a fraud on the public, and in the interest of common decency, must be ended. Now."—WASHINGTON, D. C., TIMES HERALD.

By Walter Johnson

By a vote of almost two to one Senator Byrd was renominated for the United States Senate. This is a large majority but it is far from the resounding victory claimed by some, Colonel Miller came forward as a leftist candidate embracing Trumanism. Even at that he was given more than one out of every three votes. Much of the Miller vote was not in endorsement of Miller nor was it in opposition to the Byrd position in the Senate. Instead it was in the nature of a protest vote against machine rule in Virginia and which has become steadily more objectionable to the people.

For that reason the organization group had better stop crowing about victory and recognize the true significance of the election. In anticipation of the election next year the group better look themselves over and consider softening their oppressive attitude toward the people and particularly in the field of taxes and in the conduct of the appointees in Richmond bureaus. They can discredit critics only so far.

The Constitution of Virginia is the supreme law of the Commonwealth. All powers of government stem out of it. It is the law of the people as distinguished from the law of the representatives of the people in general assembly.

In the Constitution the people provided for five officers in each county and provided that these officers be elected by the qualified voters of the counties and whose duties and salaries shall be prescribed by general law. In that way the people sought to be protected in their right to local self-government by which county officers would be elected by the people of the counties and would be basically responsible, in accordance with law, to the electorate.

Back in 1885 the Auditor of public accounts refused to certify the salary of the Attorney General for payment. His excuse was that he had decided that the Attorney General owed the state money and he was withholding his salary in offset of that debt. Under mandamus the matter was brought into the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia and which, in a well-reasoned opinion, required payment of salary.

The Court recognized that any attack upon the independence of a Constitutional Officer through salary withholding was an attack upon the Constitution and upon the constitutional rights of the people. It denounced the salary withholding principle as making constitutional officers subject to "the good or ill-will of a ministerial basement officer."

Today we are right back there again. Constitutional officers are again subject to the "good or ill-will of the ministerial basement officer" this time in the form of the Compensation Board. The Board refuses to pay salaries of constitutional officers except as they accept direction from the Board and thus inch the people out of control of these offices. It seeks to justify this mischievous conduct under the pretext that such is necessary because of social security deductions. But even if it was admitted that the Board is so incompetent and bound up in red tape that it cannot pay salaries as do other employers it still remains a fact that deductions are not made by Board at all but instead are made within the counties.

Those facts are in accord with a general pattern in Richmond. They tend to lessen and suck away the local self-governing powers of the people. And, strangely, such a conduct has the support of our nod-seeking attorney general. It may well turn out that he will get the nod in the Virginia that has been reduced to the status of a land of nod. If he does the people will know ahead of time just what his attitude is toward a strong powerful central government in Richmond leaving the governments of counties and cities as that many hollow shells.

Governor Battle has ruffled his back many times at instances of invasion by the federal government into the area of state government and for that we applaud him. But so far he has not indicated any interest in protecting county and city government from invasions by our state government.

For these and many other reasons the organization group might very well stop crowing and give their own position a careful going over. Otherwise they might well get caught in the briar patch next year.

Scottsville Defeats Buckingham, 12-2; Robertson Hurls

Southpaw Sam Robertson limited opposing batters to only six hits while striking out eight as Scottsville downed Buckingham 12-2 in a Tri-County baseball game at the Scottsville High diamond Sunday. The locals pounded out 14 hits including five doubles to lead the one-time league pace-setters all the way.

Robertson had a one hit shutout going in the fifth inning when Billy Moon misjudged a pop fly for what would have been third out. The next batter singled to right and then Sheppard, veteran Buckingham first baseman, slammed a triple to drive in the visitors' only two runs.

Frank Shumaker had a perfect trip to the plate with a double and three singles, when Billy Moon banged out two doubles his first two trips up. Austin Easton and Pete Purvis each contributed two singles to the assault.

Mrs. Brown, Miss Mann Hostess For Meeting

Mrs. E. P. Brown and her sister, Miss Myrtle Mann, were joint hostesses to the Cunningham Homemaker's Club on Friday, July 18. Since the demonstration was on "chair and stool bottoming," the group gathered at 10 a. m. for an all-day session. The Home Agent, eleven members, and several visitors were present. The work began as soon as the members arrived, with Miss Katherine Omohundro, Mrs. J. W. Parrish, and Miss Frances Taylor instructing. At noon a most delicious picnic lunch, contributed by the hostess and fellow members was enjoyed by all. The business session was held right after lunch as some of the members had to leave early.

Four stools were completed and four others started. The day was enjoyed by all even though the weather was hot and work wasn't exactly easy. The club adjourned to meet in August for the Family Picnic.

Court News

Charlie Paul Barber, Negro, self appointed "deacon", paid $100 fine and costs and was given a 30-day suspended sentence by Judge Watson in Trial Justice Court last Thursday on the charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

When Scottsville Police Chief F. F. Marsh made Barber pull his weaving truck over to the side of the road he asked whether or not Barber had been drinking. "Never touch the stuff, I'm a deacon," Barber was reported to have stated.

Marsh stated that Barber staggered when attempting to walk and presented to the court the test taken by Barber proving .15 percent alcohol in his blood.

In all a total of $160 in fines were meted out by Judge Watson in the one hour session. Other cases follow:

THE SAVINGS HABIT

Our customers tell us that once that they have acquired the savings habit, they desire to put aside every cent that they possibly can. However, it appears that it is a good idea not to get too ambitious. It is necessary to estimate the cost of living against income and decide how much one can afford to save. The important thing is to save regularly. Even if it's only a few dollars, when you decide on the amount then stick to it. You are cordially invited to open a savings account at the Main Office in downtown Charlottesville, at 123 East Main Street at the West End Branch at 1329 West Main Street at the University or at any of the other branches at Scottsville, Fork Union, Palmyra, Louisa, and Mineral. The entries entered in the deposit column in your savings pass book will make good reading in the future. Open an account today.
