Riding Club Breakfast

The Tri-County Riding Club will hold its holiday breakfast this year at "Greenfields," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Deines, it has been announced by program chairman and vice president, Mrs. Gordon Dorrier.

The breakfast will be on Saturday, December 19, and will begin at 9:30 a. m. Those who plan to attend are urged to notify Mrs. John Dorrier that they are coming and whether they are inviting guests.

Special treat for those coming will be a hat relay with the riders participating on horseback.

Scottsville High School News

The Senior Class play was presented Thursday night at the Victory Theatre. The profits will go toward financing a trip to New York. The class plans to give another play in February.

The school band gave a concert to the P. T. A. Monday, December 14, in the auditorium. Everyone enjoyed it.

Commercial Club members have postponed their dance until after Christmas. They plan to give it in January.

The students received their report cards last week. Those on the honor roll in high school are:

Grade 8—Mrs. Magnifico; Lou Joe Eyre; Jimmie Ray Haga; Shirley Cunningham; Virginia O'Brien; Martha Sibert; Beatrice Stinson. Grade 10—Mrs. Jack Miller; Lucille Soyars; Ann Dawson; Mildred Jones; Callie Vee Johnson; Herbert Kidd; Phyllis Scott. Grade 11—Mrs. Robert Maidment; June Wells. Grade 12—Miss Mary Worsham; Barbara Roberts, and Virginia Lee Londeree.

The members of the school band and the director, Captain G. R. Edgerton, went to Red Hill Elementary School Tuesday, December 15, to play a variety of waltzes, marches, and Christmas songs.

Last Wednesday, for our regular Chapel period, the Seniors gave various skits of the senior play entitled "Women in White".

Friday afternoon has been set aside for different clubs and classes to give Christmas plays and pageants. All parents and friends are invited.

The deadline of the "Scotty" sale will be December 18. The Publication Club has named The Delmar Publishing Company in North Carolina their publisher this year. They feel as though this yearbook will be the best they have ever published. There will be different activities and also different arrangements.

Christmas Program

Ralph L. Skidmore, superintendent, has announced that the Sunday School of Mt. Zion Methodist Church at Esmont will present its Christmas program Sunday night, December 20, at 8 o'clock.

Members of the local Methodist Youth Fellowship have been practicing under the direction of Mrs. Walker Bell and Mrs. Virginia Stargell. The service will include the Nativity Scripture and pageantry and Christmas carols.

On this Sunday contributions will be received for operating expenses and the building program of the Methodist Children's Home, in Richmond. The public is invited to be present.

Christmas Pageant Scheduled Sunday

The Methodist Youth Fellowship, under the supervision of Buel Carden, will present a Christmas pageant Sunday, December 20 at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at Scottsville Methodist Church. Both the junior choir, with Ray Caldwell as leader and the adult choir with Mrs. T. E. Bruce as leader, will have a very active part in the program. Mrs. Claire Thacker is in charge of the music.

The cast of characters in the pageant are Madeline Bailey as Mary, Johnny Bolick, as Joseph, Maynard Stinson, Butch Carden, and Billy Pippin as wise men and Joe Ayre, Allen Saunders and Alvin Smith, Jr. as the shepherds.

Mrs. E. L. Dorrier is responsible for the costumes, Mr. Guy E. Moon has decorations and Mrs. E. J. Nottingham is the director of the entire production.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Church Meeting

The ladies of the Baptist Church met on Friday night at 8 p. m. at a combined meeting of the missionary group and the three circles that comprise it.

Preceding the general meeting and program, the individual circles met. At the meeting of the Annie Bell circle, the following officers for the coming year were elected: Mrs. W. J. Goodwin, circle leader, Mrs. F. E. Paulett, secretary, Mrs. Floyd Branham, program chairman, Mrs. R. L. Collins, stewardship chairman, Mrs. W. T. Miller, literature chairman, Mrs. Miller Payne, community missions, Mrs. Floyd Branham, social chairman, Mrs. F. W. Paulett, publicity and Miss Helen Beal, prayer league.

At the meeting of the Nannie B. David circle the members elected the following officers: circle leader, Mrs. David Glass, Mrs. Lewis Rhodes, secretary, Mrs. John Deeds, mission study chairman, Mrs. John Elliott, stewardship chairman, Mrs. H. H. Tapscott, enlistment chairman, Mrs. George Dansey and Mrs. Lee Wharam, publicity chairmen, Mrs. George Wheeler, prayer league, Mrs. W. A. McDearmon, program chairman, Mrs. Martin Turner, social chairman, Mrs. Don Bartel, literature chairman, and Mrs. William Davidson, community missions.

The Lottie Moon circle met and re-elected the same officers for another year.

Following the meetings of the circles, program chairman, Mrs. Cosby Patterson, and the members of the Lottie Moon circle presented a Christmas pageant for the entire missionary society in the auditorium of the church.

Boy Scout Campout

Boy scouts and their masters, Buel Carden and Haden Anderson, held a campout last Friday night at the Horseshoe Hunt Club cabin, located between the Hardware and Shores roads in Fluvanna County. The cabin is about 10 miles from Scottsville, so the boys were provided transportation by Smith Chevrolet.

They arrived out there in time to prepare their supper, and afterward, Petey Johnson did a few scout demonstrations for them. They spent the night, and cooked breakfast the next morning before they broke camp and came back home.

Attends FHA Meet

Miss Charlotte Cobb, Virginia State Treasurer of the Association of The Future Homemakers of America, attended an executive council meeting held at the Hotel Richmond, December 3, 4, and 5.

At this meeting, Charlotte was invited to speak to the Richmond Rotary Club in January. Her topic will be "What My Work In The Future Homemakers of America Has Meant to Me". It was also decided at this meeting that the annual convention will be held at Longwood College, June 7-12. The next executive council meeting will also be held at Longwood College March 4, 5 and 6.

A Miracle! No New Business

By Nancy Dorrier

A miracle occurred at the monthly P. T. A. meeting on Monday night. John Williamson, president of the organization, called for new business and there was none! As far as they can figure out, that is a record. never happened before in the annals of P. T. A. meetings!

John himself announced that he, Tom Gillis and Russell Brill, delegates to the P. T. A. council, attended an organizational meeting at the McIntyre school recently. He discussed briefly what had been accomplished at the meeting.

The program planned for the evening might have been the reason for the group's reluctance to become involved in a lot of new business, since they were to hear a concert given by the newly formed band at the high school. Capt. Edgerton, conductor, led them in a group of Christmas carols. Included was a rendition of "Jingle Bells" and a delightful arrangement of "Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer" with two unidentified pairs of legs, in a reindeer costume with a bright red nose in the appropriate place, doing a very rhythmic dance to keep time with the music. Also in the program was a selection of marches and waltzes, all done very well.

Following the concert, refreshments were served in the Christmas theme and colors, to carry out the general festive air of the program.

Two unidentified sailors, who were in the car at the time, were uninjured, and able to get out of the car and leave the scene of the accident before Deputy Sheriff Marshall arrived.

The car was registered under the name of Marshall Lewis, Columbia.

On Saturday night around 6:15 a car coming from Warren to Scottsville went out of control and dropped off a steep incline into a gully about a quarter of a mile from Scottsville. The car tore down a state road sign, and ripped up the fence that it went through, and when it came to a stop, it turned over.

Rickman Is Named Town Sergeant For Scottsville

Vincent T. Rickman of Farmville was appointed town sergeant for Scottsville at the regular monthly meeting of the town council last Friday night. Mr. Rickman comes here from the Farmville police force, after serving there for two years. He will relieve Sgt. F. F. Marsh, who has held the post for the past six years, when Sgt. Marsh leaves January 1.

Marsh 40, becomes a deputy sheriff of Albemarle County on that date, to succeed Earl H. Davis, who has returned to active duty in the Marine Corps. He plans to move to Charlottesville and his territory will be the Crozet area of the White Hall and Samuel Miller districts, formerly covered by Davis.

Rickman, who is 30 years old, is a native of Farmville, and attended schools in that section. Before he joined the police force in Farmville, he served as an automobile mechanic with one of the motor companies there. He received his appointment on Friday and gave his acceptance on Saturday.

He and his family will move to Scottsville to live.

Many Scottsville merchants will close their places of business for a three-day holiday over Christmas this year.

The decision to close all day Saturday, December 26, was announced this week and is a departure from the usual custom of staying open all day every Saturday in the year.

Added Power, Performance Mark Chevrolet

The two-toned four-door sedan in the "210" Series typifies the new beauty and smartness of the Chevrolet line for 1954. The "210" Series is one of three offered by the company in an array of 13 body models. Added power and chassis improvements, extension of the Powerglide automatic transmission option to all cars and luxurious new interiors in striking color harmonies are a few of the principal features.

Friday (December 18) will be a big day at Smith Chevrolet Inc. in Scottsville and Palmyra Motors year will be no exception. They said:

"The new cars will be loaded with brand new features that will interest everyone who has ever driven or hopes to drive an automobile. I hope to see all my friends at the dealership on Show Day, for I'm sure they will enjoy their introduction to the new 1954 Chevrolet."

Display of the new models here will be timed with the simultaneous presentation of the 1954 Chevrolet in thousands of other dealerships across the country.

Household Hints

By Nada M. Sweeney
Home Economist

Appalachian Electric Power Co.

I'm sure that if you are an observant reader your attention has been drawn to the various advertisements the Appalachian Electric Power Company has been publishing in which the bold statement is made that "WOMEN WORK TOO HARD". I personally join you ladies in upholding the truth of the observation.

Have you ever stopped to give serious thought as to the truth or probable untruth of the statement? Maybe you read the article "Battle of Sexes Stirred by Claim Women Work Hard". This was published in the November issue of the Extension Service News and pointed out the difference of opinion between the sexes. Mr. Coe, publisher of the Giles County Virginian of Pearisburg, states that some "real, honest-to-goodness work may help a lot of our ornamental women these days". Contrary opinion came from Mrs. Diddy Mathews Palmer, columnist for the Charleston Daily Mail, who contends that the old proverb "Man's Work is from sun to sun, but a woman's work is never done" still holds plenty of truth.

With whom do you agree? Mr. Coe or Mrs. Palmer? We all have opinions.

We can hardly attempt an unbiased analysis of the question without giving consideration to the fact that we are now living in an age of unparalleled energies. These energies of course are electric and atomic. Our very lives are centered around the powerful mechanisms drawing their energy from these sources. How do you think the muscular energy of a man compares in strength to these two potent sources? We are told that the energy of a hard working man is equal to the rate of work done by only 1/10 hp. Even at this rate of work man is being given a great deal of credit for stamina which few men possess.

And yet, do you realize that today in this age of electric and atomic energy many housewives are competing with these powerful forces when they continue to unnecessarily lift, push, pull and carry while they work at various household tasks day in and day out? Some still are washing clothes on a wash board (only one step removed from beating out the garments between stones); hanging clothes on a line to dry; washing dishes by hand in a dish pan; and cooking three meals each day on outmoded fuel burning range.

A heartbreaking number of women are performing their daily household chores without the benefit of running water under pressure in the house. Many a housewife spend 240 hours each year carrying from 20 to 30 tons of water for kitchen use only. The value of a woman's labor is indeed figured at a low rate when we consider the fact that this water can be pumped electrically for less than $1.00 per month.

A man's work today could not stay in productive competition if his work did not consist chiefly of operating modern machinery. No longer is he required by farm chores or industrial production to resort to long hours of manual labor. Machinery is taking care of that. Yet many modern housewives still laboriously perform their household duties by manual exertion with little or no help from an outside source of energy.

An all-electric home with automatic clothes washer, automatic clothes dryer, electric range, small appliances such as the food mixer, vacuum cleaner, iron, dishwasher, food waste disposal, and water heater, will make work simple and easy for housewives who definitely deserve to be emancipated from dark-age methods in an enlightened era.

A home doesn't have to be transformed from antiquity to modern living all at once (even though it would be nice). It can be done a little at a time—piece by piece. Careful planning and consideration can easily take care of the problem over a period of time. For example, instead of buying a beautiful new sofa for the living room to replace the old one, why not make a new cover for it and get an automatic washer or dryer or range and learn what it means to in keeping with the age in which we live.

Now is the time to give this problem of "WOMEN WORK TOO HARD" serious consideration and with a New Year coming up, a survey indicates that fire losses in the United States will exceed $1,000,000,000 this year—the highest in history.

County Farm Notes

By P. H. France

GOOD CHANCE SEEN TO INCREASE PINE CROP

Farmers in Virginia have a good chance to increase the amount of pine in their woods.

Foresters at VPI say there is a good crop of loblolly pine seed—and good crops come only at intervals of three to five years. So, they say, if you miss this chance it may be some time before you have another.

The foresters say it is up to the landowner to prepare the seedbed and let sunlight in for the small trees after they start.

The 1954 Agricultural Conservation Program includes preparation of forest land for natural re-seeding. This preparation may be done by exposing the surface of the soil so forest tree seed will germinate more readily and establish a new forest. Use a harrow, disk, bulldozer, or any other means that will expose the soil over 60 percent of the area treated.

To qualify under the ACP program, stirring the soil should be done immediately before or after cutting the timber, and an adequate number of seed trees of commercially valuable species must be left.

If it is an old field you want to reseed, the ACP program does not apply, except for planting. But natural seeding is still a good practice.

The seed is dropping now, but will not sprout until next spring. Stirring the soil anytime during the winter will help put the seed in contact with the soil.

VIRGINIA FEEDER CALF SALE SUMMARY GIVEN

Virginia livestock producers pocketed over $1,666,000 dollars at a total of 28 feeder calf sales in Virginia this fall.

The animals, totalling 20,663 head, brought an average price of $18.21 per hundredweight—a sizeable drop from last year's average of $27.64—but still an appreciable amount above the general market.

K. C. Williamson, associate animal husbandman at VPI, says quality paid: Fancy and choice calves went for $19.73; good dropped down to $17.70; and medium averaged $15.55.

The straight-bred animals held a healthy lead over the crossbreds, averaging $18.34 as compared to $15.01 for crossbreds.

More calves were sold in this year's series than at any other time since the feeder calves started in 1944. In all, 9,148,852 pounds of feeder calves moved to market. However, the average price was the lowest since 1945—again in line with the general market.

Highest average price this year—$22.03—was received at Petersburg. The lowest average price—$15.60—received at Bedford.

DHIA cows averaging 15,000 pounds of milk last year consumed $221 worth of feed, returned $461 over feed cost—a net income of $240 per cow. Those cows producing only 5,000 pounds of milk used $146 worth of feed, returned $151 over feed cost—a net income of only $5 for the year.

RYE VARIETY TESTS UNDERWAY

Variety tests with rye, similar to those being conducted with wheat, barley, and oats, have begun at VPI Agricultural Experiment Station.

T. M. Starling, associate agronomist, says the tests for 1953-54 are located at Blacksburg, Staunton, Orange, Charlotte Court House, Petersburg, Warsaw and Onley. The varieties being included in the tests this year are Abruzzi, Balbo, Rosen and Tetra Petkus. The first three are old varieties, but accurate comparisons of their grain and forage yielding ability have never been made on a statewide basis.

The Tetra Petkus is a new variety developed in Germany, and recently introduced into this country.

CORN PRICES DUE TO ADVANCE

Prices for corn in Virginia are expected to advance earlier than usual and may exceed support prices by as much as the transportation costs and handling charges from the corn belt.

That's the forecast from Dr. J. L. Maxton, marketing specialist at VPI, who points out that in Virginia, production of 25,000,000 bushels of corn in 1953 is not enough to carry out the usual corn-feeding practices on livestock and poultry farms.

The United States corn crop of 3.2 billion bushels is 110 million less than the 1953 crop on a basis of October 1 crop estimates. Farm stocks of corn of 334 million bushels on October 1 were about average. The supply of corn may be considered as adequate but not excessive. Dr. Maxton says that nationwide, corn prices are expected to strengthen before the summer of 1954.

TIDBITS

By Nancy Dorrier

Leah and Peter Hunter entertained in grand fashion on Saturday night for dinner with literally slews of people there. The only upset in the whole set-up was that Pete was on crutches with a bum leg and in bad shape as far as partying was concerned. He was still in bed on Monday, but Leah said he was greatly improved.

Art Stuerwald left Saturday for Camp Kilmer, N. J. and from there he goes to parts unknown. He is probably headed overseas for several years, with Nancy planning to follow as soon as he can get things lined up for her and the children. Before he left, Art got in a lot of hunting and bagged some birds, much to his joy, but tried, unsuccessfully, for a turkey. On Tuesday night, Paul McFarlane had a small dinner party at his place, Solitude, in Nancy's and Art's honor with a few of their close friends present.

The Van Bergens with their daughter and son-in-law, Pat and Cary Armstrong of Copeley Hill, Charlottesville, are having a cocktail party at their home on Sunday. They have invited their neighbors for a little pre-Christmas cheer!

Sue Haynes and Little Mary Harris were here visiting their parents, Woog and Doc Harris, for the week-end. They arrived on Friday from Richmond and returned just before the huge deluge of Sunday night. Woog said she was ready for a little dry weather now!

Jackie and Alice, young ones of Harriet and John Hamner, took off on their own over last week-end and went to Richmond to stay with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Bell. They really had a time, because they went downtown shopping on Saturday, which included a visit with Santa, and had dinner there Saturday night. What excitement for ones so young; they will become real cosmopolites !!!

Mr. and Mrs. E. Grady Covington of Summerhill, Howardsville, have been gone most of the week, combining business and pleasure to see some friends and clients in Washington and Baltimore. They left on Monday and returned on Thursday . . . had to be back in this vicinity for the riding breakfast on Saturday morning!

On Friday night the dancing class taught by Kitty Archer Clegg is having its Christmas Dance at St. Anne's in Charlottesville. The dance will begin at 8 p. m. and last until 10. The members and their "date" are all a-twitter with excitement . . . They can hardly wait !!

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. George Omohundro, Sr. had Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Buchanan of the Department of Internal Medicine at the University Hospital, and Miss Roadcap, member of the nursing staff at the hospital, with Mr. and Mrs. George Omohundro, Jr. for nine o'clock breakfast and midday dinner. They were having such a good time, though, that they couldn't tear themselves away until about five o'clock.

Miss Irene Briggs has just returned from an extended visit of several months with her niece, Mrs. Frank Goode, in Rocky Mount.

Lewis Payne from Alexandria spent the week-end hibernating in his cabin in the wilds of Buckingham. He came down to do a little hunting, and was lost from civilization for the rest of the time he was here.

Mrs. H. M. Epperson, Mrs. Jackson Beal and Mr. and Mrs. Miller Payne took off for Richmond on Wednesday to spend the day shopping. They had lunch at the tea-room in Miller and Rhoads so that Rebecca, Agnes' granddaughter, could see Santa Claus. Rebecca and her mother and daddy, Helen and Blake Kelso, came up on Friday for the week-end with Agnes and Jack.

Mrs. C. A. Whitted and Mrs. Tucker Tapscott made a quick trip to Lynchburg for the same old reason, to get ready for Christmas, last Tuesday.

Betty Jean Parr, daughter of Harold and Ruby, went up to Washington to see the Washington Redskins game. It must have been some game . . . really heartbreaking for the Skins!

Here for a nice long week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Atkinson of Buckroe Beach and Mrs. G. S. Parr of Newport News, visiting the Sherman Parrs. Both of the ladies are aunts of Sherman's. They arrived on Wednesday and stayed until Monday.

On Sunday, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Moody went up to Alexandria to spend the day and attend a district meeting of the V. F. W. They had a pretty good time, said the doctor, but meetings are meetings. Mrs. R. L. King, Sr. to go down to Langley to spend the week-end with the "old man". It seems that the 405th Medical group to which King is attached was having its Christmas party, and Esther went down to join him at that. She says that it was really a wham-banger (Continued on last page)

For Your Child's Future—Fight TB

Once again, with the approach of Christmas, County people have an opportunity to show—as they have shown many times in the past—that they are, indeed, good neighbors. Through the generous purchase and use of Christmas Seals now being sold to support the work of the local county tuberculosis associations they have a chance to aid the year-around fight against tuberculosis in this community.

The picture of the joyful caroling child on the 1953 Christmas Seal graphically portrays the spirit of the Christmas season. The happiness of our children is the purpose underlying all our holiday preparations.

The shadow of tuberculosis dims the smiles of too many children in our country. When TB strikes in a home, it often means that a child is bereft for a long time of the love and care of a parent. It may mean grave financial difficulties which can permanently affect his future. Even worse, the child may contract the disease and the dread tuberculosis meningitis may develop.

Among teen-agers TB is more common. It kills more young people between the ages of 15 and 35 than any other disease. It can and does kill at any age.

The local county tuberculosis association is working constantly to protect the future of our children. Its four-point program includes health education, case finding, rehabilitation, and medical research. The Christmas Seal Sale is the only source of funds to carry on and expand the work of the association.

Every TB Christmas Seal you buy and use, you are helping to fight T.B. Answer your Christmas Seal letter at once and use TB Christmas Seals generously.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 18
 Draw nigh unto God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded. (James 4:8.) Read Matthew 7:24-29.

In a university museum is a mural which shows a mighty arm reaching upward from the earth. The artist meant that this arm should represent the evil lust for power and gold.

Power in itself is neither good nor evil. It all depends on how the power is used. Our tools and machines can serve to enrich life or they can enslave life.

This is a problem for the individual as well as for society. In our own lives it is not enough to develop our abilities. No more urgent need exists than the need for men who will accept neither occupations nor rewards, compliments nor inducements, which rob rather than contribute to the good life. An abiding satisfaction comes to the man or woman who has faced this choice and in Christ's strength has chosen on the side of life.

PRAYER

"O God, who art the light of the minds that know Thee, the life of the souls that love Thee, and the strength of those that seek Thee: Help us to know Thee, that we may fully serve Thee, whose service is perfect freedom." In our Master's name. Amen.

In And Around Columbia

By Jeanne F. Roberts
 I especially love the Christmas and New Year's cards that have more than a mere signature. Without a few personal words, a greeting card is like calling a friend on the telephone, saying, "Hello, how are you?" Then slamming up the receiver in his face.
 I even like special Christmas letters for some friends and relatives. Something like this for example, to a friend it suits.
 Here it is again, dear friend Happy Christmas! I love to think of you on Christmas Day. Many Christmas seasons may come and go, and your heart is forever and ever young with such a happy capacity to enjoy. You have a way of appreciating even the seemingly little things of life—as, sunshine glancing off a cedar bough; morning dew making frosty sugar plums on the trees outside your windows; toast and coffee and good conversation with a friend; well seasoned curry dishes—that Indian stew you made with rice and curry and so forth, and served on a bare board table with bright colored runners you made for the pieces—and the big loaf of good home made bread you sliced—and the tea you brewed—and the sound of the organ grinder or hurdy gurdy in the alley four floors below; essences, flavors, memories.

 So, I know this Christmas morning will be as full of thrills wonder and appreciation as when you were aged six or sixteen, or all the years of holiday seasons since I've known you. And, dear, remember this, knowing you has put a candle on my Christmas tree of life. I feel that I have absorbed some of the color of your artistic life.
 So, now this season—again, you will take down all those little figurines including your madonna, and the wise men, and all sorts of Noel like things you collected when you were studying art abroad—and you will trim up your window, mantel or some recess appropriate for the occasion—and spiritually at least, I'd love to drop in on you and see that little Christmas niche all trimmed up—just as you have been trimming it up for years and years—and have a cup of coffee with you. Let's pretend—as we always have through the years—hun? And we could go over your gits together—the box of marzipan from Paris; the cookies from Norway; that flat wooden box of guava paste from a friend in New Orleans; the hand made cards from all your artist friends; a box of fine Blox paints from Belgium; and there would be my present from you—as usual—because you know it is what I like—one of your etchings—and oh! no, this is a surprise! Some fine old lace from France. Dear friend, the essences of the fine things of life are everlasting, and thus our joy is ever renewed on Christmas morn."

Yes, I know, it takes time to write Christmas letters, but even a few personal words or sentences on a card make one's three-cent stamp worth investing.

I went into Walton's store to see if I could get some almond paste to make some marzipan for Christmas. Although there was no almond paste, there were lots of other good things to fill up your kitchen shelves and frigidaire over the Xmas holidays. And many of the "dear hearts and gentle people" of Columbia were in there with their Christmas grocery list, scratching off the items one by one as they filled their shopping list.

 About that marzipan, in case you want to make some for holiday guests. I haven't the exact recipe at hand, but I can think of three things you need. Buy your almond paste by the pound (Continued on page eight)

Country Lawyer

By Walter Johnson

As we celebrate another Christmas, the birthday of our Savior, we might well pause for a moment of thought of and appreciation for the magnificence of the freedom of religion that we enjoy and to recognize that only in a society otherwise free can religious freedom exist.

It may be well to recognize that our Christianity has existed for nearly two thousand years yet men have been free to enjoy it only less than ten per cent of that time. Otherwise the church has been a part of government and history shows many bloody conflicts were fought in Europe and in Asia Minor over religion.

In colonial days some groups did come to America seeking opportunity to worship as they wanted to but those dissenters were hardly less intolerant of others. Colonial Maryland did have a measure of religious freedom.

Colonial Virginia conformed to the standards of England. The church in Virginia was a part and parcel of government. Men were compelled to comply with directives of the church or face trial and which many did as records in the older Virginia counties still show. The concept of religious freedom arose and caught on with the liberalism of thought that arose to reach a peak about 1776.

In the Virginia Declaration of Rights, adopted June 15, 1776, the last item pertained to religion. It proclaimed that religion or the duty owed our Creator was one to be directed by reason and conviction and not by force and violence and that it was the mutual duty of all to practice christian forbearance, love and charity towards each other. That was as far as thinking at that moment permitted them to go.

It was not until more than nineteen years later that Virginia proclaimed religious freedom by statute. This celebrated Act was passed on December 26, 1785. It broke the ice rather sharply and made easier the later adoption of the First Amendment to the Federal Constitution prohibiting Congress from making any law respecting religion.

This Virginia Act for establishing religious freedom is one of the finest and most inspirational documents ever drafted and a real pleasure to read. The preamble of about six hundred well chosen words is too long to quote here. But the Act can be and it is in these words:

"Be it enacted by the General Assembly, that no man shall be compelled to frequent or support any religious worship, place or ministry whatsoever, nor shall be enforced, restrained, molested or burthened in his body or goods, nor shall otherwise suffer on account of his religious opinion or belief; but that all men shall be free to profess, and by argument to maintain, their opinions in matters of religion, and that the same shall in no wise diminish, enlarge, or effect their civil capacities".

Recognizing that a subsequent General Assembly could repeal or modify this statute it was written therein that "the rights hereby assured are the natural rights of mankind and if any Act shall be hereafter passed to repeal the present, or to narrow its operation, such Act be an infringement of natural right."

It is because of that background that we today enjoy religious freedom. We accept our religion because we want to and in the way we want to. It is that very freedom which makes our religion a thousand times sweeter and more acceptable than it would be if it were a part of government as it was before 1776 and imposed upon the people.

It took from the founding of christianity until the 1776 era to develop real freedom of religion and public understanding of the broader and fuller aspects of the faith. Arrived at under such great difficulty religious freedom is something that should be closely guarded by mankind.

Dear Santa:
please bring mommy

an electric clothes dryer

Carol's idea is a good one—as more than 1,000,000 women who use electric clothes dryers already know.

For instance, an electric clothes dryer will dry one full washer-load of clothes . . . sheets, towels, dresses, corduroys, even heavy woollens in about an hour. All you do is toss the wash into the dryer and set the dial.

You don't lift and carry heavy baskets, you don't bend and stretch to hang each piece. And, you never worry about bad weather because your dryer does its job whenever you want it to.

Best of all, you'll find that clothes dried electrically look better, feel better, and last longer than clothes dried outdoors. There's no sun-fading, no wind-damage, no soiling by soot or birds.

Ask your dealer for a free demonstration of the electric clothes dryer. We think it will mean the beginning of a truly "workless washday" for you.

Ramblings

A survey tells us that about $900,000,000 will be spent for toys this year, or about $20 for each American child under 14. This seems to be a conservative estimate when you see model trucks and trains going like hot cakes at prices twice what the average child will receive according to the survey. It is alarming to contemplate how big a pile of junk, how many miles high, could be formed of all the toys that will be broken and discarded by this time next year. It is still a question in my mind whether or not the newest inventions in toys, becoming more true to the real thing, such as a baby doll that blows bubbles or a hydraulic dump truck, make any more impression on a child than did the old cast-iron fire wagons and those beautiful dolls with hand-painted china faces and kid bodies. A child's imagination supplies all that's missing and perhaps the money spent for all the extra machinery in modern toys could be better used for the relief of unfortunates both here and abroad, or for simple playground equipment at many barren schoolyards. Evidently the columnist who wrote that kitchen knives are household items seldom replaced didn't have boys in the family. Although we do possess one of my grandfather's stag horn steak knives that has been sharpened until the blade is nicely curved and very narrow, the life-span of an ordinary paring knife is short, to say the least. A knife is handy when a screw driver is not. It is also useful to pry open things with, especially after the first time, when the point breaks off. If it will not cut through a bamboo fishing pole, it will make an impression if it is whacked hard enough, making an interesting scalloped pattern along the edge of the blade, but rendering it useless for peeling potatoes. It is an easy thing to drop in tall grass and lose, after a game of mumbly-peg. If used often enough to sharpen pencils, it usually goes to an early grave via the same wastebasket that held the pencil shavings. I live for the day when any knife in the kitchen will grow mellow enough to acquire that nice sharp, thin edge that comes from constant contact with a sharpening stone.

Each year at Christmas time more new and attractive electrically lighted decorations are introduced, and every home has a gay spot somewhere, either from the bubbly lights on the tree, the lighted face of Santa in the window, or a garland of lights around the door. Even candles are now lighted by tiny electric "flames." But today the children learned to make candles, and they are entranced at the mysterious, soft glow they make when lighted. Candlelight will never cease to cast a spell of enchantment, the more so because it can only be used on rare occasions when great caution is taken against fire hazards. Candles on the table, where adults are on guard, will always lend a glow that can never be replaced by the electrical substitutes—or am I being too romantic? A man may not be able to see what he is eating as well, but he can't see a lady's wrinkles, either.

at a wholesale grocer (if you don't make it by grinding your own almonds), get a recipe for fondant (that's white of egg, a few drops of water and a whole lot of confectioner's sugar whipped up together), and buy a box of vegetable coloring—all colors. Now model the paste into shapes of fruits, vegetables, flowers, animals, etc., cover with fondant for each color). And there you have something unique—except for such places as bon bon stores in Paris.

There's a story of a gentleman who invited a friend to lunch; but first he told the butler to place a real wax candle beside the guest's place, and one of marzipan

TIDBITS

(Continued from page four) of a party, and they had a wonderful time. The three of them returned to Scottsville on Sunday.

Mrs. M. E. Hill, Lelia Allison's mother, has been gone from this area for about a month tending to another baby. I don't know what all that family would do if they didn't have Mrs. Hill to call on at each new arrival. She seems to be constantly on the go, and its always new babies she goes for. She'll be back in Scottsville on Friday.

Here for a couple of days starting on Sunday night was Worth Leap, Jr. to visit his parents. Junior works in Waynesboro at Dupont, and only has to work four days a week. Isn't that the good life??

Ed and Hilda Turner from Charlottesville came over to see Ed's mother and sister, Mary Pearl, for the week-end.

Betty Gayle, daughter of Hazel and Sylvester Payne, spent last week-end with her grandmother, Mrs. N. T. Payne, at Payne's Mill, Buckingham. She went on Saturday and came back Monday night.

V. P. I. shut its door last Friday for a delightfully long Christmas vacation, and the young collegiates dashed home to make merry until January 4. Those from around here are Donald Combs, Joe Kidd, Franklin Ferneyhough, Charles Hamner and Richard Heath.

3 Hurt In Wreck

On Saturday about 4 p. m. Percy Cobb, 28 years old, employed by the United States Rubber Company as section man, had a head-on collision with James Warren Freeman, 25, of Charlottesville in his 1952 Ford. State Trooper E. C. Riner, who rushed to the scene of the accident, stated that the Freeman car was partially off the road when the two cars collided.

Cobb was driving along Route 626 approximately a half mile from Route 6, when he pulled out to pass a car, and met Freeman coming from the opposite direction, it was reported.

Mrs. Virginia Sprouse Thurston 21, was in the car with Freeman, and all three were hospitalized as a result of the accident. Mrs. Thurston suffered a broken arm, but was reported in satisfactory condition. Freeman was treated for face cuts, and Cobb was operated on Tuesday morning for fractured knee cap. He also suffered torn ligaments, and is expected to stay in the hospital about a week.

Both cars were completely demolished.

beside his. After lunch the host started to eat his candle saying, "We always eat our candles after lunch." But alas! the butler had switched candles by mistake, and while the guest enjoyed his candy candle, the host was forced to eat the one of wax.

1954 Farm Bureau Chairman Named

L. K. Toomer, Howard Black, Mrs. E. C. Browning, and Ernest Morris were named as 1954 committee chairmen by the Fluvanna Farm Bureau's Board of Directors at a recent meeting. Other committee heads appointed were Ellis Snead, Catherine Sewell, Harriet Loving, Harry Shepherd and Dallas Johnson.

Mr. Toomer is to head the important Resolutions Committee for the coming year, with Howard Black and Mrs. Browning acting as co-chairmen of the Program Committee. Mr. Morris was again named to head the Service Committee which is in charge of the Farm Bureau Bang's Vaccination Program.

Mrs. Sewell and Mr. Snead were appointed as co-chairmen of the Legislative Committee whose duty it is to follow through on the organization's current resolutions. Mrs. Loving is to head the Farm Bureau's publicity work for the year, and Harry Shepherd was named Membership Chairman.

Dallas Johnson was selected as chairman of the organization's newly formed Telephone Committee. It is the responsibility of this committee to work with other similar groups in the county for the obtaining of more and better telephone service.

In addition to naming committee heads, the Board of Directors approved a plan calling for the establishment of regular, set Board and Membership meeting dates. 1954 Farm Bureau membership meetings will be held on the second Friday nights of February, April, June, August and October. Board of Directors meetings will be held monthly starting in January on the second Thursday night.

The Board also suggested that interested Farm Bureau members meet with our local representatives to the General Assembly some time in January. The purpose of this meeting will be to acquaint our legislators with some of the important resolutions of our organization on the state level.
